WOMAN IS KILLED BY TRAIN

Mrs. Samuel W. Swift Run Down by Berkeley Key Route Local

Morgue Officials Delay Notifying Police and Investigation Is Promised

MRS. SAMUEL W. SWIFT, 943 Fifty-third street, was run down by an eastbound Berkeley Key Route local this morning and instantly killed within a short distance of her home. Mrs. Swift was somewhat deaf and it is believed that she did not hear the approaching train when she attempted to cross Adeline street, near Fifty-third.

The woman was struck when the train was traveling at a high rate of speed and she was thrown over fifty feet from the tracks. Injuries sustained consisting of fractured skull and internal complications resulted in almost instant death. A physician was summoned, but was unable to be of any service.

WIFE OF CONTRACTOR.

Mrs. Swift was the wife of a San Francisco contractor. When she was struck this morning it was thought that she was on the way to visit a neighbor, as she was wearing a house dress. The body was removed to the Oakland morgue, where it was found she had been mangled almost beyond recognition.

Although the morgue authorities received the information as to Mrs. Swift being killed shortly before 9 o'clock this morning, they had not notified the police by 1 o'clock this afternoon. The police intend to take the matter up with the morgue authorities, claiming that this has occurred several times of late.

UNABLE TO STOP.

The motorman in charge of the train was S. Willis. Willis declared that he did not see the woman or realize that she intended to step in front of the train until it was too late to do anything to save her life. He applied the brakes, but was unable to stop the train in time.

Willis has been instructed to surrender himself at the Central police station on a technical charge of manslaughter. He will be released on his own recognizance pending an investigation by the police and the finding of the coroner's jury at the inquest.

Hope Deferred for Condemned Allens

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Chief Justice White today declined to grant a writ of error to have the Supreme Court review the death sentence imposed upon Claude Allen for his part in the Hillsville (Va.) courthouse murders, but granted Allen's attorneys permission to lay their request before any other justice of the court. Claude and his father are under sentence to die March 28.

After leaving the chief justice Allen's attorneys laid their application before Justice Hughes, who took it under consideration and promised to decide today if possible.

HYDROPLANE IN BAY PROVES MYSTERY

Aviator May Have Lost Life While Attempting Flight

A hydroplane bearing evidence of having been occupied by one or more persons was found drifting off the western waterfront, south of the Southern Pacific company's Oakland mole, yesterday afternoon by Captain George Dixon of the Southern Pacific company's dredger No. 1. Both wings were badly smashed.

It is believed that one of the several inventors about the bay who have been experimenting with air craft attempted to fly from the San Francisco shore to this side of the bay. When in mid-air the theory is that his engine went dead. Apparently the operator became flustered and leaped from his machine into the bay. This theory is strengthened by the fact that the straps used in holding the operator from falling out had been unfastened.

Should the mystery not be cleared up during the day, the bay will be dragged in the vicinity of the western waterfront to recover the body of the supposedly dead aviator.

Minister Badly Scares Burglar

Opens Door and Turns on Light, but Burglar Runs Away.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—The Rev. Dr. William Rader, pastor of Calvary Presbyterian church, had an experience with a burglar whom he met almost face to face in his home, 2423 Buchanan street, at 1:30 o'clock this morning. Dr. Rader prides himself on being something of an athlete, and on being awakened by the noise made by someone moving in the hallway, he jumped up and opened the door. As he turned on the electric light he saw a man in the passage and ran after him. The burglar was badly scared and hurried down the hall, escaping by the front door. An investigation disclosed the fact that the intruder had made his way in with the aid of a pass key.

UNIVERSITY OBSERVES ITS 45TH ANNIVERSARY WITH IMPRESSIVENESS

Sir Richard McBride, Prime Minister of British Columbia, Charter Day Speaker at Berkeley

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, March 22.—The university celebrated today the forty-fifth anniversary of its birth. At the annual Charter Day exercises held at the Greek Theater, Premier Richard McBride of British Columbia made the address of the day. President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, beside introducing the speaker and briefly addressing the large audience attending the exercises, announced at length the gifts made to the university during the year past. President Wheeler conferred upon Premier McBride at the close of the exercises the honorary degree of doctor of laws. In his address the premier discussed aims of education. His whole talk was a plea to the student to adapt their studies to the practical needs of life.

"It is a significant fact," he said in the course of his remarks, "that nearly all the great successes never get beyond the public schools of the country before starting to hew out a career for themselves. The highest aim of man is not to sit and read or write learned books, but to do something useful. So I would say to you: 'Shape your university courses by the practical requirements of the time in which we live.'"

MANY IN PROCESSION.

The exercises were preceded by the customary academic procession. The several student divisions, marshaled according to classes, colleges and sexes, entered the auditorium at 9:30 a. m. Fifteen minutes later the main procession entered in the following order: Regents of the university, President Wheeler, Premier McBride and other invited guests, professors, instructors and alumni.

The exercises began a few moments after 10 o'clock with the playing of [illegible] by the university orchestra. Rev. Henry Burke Robins, Ph. D., of the Baptist Theological Seminary, offered an invocation. The university chorus, directed by Paul Steindorff and accompanied by the university orchestra, sang the hmyn, "O Lord Most Holy."

DR. WHEELER SPEAKS.

"There are a sixth more undergraduates at Berkeley this year than last. Of the forty-two hundred undergraduates, nearly sixteen hundred are intrants of this year.

"There are seventy-seven hundred students in the university, if we count in the graduate school, the professional schools and the summer session. Of all the American universities, Columbia alone has a greater enrollment. In the whole world the only universities which number more students than the University of California are these nine: Paris, Berlin, Moscow, Cairo, Vienna, St. Petersburg, Columbia, Budapest and Munich. That is, of the universities of the world

DISCOVERER OF SOUTH POLE ARRIVES

Captain Roald Amundsen Is Guest of Oakland Citizens

Greeted by a delegation of prominent Swedish-Americans of the bay region, Captain Roald Amundsen, the celebrated explorer and discoverer of the South Pole, arrived in Oakland this afternoon from the south, proceeding at once to the Hotel Oakland, where he will make his home while in this city. He expressed his regret at being unable to participate, as planned, in the charter day exercises at the University of California, stating that confusion in his arrangements of dates made it impossible to keep this appointment.

Captain Amundsen will be the guest this evening at 6 o'clock of the directors of the Commercial club. The explorer, with the Swedish-American delegation which received him at the train, will be entertained at dinner in the [illegible] room on the mezzanine floor of the hostelry. Following this he will deliver his lecture at the Macdonough theater.

The board of officers and directors of the club will be in charge, and President Harmon Bell will act as toastmaster at the dinner. The officers and directors are as follows: Harmon Bell, M. J. Laymance, A. F. Lavinson, E. B. Bull, Joseph H. King, C. F. Gorman, Leslie F. Rice, W. W. Keith, Charles L. Smith, F. W. Leavitt, W. H. Wenbye, F. W. Hunger, D. L. Aronson, D. E. Perkins, H. D. ERASE NAME OF BALLINGER ON BOOKS

Judge Orders Records of Accused Company Produced.

CHICAGO, March 22.—The name of Richard A. Ballinger, former United States land commissioner and secretary of the interior under President Taft, was erased from the books of Albert C. Frost & Company, now on trial here, charged with Alaskan land frauds, after the books were turned over to a receiver.

This testimony, given today by W. F. Wandtke, a bookkeeper for Frost, was deemed so important by Judge Landis that he halted the trial.

"The question of the United States against Mr Frost and the other defendants is a small offense," he said, "compared with the charge just made."

"Go to Mr. Frost's office," said the judge to several deputy marshals, "and seek out and bring into court every book of Mr. Frost's that is supposed to be in the hands of a receiver."

Attorneys for the defense objected to the proceedings.

"Your honor has no right to give such an order," protested Amos Marston. "This issue is entirely aside from the trial of Mr. Frost and his associates for land frauds. We have not been called in here to defend this case."

"Go get the books; what are you waiting for?" ordered Judge Landis, interrupting further remarks by Marston.

BIG POWERS IN FEAR OF CONFLICT

Ambassadors Recalled From Easter Vacations as Result of Crisis

Shukri Pasha Determined to Continue Defense of Fortress of Adrianople

LONDON, March 22.—That the dogs of war are howling at Europe's door was admitted here today by officials in high standing. The new crisis in the Balkans today led to the instant recall from Easter vacations of the Ambassadors in London of the European powers.

At a hastily-called conference this afternoon the probability of Italy being drawn into the coming conflict between Austria and Montenegro was discussed in detail. It was admitted that should Italy take a hand in the embroglio over Scutari it would take but a spark to fire the entire European tinder-box.

ADDS TO ANXIETY.

A dispatch from Constantinople stating that Shukri Pasha, commander at Adrianople, is determined to maintain a defense of that fortress, added to the anxiety of diplomatic circles.

This would mean continued warfare in the Balkans and not the speedy termination that had been looked for should the fortress fall into the hands of the allies.

WILL CONTINUE DEFENSE.

ADRIANOPLE, March 22 (by wireless to Constantinople)—Shukri Pasha, the commander of this fortress, and his troops are determined to continue the defense they have now carried on for five months, and all reports as to offers made by them to surrender may be dismissed as pure inventions.

Only starvation can force the capitulation of the beleaguered garrison. Food is still regularly distributed among the population by the military authorities and there is considerable supplies.

Perfect order prevails within the city. The Bulgarian besiegers are making no progress and their occasional assaults have been futile. The

Mother Found Who Abandoned Babies

Woman Talks to Police About Being Repentant and Is Sorry She Left.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Mrs. Rhoda Hitchcock, the mother of the two little youngsters, Harold, aged 9, and his infant sister of three months, who were left alone in a room at the Argonaut Hotel, was very repentant when she appeared in the police court today to answer to a charge of abandonment and neglect of children.

"I don't know what made me leave the way I did," said Mrs. Hitchcock. "I knew the police were looking for me and I went back to the hotel and walked up the stairs. I was afraid to ride in the elevator because I was afraid some one would see and arrest me. I found my children gone and I was afraid. It was then that I went to Oakland and afterward to San Mateo. When I went out to the Kilpatrick home I asked them to go across the bay and get my sister. They didn't do so, but they turned me over to the police, although they promised that they wouldn't. I have been awfully worried about my children. I have been afraid my little girl would suffer through my [illegible] I hope they don't send me to prison. I didn't mean to leave them like this."

REALTY FIRM MAKES CHANGE

Salinger's Now Located in Finest Appointed Realty Offices in Oakland.

After completely remodeling the entire front of the building in which the Broadway theater is located and refitting their office, Salinger's, the well-known real estate firm at 1119 Broadway, is again ready for business. This concern can now boast of probably the best arranged real estate offices in Oakland and is able to afford that seclusion from interruption while transacting business that is so annoying to realty buyers.

From now on this concern will take even a more active part in the real estate world than before, as they have a number of large propositions under way for development and building up of Oakland.

CHINESE POLICY IS CONSIDERED

Asked Regarding Attitude of U. S. Toward Business Enterprises.

WASHINGTON, March 22. — President Wilson took under consideration today a further development of the administration's policy toward China when he was asked what might be the attitude of this government toward business enterprises in China by American capitalists, independent of governmental aid.

George Bronson Rea, confidential adviser of Sun Yat Sen and technical secretary of the Chinese Railway Commission, which is arranging for 10,000 miles of trunk line railways in China, had a conference with the President today at which he gave Wilson details of the project and told him that American capital would share in the construction. Rea was particularly interested to know just how far this government would go in supporting contracts between American interests and the government of China and he learned that the President was not ready to make any announcement and was asked to prepare a memorandum on the situation.

MEMORY IS PROMPTER IN WILL OF MALOON

After more than 50 years Benjamin Franklin Maloon did not forget the church and Sunday school where he was taken as a boy by his mother, according to the terms of his will, which has been filed for probate in the superior court. Maloon left $500 out of his $12,000 estate to the First Baptist church. A paragraph of the will reads:

"It was dear mother's church, where she took me for services and Sunday school 50 years or more ago, when I was a little boy."

COOPER'S TRIAL IS BEING WATCHED

Outcome at Natal May Determine Whether Sir Harry Shall Be Returned.

On information received from the State Department, Chief of Police Walter J. Petersen has requested the authorities of Natal, South Africa, to notify him of the probable outcome of the case pending in Natal against "Sir" Harry Westwood Cooper, bigamist and forger, against whom three charges have been sworn to in Oakland. If it is found that a conviction cannot be obtained against Cooper, alias Dr. Milton Abraham, alias Ernest Morre Chadwick, Chief Petersen will go to South Africa with extradition papers to bring the felon to Oakland to stand trial here.

If brought back to Oakland, Cooper will face three charges. He will be charged with having secured $1000 from Mrs. Herman Milbrath under false pretenses; of contracting a bigamous marriage with Miss Anna Milbrath and with having forged a $15,000 draft which he attempted to cash at the Central National Bank.

After being paroled from San Quentin several years ago, Cooper came to Oakland as Dr. Milton Abraham. He lived with one wife while he courted two other women, Miss Daisy Climm and Miss Milbrath, both of whom were nurses in St. Anthony's Hospital. He suddenly eloped with Miss Milbrath, and it was then discovered that he had attempted to pass a forged draft and that he had secured $1000 from his mother-in-law on the representation that he had fallen heir to an enormous estate in England.

Chief Moore Resigns From Weather Bureau

Resignation Accepted to Take Effect July 31; Successor Not Named.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Willis L. Moore, chief of the weather bureau, resigned today. Secretary Houston accepted the resignation after a talk with President Wilson, to become effective July 31. Professor Moore is a Democrat and was a candidate for appointment as secretary of agriculture. Secretary Houston explained that the office of chief of the weather bureau was not covered by civil service and was a presidential appointment.

"We have no one in mind now," said the secretary, "but will try to get the best man we can of scientific ability and administrative talent."

Assassin Writes Victim of Mistake

SHANGHAI, China, March 22.—General Sung, a former Chinese minister of education, died today from the effects of wounds he received on March 20 when an attempt was made to assassinate him at the railroad station.

Before his death General Sung received a letter telling him that he had been shot by mistake instead of General Huang Sing, commander-in-chief of the Southern Fu Kien, who also was in the station at the time. The writer hoped that General Sung would have perpetual rest.

MUSICIAN IN MONEY TROUBLES

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Professor Herman Heller, director of music at the St. Francis hotel, whose wielding of the baton has long charmed diners at that hostelry, has been haled before a commissioner to show whether he had any property which could be attached for the payment of a promissory note. Heller gave testimony yesterday and today, the upshot of several amusing instances occuring during the two sessions was the agreement on the part of James Woods, manager of the St. Francis, to pay $50 a month from the musician's salary to satisfy the claim.

Horace Jackson, appointed commissioner by Judge Murasky, listened to the evidence. The note was for $500 for money borrowed made out in favor of William Hunt and endorsed by R. H. Countryman. The latter prosecuted the case and at yesterday's session Heller told how he received $100 a week salary. Of this he was forced to pay $100 a month on a home he is purchasing at Tenth avenue and Lake street, and $25 on his furniture. He said, moreover, that Manager Woods of the hotel had advanced him $1000 on his salary, of which he still owes $600. Besides, he has paid only $250, he declares, on his automobile. At this point Heller was asked to hand over his necktie pin to the commissioner, which he did. Jackson returned it, saying it was not of any great value.

HE HAD A WATCH.

"Have you got a watch?" he was asked.

"Yes," was the reply.

"How much is it worth?"

"Six hundred and fifty dollars."

Immediately the officials became interested. They prepared to seize the timepiece, the value of which was but $150 less than the face of the note.

"Oh, I haven't it with me," said the professor. "It is being repaired in a shop on Grant avenue, and I don't know where."

This morning when the musical director appeared he was bereft of his tie pin, his rings and devoid of money, which fact he proved by turning his pockets inside out. He told of aiding Countryman several years ago when the latter was running for mayor and furnished other interesting stories. Manager Woods had the books of the St. Francis at hand, but they were not needed, as Heller promised to allow $50 monthly of his salary to go against the obligation. The professor has long been the idol of the matinee girls who visit the St. Francis in the afternoon.

SUIT BROUGHT TO SETTLE LAND TITLE

Suit to perfect title upon government lands in Lasen county was filed today against W. S. Kingsbury, surveyor general and ex-officio registerer of state land office of the State of California, by Fannie D. Lake, the action being brought in the Superior Court. The property in question is known as lieu land which was set aside to the State by the government for school purposes.

GERMANY NEEDS COIN FOR ITS GREAT ARMY

BUYERS VICTIMS OF FUEL FRAUDS

Swindles in Short Weights Over 15 Years Aggregates $3,600,000, Say Experts.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Government experts working on the books of the Western Fuel Company estimate that the buyers of fuel from that corporation in the last 15 years have been victimized to the amount of $3,600,000 by short weight manipulations. All that the government was cheated of in short deliveries has been placed at $15,000.

Special Agent W. H. Tidwell called several of the larger coal customers of the Western Fuel Company to his office in the custom-house building recently and showed them that for years they had been systematically robbed. Among those who looked over the books are R. P. Schwerin, vice-president of the Pacific Mail steamship Company, and W. H. Avery, assistant general manager of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha Steamship Company.

It was said yesterday that both steamship officials had called and examined the books preparatory to starting civil suits against the Western Fuel Company to recover the money due them from the short-weight manipulations of the local coal trust. A. J. Frey, assistant to Vice-President Schwerin, intimated that no action would be taken by the Pacific Mail Steamship Company until after the trial of the officials of the Western Fuel Company, if the government establishes its case.

"We have no proof at present," said Frey. "The government has the books, and if it establishes the proof, we may proceed."

W. H. Avery of the Toyo Kisen Kaisha line intends adopting the same policy.

The bribes paid to steamship officials by the Western Fuel Company are said to be small. Christmas presents and dinners economical in character were the extent of the bribes. During the trial the government will attempt to prove that these paltry sums were paid to steamship officials to keep their friendship.

The date of trial will be set this month. Judge Van Fleet refused to preside, and it is possible that Judge Dietrich of Idaho will sit. The government experts have practically completed auditing the books.

BALKAN WAR ARGUMENT LEADS TO FIST FIGHT

An argument over the Balkan war resulted in a fight at an early hour this morning between Henry James and Fred Kahan, two peddlers who room at 502 Washington street. Words had been flying fast as bullets in a controversy over the policies adopted by Greece and Bulgaria in dealing with the Turk. Kahan became dissatisfied with verbal warfare and a fight ensued, in which James' right thumb was badly chewed. The police descended upon the belligerents, assuming the roll of the powers, and stopped the war. James was advised to enter a complaint for alleged mayhem, but has declined to do so.

Discord is said to prevail among the allied armies. The Servians brought up to assist the Bulgarians in the siege remain idle in their lines and are not participating in any of the active operations.

The report from Sofia that Shukri Pasha had ordered the Greek and Armenian bishop to be hanged because they had drawn attention to the alleged miseries of the population is groundless.

It has aroused much indignation, the two prelates themselves being most energetic in protesting against the story. They extol the courtesy of the commander, praising his solicitude for the civil and military population of the city.

SAVAGERY CHARGED.

LONDON, March 22.—A dispatch from Vienna says:

The telegrams received here from Cattero and Cettinje show that unrestrained savagery and barbarism continue in Albania and that the Montenegrins still perpetrate inhuman atrocities. In the village of Schasschare, near Uskup, Servian soldiers have committed undescribable cruelties on the women and the boys and men have been sent away. Similar crimes have been committed by Servian soldiers at Letnica, which, like Scasschare, is inhabited solely by Albanian Catholics.

In Karasagh, 290 farms were burned by Mohammedan Albanians and all the males who did not flee were shot by soldiers. In all 238 men were slain without mercy.

TURKS AT LAST STAND.

LONDON, March 22.—"It seems that the army, despite the reluctance of Izzet Pasha, the commander-in-chief, who recently offered to resign, has been ordered by the government to advance and there is a rumor of a final effort by sea and land before agreeing to surrender Adrianople," says the Constantinople correspondent of the Times.

MONTENEGRO DECLINES.

VIENNA, March 22.—Beyond promising that the future bombardment of Scutari will be directed against the fortifications and not against the town, Montenegro's reply to Austria's remonstrances is a refusal to comply with the Austrian demands.

The note declares that for military reasons Montenegro must refuse to permit civilians to leave Scutari and that she cannot allow the Austro-Hungarian consul in Scutari to take part in the inquiry into the death of the priest Palle or the alleged coercive conversion of Catholics, declaring that such an investigation by a foreign official would be incompatible with the sovereign rights of the King of Montenegro.

EVASIVE REMARKS.

Finally, the reply contains some evasive remarks concerning the alleged molestation of the Austrian steamer Skodra at San Giovanni di Medua. Austria demanded the punishment of the military and civil officials responsible for ordering Captain Blasich to assist in landing Servian troops and war munitions and to help rescue drowning men from transports which the Turkish cruiser Hamidieh had sunk.

The Austrian government now will send a more energetic note to Montenegro, repeating the demands already made and requesting that a definite answer should be made in a definite period. Should the reply to this note be deemed inadequate an ultimatum will then be issued.

ULTIMATUM ADDRESSED.

VIENNA, March 22.—The Austro-Hungarian government today addressed a strongly worded note to Montenegro which was in the nature of an ultimatum.

VESSEL SEIZED.

AUSTRIA TO MOVE.

BERLIN, March 22.—The German foreign office has learned today that armed operations against Montenegro by the Austrian navy may be expected soon. An Austrian squadron is now maneuvering off the Montenegrin and Albanian coast.

SWEDISH-AMERICANS WILL HOLD PICNIC

Under the auspices of the Swedish-American Political clubs of Oakland and San Francisco, a day and moonlight picnic will be held in Shellmound Park, Emeryville, tomorrow. Members of the organization from San Francisco will cross the bay early to participate in the festivities. Among the features of the day will be a tug-of-war between two teams representing the societies from each side of the bay for the Pacific Coast championship. Several bands have been engaged for the occasion, together with an athletic program.

MAN WHO WANTED PAY WAS CRAZY

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—James K. Petty, an escaped patient from the Napa state hospital, called at the department of engineering office in the state capitol today, made a request for some money he said was due him, and then left unmolested, and, so far as information here is concerned, is still at large.

Petty walked into the office and said he had been working at the Napa hospital and wanted his pay. He was referred to Bookeeper Clark. Clark did not know him from Adam, but promised to telephone to Napa and find out how much the man had coming. Petty asked that a check be sent him at the general delivery in Sacramento, and left.

Clark telephoned to the hospital and learned that the man was a patient. The authorities are on the lookout for him.

BIG C TRANSFERRED TO FRESHMEN'S CUSTODY

Date of Celebration Changed This Year on Account of Sunday.

the University of California is tenth in number of students, of all the American universities, second.

"There are five States which give tax support to universities comparable in size and organization to the University of California. These States are Wisconsin, Illinois, New York, Michigan and Minnesota. Each of these universities has a larger annual budget than the University of California. Illinois grants a million a year more to her university than does California, Minnesota more by $600,000, Wisconsin more by $420,000, yet in total number of students none of them come within a thousand of the University of California. There are a sixth more undergraduates at Berkeley this year than last. The income from the State is larger than last year's by about one-twenty-fifth.

"This growth means that the people of California want their children equipped to make the most of their lives. They have said that the doorways of opportunity shall stand open here to all alike to win training for knowledge and for skill, to achieve capacity for service and capacity for happiness.

TRAINING PRACTICAL.

"A time has come when the people of California ask a new service from the university, and a service which promises a vast usefulness to the community. It is not enough that instruction should be given to students who come to dwell for a time by the fireside of the university. Opportunity must be made for men and women all up and down California, men and women at work earning a livelihood, and busy with the affairs of everyday life, to gain from the university aid and guidance in broadening their training, in developing their own possibilities, in enriching their own mental life.

"This proposed work in university extension is to be developed along five general lines. There is to be a department of class instruction, which will hold classes in any California town where sufficient students can gather themselves together for a common purpose. There is to be a department of correspondence instruction. There is to be a department of public lectures, which will provide series of from six to twelve lectures, delivered by one man and in development of a single branch of knowledge, or which will provide single lectures, musical recitals, readings, or concerts. There will be a department of debate and public discussion, which will offer aid to debating clubs through the State in finding subjects profitable for discussion, and which will send out references, traveling libraries, etc. And there will be a department of information and social welfare which will seek to co-operate with municipalities and communities in general in movements for social well-being.

SERVICE EXTENDED.

"Through a great development of its department of agriculture the university seeks to extend its service to the community in a fashion for which the need is vital. Last fall the university called to the headship of its department of agriculture Director Thomas Forsyth Hunt. Since then six other men have been called to now full professorships in agriculture. Not alone at Berkeley and in the traditional channels, but throughout California is this work in agriculture to go on, in the three forms of education, research, and the bringing into general knowledge and use of the results of research.

"The students have responded at once to the increased opportunities for training in agriculture. This year there are 490 students regularly enrolled in the College of Agriculture, or three-fourths more than there were at this time two years ago, or five and a half times as many as there were ten years ago. The individual student's course is to be shaped to greater breadth in the first two years to more definite and thorough-going training in a particular specialty in the last two years. And practical experience in field and orchard is to be held indispensable for this the student will go forth to the university farm, to the Kearney vineyard, to the Riverside citrus experiment station, or wherever else his special need can best be met.

"The graduate school of tropical agriculture in Southern California will become, it is hoped, the chief center for Western America for the training of experts in methods of agricultural research.

INSTRUCTORS ARE EXPERTS.

"In the agricultural faculty are being gathered together a body of men trained and experienced in research. Their future work will prove of far-reaching importance not only to every tiller of the soil, but to every household in California.

"Another step in the development of the university has been the organization of the existing provision for such instruction into the three schools of jurisprudence, architecture and education. No more important duty devolves upon the university than to give to the world lawyers imbued with a university ideal of service to the community and of just and honorable dealing among men. Great, too, is the need of the community that its habitations, public and private, should be designed by architects who have been taught to reverence beauty, fitness, and staunch and honest workmanship. And in a State where the teacher's professional life has averaged less than three years, the high school teacher's less than five, it is well that the supply be recruited from men and women trained according to the ideals on which the university school of education stands.

"Chemistry is one of the five departments which have the largest volume of teaching to do, the other four being English, history, physics and mathematics. The chemistry building, designed for 500 students, is now used by over 2000. More serious still, the department has come to be seriously undermanned. With the opening of this year six new men were brought into the faculty of the department of chemistry. The professorship vacant since the death of Professor Nising was filled with Gilbert H. Lewis of the Massachusetts Institute of Technology. Intense intellectual curiosity, the spirit of eager exploration in the borderlands of science, mark the reconstructed department. A group of promising youths have responded to the new opportunities afforded. The newly constructed research laboratories of the department give promise of being the center of that productive scientific activity which is the life-blood of a university.

DEVELOP DISPENSARY.

"In medical education the university has followed its action of 10 years ago, when the first two years were placed on an academic basis, by providing that the instruction of the two clinical years shall be given by men whose primary interest in life is that of medical teaching and medical research. The dispensary service has received a gratifying development in volume of material, and hopeful efforts are in hand for the provision of an adequate teaching hospital, to replace the university hospital now found inadequate in capacity and equipment. The work of medical research is one to which the public need most urgently calls the university. Development here is an essential of the immediate future.

"In various fields of knowledge private benificence has of late greatly aided the university. Mr. Ogden Mills has continued with $7500 a year the provision made for a number of years by his father, the late Mr. D. O. Mills, for maintenance of the southern hemisphere expedition from the Lick observatory, devoted to study of problems of the movements of the stars and the constitution of the stellar universe. Miss Ellen B. Scripps is providing $10,000 per annum for the maintenance of the Scripps Institute of Biological Research, and has made special provision of $20,000 for a pier at the La Jolla station, of $12,000 for several cottages for members of the staff, and of other sums for various additions to the equipment. Miss Annie M. Alexander, herself both scientist and skillful hunter, gave during the year ending December 31, 1912, $10,366 for the work of the California museum of vertebrate zoology, which is assembling precious collections of western birds and mammals, and pursuing important investigations as to problems of evolution, distribution, and geographical influence.

EXCAVATE LAVA BEDS.

"Madam Ida Hancock-Ross, as one of the latest kindly acts of a long and kindly life, granted permission to the University of California to excavate in the asphalt beds of the Rancho La Brea, near Los Angeles. Through the generous aid of a number of friends of the university, including Regents T. F. Bowles, John A. Britton, William H. Crocker, F. W. Dorhmann, A. W. Foster, G. W. McEnerney, J. E. Moffitt, and Charles S. Wheeler, and Mr. Walter S. Martin, Professor J. C. Merriam was enabled to undertake the work. Never have such riches rewarded the researches of a palaeontologist. Of extinct species known before by a single thigh bone or a fragment of a jaw, whole skeletons have been found, not by ones but by scores, and in perfect preservation. Never before has the whole animate life of a single vanished age been so wonderfully and adequately restored to man's knowledge.

GIFTS TO BUDGET.

"The general budget of the university has been aided by several gifts which the past year has witnessed or has seen become available. The munificent gifts of Mrs Jane Sather have now been fully consummated, in the shape of endowments for the Sather chairs of history and classical literature of approximately $120,000 each, and endowments for book funds in history, classics, and law, of $12,461, $10,000, and $21,543. The Pacific Coast Gas Association has given $2700 a year for five years for instruction in the new profession of gas engineering. The class of '87 has given $400 as a library endowment. The Prytanean society has added $250 to its previous gifts for the endowment of the infirmary. Mr J. C. Cebrian has increased to a total of over 1500 volumes his gifts to the library. An alumnus, who desires that his name be withheld, has just this week given $5000 for the library, of which $2500 is for endowment and $1200 for special purchases of works in history.

"Through the bequest of Mrs. Carrie M. Jones of Los Angeles, $100,000 has been received as endowment for scholarships for young men. An anonymous friend has just given $5000 to endow a scholarship in memory of the late Rev. Horatio Stebbins, once a regent of this university. William R. Davis has given, likewise, $5000 to endow a scholarship. An annual contribution at the rate of $3500 has been made by Levi Strauss & Company in support of the Levi Strauss scholarships. The Native Sons have contributed at the rate of $3000 per annum for the support of three fellowships in Pacific coast history.

CONTINUES BENEFACTIONS.

"Regent Phoebe Apperson Hearst has continued to provide $2400 per annum for the support of the Phoebe Hearst scholarships for young women, has provided insurance for the vast and precious collections which she has assembled as the museum of anthropology of the university, has provided $1000 per annum toward the salary of the supervising architect, has contributed generously toward the further equipment of the Hearst memorial mining building and the women's gymnasium in Hearst hall, has contributed toward the support of the department of anthropology at the rate of $1680 per annum, has made provision for roads, walks, gardens, and approaches about the Hearst memorial mining building, of a cost estimated at $11,000, and in various other ways has contributed generously to the life and work of the university.

"Imperial county has given 10 acres to enlarge the experiment station at Meloland. The Southern Pacific Company has aided the work of agricultural extension by supplying the agricultural demonstration train and the "frost special" recently sent to the citrus regions of southern California.

GIFTS OF TREES.

"Mr. Frank C. Havens, regent T. H. Bowles, and other friends of the university have contributed many thousands of trees and shrubs, for planting on the hill lands of the university from the Greek theater to Sugar Loaf, and from crest to crest of the Strawberry canyon watershed. The class of 1912 has given a fund of $1900, of which the income is to be paid to the class until the principal is used for a class memorial of some sort. Additional marble chairs for the Greek theater have been given by the alumni of the California College of Pharmacy, in memory of Dean William M. Searby, by the class of 1890, in memory of Professor Joseph Le Conte, and by the class of 1903. Just last night I received from the class of '97 a check for $1005, to endow the "Loan Fund of the Class of '97," and assurances that the class intends further to augment this endowment.

"The gift funds have now become available for Mrs. Sather's noble memorial, the Jane H. Sather companilo, and this 300-foot tower of white granite will soon rise where the flagstaff now stands. In its belfry will be hung the Sather bells, chimes for which $25,000 was especially provided by Mrs. Sather.

HALL COMPLETE.

"During the year Agriculture hall has been completed, at a cost of $200,000; a concrete dormitory costing $50,000 built at the Lick observatory; a laboratory costing $14,000 erected at Riverside, an $18,000 hospital unit built for the Los Angeles medical department; the chemistry lecture room erected on the campus, and a lecture room an an exhibition gallery added to the architecture building, where architectural renderings, plans, photographs, and paintings will be displayed in a constant series of exhibits.

"Of material needs in the way of buildings the greatest are for a new classroom and lecture room building to replace North hall—this it is earnestly hoped the present legislature will provide—and—a most vital need—a permanent auditorium. The university meetings must now perforce be held in the Harmon gymnasium, where there are not enough seats to accommodate even half of the undergraduates. We need grievously a great auditorium, always available, by night and by day, in good weather and in bad, for lectures, concerts, plays, and all manner of student gatherings; an assembly hall adequate for high university festivals such as charter day and commencement, on those untoward occasions when rain forbids the use of our well beloved Greek theater."

PREMIER GIVES ADDRESS.

"I shall not attempt to conceal the pleasure I feel in having been invited to deliver your charter address and in being present on this occasion for that purpose. I realize the honor of following in the footsteps of the many distinguished men who have appeared before you in a similar capacity in the past. This pleasure is only mitigated by the knowledge of my inability to fill the role in the same able manner as those gentlemen. Were I endeavoring to account for your invitation, it might be on the ground that as the Prime Minister of British Columbia, I belong to the same geographical zone as you do in California, where so much of the history of the Pacific coast has been epitomized—where what has been denominated the western spirit of America was born; or that as being politically associated with the fortunes of my native province in this same geographical zone, I have had something to do with the problems with which you have had to deal. At all events, in a large measure you have pursued and sociological conditions similar to your own. We both belong to the newer part of a new continent, and will shortly look out upon the Pacific ocean, and for the first time, see a world's commerce borne into our harbors. And is it not true also that there are elements much in common pervading the whole of the Pacific slope calculated to make us kind to each other and kindred in aims and spirit?

APPRECIATES HONOR.

"If these be among the reasons which prompted you to do me so much honor, I can only say that I appreciate them with all my heart and assure you that such sentiments will be very cordially reciprocated in British Columbia. I feel there is that in the atmosphere of the West which is having a broadening influence upon the peoples on both sides of the line, although, as two nations, we politically live apart. The latter fact should not alter or affect the entente cordiale which has existed so many years and is stronger now than ever before. We can live as amicably, neighbors under separate flags, as we could, one people under a single flag.

"We have no surer evidence of the mutuality of sentiment which exists on this coast from north to south than the efforts which have been made to establish universities and schools of learning of all kinds similar in nature and with the common object of preparing our young men and women for the responsibilities of life and for a destiny which if not common is at least parallel and equally worthy of the best traditions of the two people. California, Washington and Oregon have admirable seats of learning of which they may well feel proud. British Columbia, although possessing excellent public and high schools, has deferred up to the present time the establishment of a Provincial University although for several years past we have been steadily preparing the way for such an institution. Next year we hope to see it open its doors to the world and able to compare, ultimately, in efficiency and appointments with the oldest and best universities on the continent. I am well aware that it takes time to acquire, so to speak, the atmosphere which belongs to a Yale and a Harvard or an Oxford and a Cambridge—hallowed as the institutions are by the traditions of years—but apart from this I think I may say that we shall in a very few years have a British Columbian university which will measure up to the standard of these older seats of learning in the usefulness of the curriculum and the calibre of its professoriate.

BIG ENDOWMENT.

"Our university has been endowed with two million acres of public lands and will, I trust, be liberally subsidized from year to year. The buildings are being erected at Point Grey, near the City of Vancouver and the campus of 284 acres will occupy a beautiful commanding position overlooking the Gulf of Georgia, which witnessed the historic meeting of the ships of Captain Vancouver and of the Spaniards a dozen decades ago. We propose to make this institution as good as the best—in beauty of situation, accommodation, appointments and scholarship.

"California in university work as in many other forms of development has led us by some years; but we in British Columbia have lately, that is to say within the past decade, assumed a wonderful activity, and perhaps no other part of the Pacific Coast is experiencing so rapid a growth at the present time as our Province.

"I noted in one of E. E. Benson's novels, the following passages: 'There are certain plants which apparently lie dormant, as far as outward observation can go, for months or even years together, and then suddenly grow with incredible swiftness, putting forth lead, bud and blossom with a rapidity that is almost uncanny. Some invisible storage of force must certainly have been taking place during the prolonged dormancy, the root-fibre has prospered and accumulated vitality out of the ken of the human eye, transforming the fertile elements into itself and the visible result is the constellation of sudden blossom.'

"I think I might usefully apply this passage to illustrate conditions in British Columbia—the present phenomenal development consequent upon a protracted period of dormancy. We have imbibed the spirit of the West and are in common with yourselves assimilating those energies which have made you a wonderful, may I say, a distinct type of the American people. What one is very pleased to observe is that, the civic and educational evolution of the Pacific coast has proceeded without undue utilitarianism of allowing the pursuit of wealth to become the main objective. In the older cities, more particularly the evidence of culture and refinement everywhere abound. One cannot but note the taste exhibited in the prevailing types of architecture, as well in the homes of the people as in the public buildings with their splendid parks and boulevards. There are many public libraries of note, perhaps the most remarkable being the one associated with the California University. The press has attained a high standard, and there are many institutions for the advancement of science and the public weal. Our type of public men has been moulded by these influences and strengthened, may I say, by the beneficent climate and an ideal environment of ocean, mountain and plain.

TO INCREASE USEFULNESS.

"Bearing in mind the conditions and characteristics which apply equally to the population north as well as south of the international boundary line, I would discuss the university as an institution and indicate shortly my views as to the manner in which it may be made most useful and beneficial. Confucius is credited with saying that an educated man was one who, if confided with an important mission by his government, went and performed the duties pertaining to it, to the entire satisfaction of his superiors and in the best interests of the country. This definition might serve to represent what I have in mind as to the standard of efficiency and usefulness which should result from a training intended to fit us for some definite calling and develop character sufficient for the faithful performance of duties. I consider the functions of a university best discharged when the student is fitted to conduct the practical business of life with skill and efficiency.

"I do not for a moment decry the cultural worth of an academic training or attempt to assess the value of any form of education by the earning capacity produced in the individual; but I do say that a university that does no more than impart a purely academic scholarship has fallen short of the standard of what such an institution should endeavor to do, for those who are entrusted to its care. Speaking as one with university experience, and as the result of much observation and reflection, I am of opinion that the majority of young men and women who graduate between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five have no definite aim in life and are not specially fitted by reason of their training to grapple with the practical problems of life. This is a matter of common knowledge among business men, and in the opinion of an increasing number of all classes it is a condition which calls for a revision of methods. I do not speak critically or censoriously or with special reference to any particular university.

"You will remember when Alcibiades came to Socrates seeking after knowledge, he was told the ability to do things was the measure of all true knowledge; and that education was the best which taught the utilities, qualified men to cope with the realities of life, and furnished the solution of the practical problems arising therein; and the world today is getting back to the principle so emminated two thousand years ago.

SPIRIT OBSCURED.

"There was a long period in the world's history in which in the schools the real spirit of the Ancient Greek and Roman teachings was obscured in an academic display of classical learning. No one would wish at this day to destroy the wonderfully pure concepts of Greek thought, of which truth in the abstract was the substratum; but one finds that an absolutely practical aim pervades all the teachings of the Greek philosophers for the benefit of the people in their daily life. The works of these philosophers abound in wisdom and that is why they have survived to this day. Generations of scholars since the Greek age have, however, studied them as we study a painting or any great work of art without seeking to apply the lessons conveyed. They became a fetish of erudition rather than rules of life. Hence the classics came to be taught in all institutions of learning as models of diction, as styles of expression peculiar to gentlemen and scholars. They were disciplinary rather than useful in the same sense that the higher mathematics were [illegible] taught and as logic and mathematics, came to be part of every curriculum. They were supposed to have special value in training the mind how to think rather than what to think and in conducing to purity of diction and the effective expression of thought. They were instruments of culture rather than food for thought. In this way Latin came to be the language in which all the scholars of Europe wrote their books and in which many erudite men conversed. It was necessary to be a Latin linguist in those days when all textbooks and treatises were written in that language, just as in earlier times the cultured people of Rome used the Greek language for their compositions and as French is now the language of court circles and of diplomacy.

ACADEMIC TRAINING.

"For generations back, as only the wealthier classes—those destined for the state, the church or one of the learned professions, were academically trained, mainly as I have said in the classics, an inordinate value was attached to school accomplishments, as compared with all others and to some extent we have inherited similar views. For ages simple minded and uneducated persons attributed all greatness, wealth and power to the result of education. We sometimes forget the opinion of Socrates that the man who can get work intelligently and well, though he never saw the inside of a university, may in the true sense be far better educated than a man with a brilliant college career who has much knowledge in the abstract but can do nothing practical or useful. I do not underestimate the pleasures of intellectual occupations and pursuits, nor the value of the classics as a factor in education; but we do not realize sufficiently that all useful callings carry with them problems the solving of which require the keenest brain—the highest intellectual qualifications. The banker, the railway manager, the engineer, the merchant, the farmer, the skilled mechanic, each must employ high mental faculties in order to achieve success, and the exercise of those faculties is educative in the highest degree. Education consists in solving problems from the highest to the lowest by the exercise of brain power and no one is educated in the true sense, who does not mentally follow all the processes of the solution for himself and grasp the entire meaning and purport of each step taken.

"Therefore, much of the curriculum of the ordinary student of the university is futile, because it is accepted by him as the conclusions of some one else and not digested and absorbed by a process of mental effort on his own part. The North American Indian, by his silent communion with nature, developed an eloquence and poetry of expression that is wonderful. Not only so, but he acquired a marvelous knowledge of forest and plain which has excited the admiration of all students of Indian character. We know how the Deerslayer in Cooper's Leatherstocking stories constantly eulogizes the genius of the Indian developed by the cultivation of his powers of observation whereby without compass he found his way through the dense forest or over the trackless prairie; and with what wisdom or instinct he judged of a hundred and one things which were hidden to the uninitiated and uneducated white man. Should we deprecate the cult of the Indian because it is not our cult, or because he reasons in a way unknown to the academicians of our colleges?

WORKS OUT PROBLEMS.

"In a similar way the success of what we term the self made man is due almost wholly to the fact that he has had to work out his own problems and thus developed his faculties in a way that no amount of college coaching would have done. Some of these self-made men bemoan the lack of early schooling, such as their children are able to enjoy under more opulent circumstances, reasoning that if success has been attained under such conditions how much greater would the measure of that success have been with the advantage of a university career; whereas, the probability is that most of these men would never have achieved success in their lines had they been college trained. It is a significant fact that nearly all the great successes in the United States and my own country, Canada—I mean men who in the various departments of commerce and industry have done things of which we feel very proud—never got beyond the public schools of the country before starting to hew out a career for themselves. I am not holding up success in life in a worldly sense as the goal to be attained but simply wish to emphasize the fact that there is a cultural and educative value in all effort to work successfully along any line of achievement, which is a factor that should not be overlooked in university work.

"I would, with your permission, suggest some conclusion from these premises which might tend to modify theories and methods of education at present in vogue. In some cases a university degree stands for an educational qualification which does not exist, a degree which has been acquired perfunctorily either for the possession of the degree itself or as a matter of course. In other cases a degree is not acquired because of its educational value but because it is a valuable asset for teaching or professional work or confers social standing. If an educational course were voluntary, the result of vocational adaptability, of the pure love of acquiring knowledge, of intellectual temperament, we should find every graduate continuing in the line of study for which his academical course was merely preparatory but the reverse is usually the case.

"Actual experience goes to show that outside of those who qualify for teachers or of some of the professions not five per cent of the graduates pursue in after life the studies of school. Does this not indicate a failure in the system which would seem to call for a remedy?

SHOULD CHANGE SYSTEM.

"Our universities, I submit, should aim less to arrive at a uniform standard for their students than to develop individuality; to encourage vocational aspirations; to specialize rather than to generalize; to hold up definite purpose and usefulness in a career as the object of training rather than the sharpening of wits by a theoretical emery process, that finding out and doing things for oneself is infinitely more educative in effect than accepting the conclusions of others.

"I am convinced from my reading and observation that this view is rapidly gaining ground and even now to a great extent I find that at the conventions of teachers and educationalists the problem most discussed is how the obvious failure of so much educational effort is to be averted by reformers as affording a solution of most social problems. But these problems have multiplied and the remedy still waits. No educational reform would bring about perfect conditions; but it should be capable of doing much in that direction. It does not involve the implication that there is any less appreciation of cultured values or love of the classics and studies in history and philosophy or that there is any deterioration of intellectual fibre. It would indicate, however that the net results of the average university system may not be fulfilling the claims made for it, not fitting men and women for the duties of practical life, not increasing the degree of social efficiency. The world is paying an immense sum annually for educational facilities—is it getting the best results for the outlay?

"The highest aim of man, if that could be realized, is not to sit and read or write learned books, but to do something useful; to provide for his own wants and the wants of those depending upon him and if possible add to the sum of things which the world wants. Take the entire Pacific slope, with its yet only budding energies and investigate its wonderful resources of lands, timber, fisheries, minerals and water powers—is there not in the development of these inexhaustible resources the widest field for the best energies of our best university graduates with a practical and intimate knowledge of the requirements in a thousand different directions?

DISPUTES CLASSIFICATION.

"I would further submit that the division arbitrarily made by educationists, of studies into 'liberal' or 'general' and the 'special' or 'technical,' is scarcely warrantable. Why should a distinction be made between studies embracing language, history, mathematics, science and to a certain extent poetry, music, sculpture and painting on the one hand and on the other hand studies of a more technical character intended to qualify for one of the professions or other practical pursuit or purpose. The reason for such a distinction is hard to find because there is no form of knowledge, whether utilitarian or not, which has not a cultural effect and there are no studies of a general character which should not bear upon something specific. I would say that all knowledge which is not useful is useless. These liberal or general studies were regarded by educationists as the necessary foundation for the subsequent studies intended to qualify for a professional career, although unnecessary as preparatory for commercial pursuits or to practice a trade as an artisan—and years were spent in acquiring a liberal education as preliminary to a professional or technical training.

"I have suggested that the problems we have in our daily lives demand no less intellectual capacity and activity to successfully solve than is required in the studies of physiology, philosophy, mathematics or history or in the investigation of the various schools of thought ancient and modern. Who will say that the men who have been pre-eminent in developing the industries of this continent who have been instrumental in establishing its gigantic railroad systems the majority of whom have lacked college training, have had less mentality than those famous as scholars? In the general appraisement of the two types of men, we might pertinently ask who is the greater—the man who painted the landscape or the man who made it? The estimate of each depends upon the amount of intelligence and skill that was exercised quite apart from traditional appraisement of cultural value. It is true the one may lack some of the finese begotten of scholarship but on the other hand he possesses something—a power of doing and creating which could never be evolved in a university. The man of scholarly attainments is perhaps too prone to disparage the man who practices the utilities and gives form to technical and professional skill—the man of social efficiency. As I have pointed out, undue importance was perhaps attached in the past generations to the classics, especially to Latin which then was the medium of exchange of thought among educated men.

STUDIES OBSOLETE.

"Logic and metaphysics were an integral part of every college curriculum. The study of ancient philosophies and schools of thought was also much in evidence. These no longer have the same prominence. While the study of the higher mathematics is as important as ever it is no longer considered as essential in the solution of those practical problems that confront us in modern civilized life. Having acquired the fundamentals the careful study of any problem will bring clear thinking. Lord Bacon protested that the rigid tenets of the old schools, based on the Aristotelian philosophy, had shackled the minds of scholars for over a thousand years and we are still shackled to some extent by the traditions of the past in respect to the relative values of training.

"When I use the word university, I use it in the popular sense. I am aware that a university is essentially a degree-conferring institution and may have no tangible existence in the way of buildings. There have been various definitions of a university even in the popular sense. One writer in a recent issue of the "Education Review" says: 'The primary purpose of the university is to provide the companionship of scholars for scholars at a time when sufficient maturity has been reached to make the joy of the intellectual life intense and productive. If I may borrow the charming phrase from a colleague of mine, I should say that a university is a company of scholars in which those who have discovered the mind, make full, profitable and productive use of their discovery.

"'A university is an institution where students adequately trained by previous study of the liberal arts and sciences are led into special fields of learning and research by teachers of high excellence and originality, and whereby the agency of libraries, museums, laboratories and publications, knowledge is conserved, advanced and disseminated. Teaching is only one function of a university and perhaps the smallest one.'

"Viewed in this light there is little danger of modern utilitarianism destroying its usefulness or killing its influence. A university is a place where each student should be permitted to pursue and have the facilities for pursuing any line of study or investigation for which he has an adaptability or a liking. The pursuit of one particular line of study does not necessarily exclude or diminish the love for other studies. Some one has defined education as the knowing all about something and a little about everything. A student is usually interested in more subjects than one, and I think that students should be encouraged to proceed on lines of vocational and selective studies, as being the best means of developing individuality.

SHOULD PROVIDE MUCH.

"The university should provide for all shades of thought and lines of educational development, aiming at efficiency in particular callings so that the results may be practical and useful to all students. If a student specializes he will not necessarily neglect all other studies. While one student may devote special attention to literature others would turn to art, antiquarian research, philosophy, natural science or other study. The development of lines of special culture depends less upon a fixed program than upon the liberties of preference. A student takes the most interest and makes the most progress in a study for which he has a natural liking. One only masters a profession or a vocational calling by actually engaging in the work and the sooner reasonably he engages in it, the more plastic and impressionable is his mind and the better his chances for success therein. You cannot learn farming or electricity, or mechanical engineering, or mining in school. You may familiarize yourself with the underlying principles which will materially aid you in actual practice, but you must acquire a practical knowledge of farming on the farm itself and of electricity in electrical workshops.

"So I would say, shape your university courses by the practicaly requirements of the time in which we live. Adapt educational methods to existing social conditions. All that is great, all that is good, all that is useful, will survive. All that is useless, all that is fustian and mere pedantry will grow obsolete. With regard to the criticisms that are fairly due to the university of the past centuries—while not unmindful or unappreciative of the glorious traditions of the seats of learning and the great influence directly and indirectly upon the thought of the world—it might perhaps be fair to say that in the olden universities and in the culture engendered thereby there was too much pedantry blended with genuine scholarship to the detriment of free intellectual development. Universities have not always appraised the social and utilitarian wants of their day whereby pure forms of culture have been raised to moderate heights and the useful and practical suppressed.

WANTS VOCATIONAL SCHOOLS.

"Commercial and professional circles of the United States and Canada are demanding vocational schools and this should inform the higher institutions of learning as to the trend of present day requirements. An eminent educationist of your country points out that 'our elementary schools stop exactly where a definite vocation begins.' He urges the establishment of other schools of various sorts which shall aim at preparing good citizens through their efficiency and joy in work. To my mind the universities of this country should be the continuation schools for this great purpose.

"The subject to which I have addressed myself today is one that the Government of British Columbia sponsors for our new Provincial University have become especially interested in. For our men and women and yours as well, our section of the continent offers a large and varied field for the exploitation of mankind's most efficient activities and we cherish the determination that the work of our institution will not only produce a finished scholarship but also endow its students with much practical knowledge and experience as will enable them to enter that field with skill and efficiency. There is the strong desire too that it may be said in the years to come that the Provincial University is not only a powerful educational factor in our community but has also grown to be an important part of our entire state and economic fabric."

CONFERS DEGREE.

Toward the close of the exercises President Wheeler, by authority of the Board of Regents, conferred upon Premier McBride the honorary degree of doctor of laws. In conferring the degree President Wheeler said:

"Sir Richard McBride, premier of British Columbia: Outside the domain of the States, you and your people are our nearest neighbors. We of California share with you and yours common traditions of law and letters and a common heritage of blood and speech, but, what will prove for more distinctive, we share a common habitation upon the shores of the Pacific in face of its opportunities, under the shadow of its portents. Like problems, like interests make this dwelling together on the coast a new bond and new entity among the communities of men. Athwart the formal boundary which stretches east and west to divide us run the long lines of living foam stretching far north and south to unite us. Your presence here today shall be the symbol of a brotherhood deeper than the names of nations.

"Upon you, Richard McBride, knight, I do, by authority of the regents of the University of California, now confer the degree of doctor of laws; good neighbor, far-seeing statesman, founder of a sister university, leader of your people, stout-hearted and well-beloved."

McBRIDE RESPONDS.

Premier McBride acknowledged the honor with a brief word of thanks to the president.

Several other features of both a social and athletic nature filled the afternoon's program of Charter Day. President Wheeler gave his annual reception at Hearst Hall at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Phoebe Apperson Hearst, regent of the university, and President Wheeler headed the receiving line. There were more than 1000 invited guests.

TRANSFER BIG C.

The annual transference of the "Big C," the concrete emblem of the university outlined in gold on Charter Hill behind the campus, from sophomore to freshman custody was made today with the established ritual. The history of the "Big C" was told by Ralph Palmer Merritt, comptroller of the university. V. H. Doyle of the sophomore class made the speech of transference and the emblem was received for the freshmen by the class president, E. F. Forbes.

Athletic contests of the afternoon included the following: Baseball, Freshmen vs. Sacramento High school; baseball, California Varsity vs. Oakland team of the Pacific Coast League; women's basketball, University of California vs. University of Nevada.

CHANGE DATE THIS YEAR.

Charter Day is held annually by the University of California on March 23, and was moved back to March 22 this year because of the falling of Sunday on the customary date. On March 23, 1868, Governor Haight of California signed an act or charter which provided for the establishment of a state university.

Sir Richard McBride, prime minister of British Columbia, who made the day's chief address, is one of the foremost men in Canadian national politics today. He is a graduate of Dalhousie University, Halifax, Nova Scotia, from which institution he secured the degree of bachelor of laws in 1890. In 1903 he was sent to the parliament of Victoria and was for a time minister of mines. In 1912 he was made a knight commander of St. Michael and St. George.

NATIONAL HIGHWAY BILL PASSES SENATE

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—Out of forty-two bills on the third reading file ready for final action the Senate failed this morning to reach a vote on a single one of them. Various excuses were given by the members in asking to have their measures passed on file, and as a result there will be a heavy burden upon the upper house next week.

Senator Cogswell's resolution memorializing Congress to make surveys and appropriations for a system of national highways to connect every State in the union was passed unanimously by the Senate.

CHURCHES ECHO EASTER STORY

Eloquence to Pervade Sermons

EASTER will be observed tomorrow in all the houses of worship throughout this city, when the story of "The Resurrection" will be told in song and sermon. Augmented choirs and gifted soloists will give the programs of sacred music, which will add to the impressiveness of the festival. Short Sermons for Busy Readers

AN EASTER SERMON.

Theme: The Present Day proof that Christ arose.

Text: "Yet a little while and the world seeth me no more, but ye see me, and because I live ye shall live also."—John xiv:19.

Rev. Geo. W. White

Is there any line of reasoning that will appeal to modern minds as present proof that Christ arose from the dead, as narrated in the gospels?

It seems to us there is

In Paul's great argument in favor of the resurrection as a fact of history, in the fifteenth chapter of First Corinthians, he claims that Christ was seen by himself, as well as by others, after he arose; yet he was not present with the other apostles at any of the recorded appearings, and only his experience of conversion on the Damascus road could have been the foundation of his claim.

The narrative of that tremendous event does not indicate that Paul saw Christ, but that he heard a voice which was that of the Saviour. How much of this was objective and how much subjective is hard to determine, although the record declares that those who journeyed with Paul heard the voice, also, but saw no man.

From Paul's later writings, notably in his second epistle to the Corinthian church, he expressly states that the risen Christ is more real than the Christ in the flesh: "Yea, though we have known Christ after the flesh, yet now, henceforth know we Him no more" (after the flesh), as though there is a higher manifestation of him than that in the flesh.

GIVE CHURCH STRONG FAITH.

The words of Christ quoted in the text, and many more like them, gave the early church a strong faith that he would soon appear again. Did he do so, or were they misled?

There are many Christian believers who believe that he did come, as He foretold, and that this coming, though not in the flesh, was the more powerful and blessed because of that; and that the very life and power of the Christian church is in this fact.

When He was on earth the disciples asked him, "How is it that Thou wilt manifest Thyself unto us and not unto the world?" He answered, "If a man love me he will keep my words; and my Father will love him, and we will come unto him, and make our abode with him."

This indicates the manner of His appearing after the resurrection. It was a coming in the spirit instead of in the flesh, and made it possible for him to be the universal Christ instead of being localized in Judea where he could only serve and bless a few.

There are many passages of Scripture which affirm this. In Hebrews 9:28, the apostle says: "Unto them that look for Him shall He appear the second time, without sin unto salvation:" and several times he uses the expression commending those "Who love His kingdom and His appearing," showing that He is to appear in some satisfying way to all who truly love Him.

The tendency of the modern interpretations of the resurrection are toward the spiritual conception of it, though the bodily features of it are susceptible of strong argument.

RESTS ON SPIRITUAL PROOF.

The school of Ritschl, in Germany, holds that faith should be disassociated with historic facts and rest on spiritual proofs alone. It claims that the "Religious impression" made on the world was the real work of Christ, and that he should be judged entirely by that, not by the historic records made of it. This rule would bring the personal influence of Christ down to latest times.

Harnack, another great German theologian, takes much the same view. He distinguishes between the "Easter message" and the "Easter faith," the former having reference to the bodily aspects of the resurrection, and the latter to a faith in a Christ living in the spirit. He calls this "The conviction that the Crucified One still lives, and that whatever happened at the grave, and in the manner of the appearances, one thing is certain, this grave is the birth-place of the manner of the indestructible belief that death is vanquished and that there is life eternal."

Prof. Borden P. Bowne of Boston university took a similar position some few years ago. He held that while the bodily resurrection might not be susceptible of absolute proof, though antecedently probable, the whole history of the church of Christ on earth proves conclusively a living Christ constantly upholding and strengthening it. This line of proof becomes stronger as the centuries pass.

COURT UPHOLDS LORD DENMAN

Supreme Court Holds That Governor-General Was Wrongfully Ejected.

MELBOURNE, March 22.—That Lord Denman, the governor general without a home, was wrongfully ejected from his headquarters at Sydney by the state government, was the decision of the full supreme court today. Great stir was caused recently throughout the commonwealth when the labor government threw the governor general, his wife and family, together with their baggage, out of the government house in Macquare Palace, as a result of a state election. Lord Denman had, perforce, to move to this city, and the government of the mother state of the commonwealth was heartily condemned for its action.

The premises in question had been used for many years as the home of governors of the state until a few months ago, when the labor government declared that the property should be used as a public park.

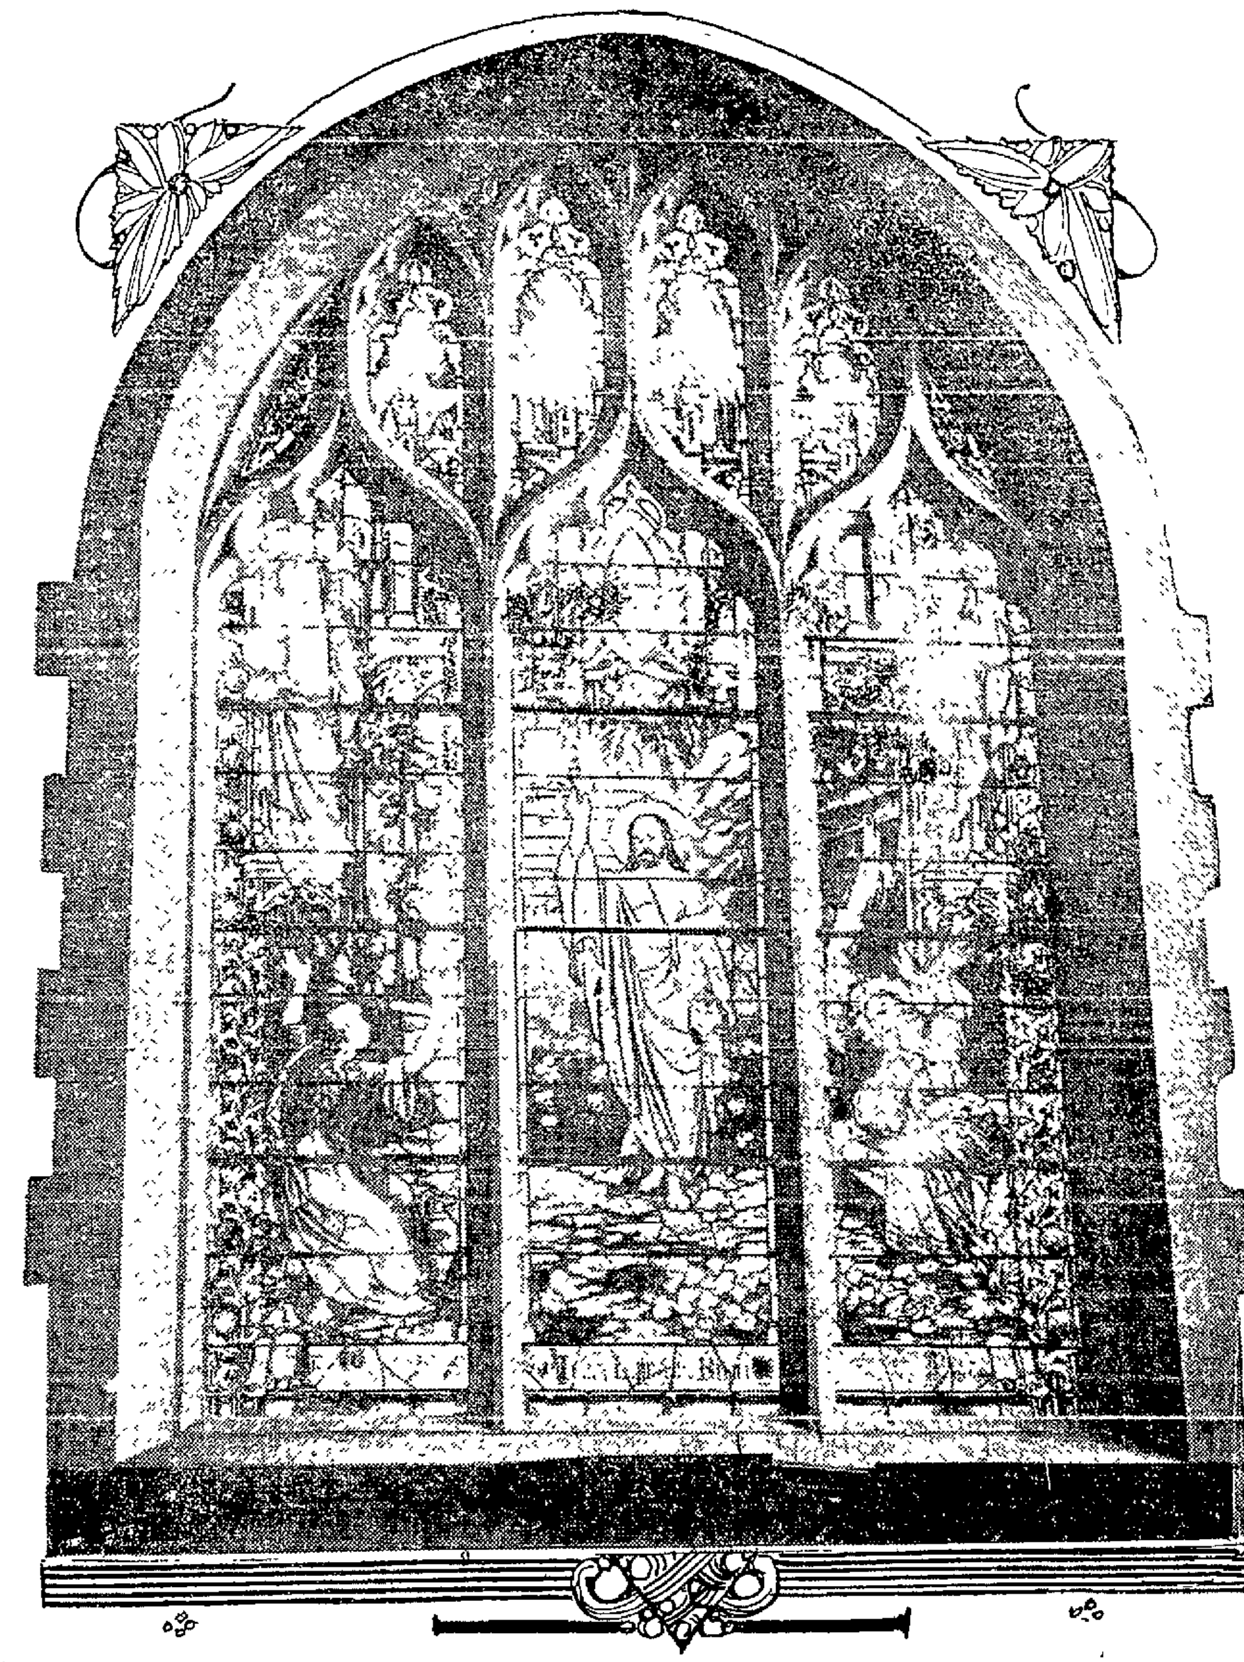
Window Is Memorial to Isaac Requa

Mrs. Requa's Gift to St. Paul's Church



BEAUTIFUL STAINED GLASS WINDOW PRESENTED TO ST. PAUL'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH BY MRS. ISAAC REQUA IN MEMORY OF THE LATE ISAAC REQUA.

Work of Art in Stained Glass Tells Story of Resurrection; California Trees Used in Decorations of Holy Story

The congregation of St. Paul's Episcopal church will spend its first Easter tomorrow in the new edifice which was recently dedicated, and elaborate plans have been formulated for this Easter service. A feature of the new church is the magnificent Gothic window now in place, which is Mrs. Isaac Requa's splendid tribute to the memory of her husband, the late Isaac Lawrence Requa.

The beautiful window is in the chancel of the church and from its commanding position back of the altar is a wonderful study, notable for its peace and harmony, for the superb color tones and for the great dignity of its composition. Its theme, "The Resurrection," is most appropriate for the Easter time, for in the wonderful Gothic window is pictured the great story of the Resurrection. The window is designed in three Gothic panels. In the central window is an inspiring picture of the risen Christ, with his right hand raised in benediction. There is infinite strength and tenderness in this expression, as befits the conqueror of the grave.

TONES ARE GREEN.

The color tones are in pale green, and in the foreground are beautiful trilliums, symbolizing the Blessed Trinity. Over the head of the Christ is a pendant frond of eucalyptus dimly seen against the blue sky. In the apex of the panel is the seal of the diocese of California, the Episcopal mitre, the cross and the legend "Pacifica et Impera."

The eucalyptus branch in the panel is an exact reproduction of a branch from a tree on the Requa estate, the tree planted many years ago by the man to whom the window is a memorial, Isaac Lawrence Requa.

STORY OF RESURRECTION.

The angel sits on the edge of the empty tomb, her angelic character indicated by the star which shines on her brow, the whole attitude expressive of joy as the Messenger of the Resurrection. In the upper portion of this window stands the figure of St. Paul, the patron apostle of the church. He bears the symbols associated with him in ecclesiastical art—the sword and the book.

CANOPY IN SECTIONS.

The canopy of the window is in six sections, with four angelic figures, holding in their hands the scroll containing an Old Testament prophesy, the most splendid promise of the Resurrection. The text is from Hosia and reads. "I will ransom them from the power of the grave," the words bearing the sum and climax of God's revelation.

The whole window is a most beautiful work of art, and is most comprehensive in its character. The Old Testament is represented by its greatest figure, Moses, the New Testament by its greatest apostle, St. Paul, the central theme of both, Christ, Prophet, Priest and King, the Death Conqueror.

It is an exquisite work of art, a memorial that is a fitting tribute to one who was most worthy—a message from a loving, faithful heart.

So the beautiful window shines out upon the world, sending abroad its note of peace, of harmony, its story of the Resurrection. Many loyal friends remember the life the window commemorates, and strangers will pause to read the inscription: "Isaac Lawrence Requa, who Fell in Sleep March 29, 1905."

RETAIL BUTCHERS WRITE ON TARIFF

Address Senator Perkins on Relation of Duties to High Price of California Meat.

Taking the position that the high cost of living has a substantial prop in the duties now imposed by the Payne-Aldrich tariff bill on imported meat and cattle, the Retail Butchers' Association and the Alameda County Butchers' Exchange have written to Senator Perkins at Washington asking him to permit these associations to present facts bearing on the subject.

The letter to Senator Perkins follows:

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal. March 18, 1913.

Hon. George Perkins, Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:—On behalf of the people of California we respectfully beg to submit to you, for your consideration and views, our petition for a revision by Congress, in due course, of the existing laws respecting the duty laid on meats and cattle imported to this state from foreign countries.

You are doubtless aware of the prevailing high prices which are being demanded and obtained by California markets for the sale of their meats. Our associations, after having made a careful and thorough investigation of existing conditions, have concluded that only the wholesale butchers of this state are receiving the benefits accruing from prices which we find are exorbitant. Although the margin of profit on which the retailer operates has been considerably narrowed, this unjust enrichment of the wholesaler is ultimately borne by the consumer.

Information which we have secured from a reliable source discloses that the schedule of costs to our retail dealers for meats which are available for importation from Australia as well as cattle from [illegible] from those countries to this state included would be considerably less than the schedule of market prices demanded by our wholesalers, providing that such importations could be made immune from duty.

We are reluctant to further burden you with details respecting this issue until we learn whether or not it meets with your favorable consideration.

Thanking you in anticipation for a reply, and trusting that you may see your way clear to co-operate with us in this undertaking, we are, yours respectfully,

RETAIL BUTCHERS ASSOCIATION,
By Robin N. Weiss, President;
By Louis Schneider, Secretary.
ALAMEDA COUNTY BUTCHERS' EXCHANGE,
By W. R. Harper, President;

The Revolution of Autos and Good Roads.

Speaking editorially of the revolution which the auto and good roads have effected in the life of a California farmer, the Monterey Express says:

"For the suburban farmers and even those living at a long distance from an urban community, the auto-wagon seems to be indispensable only as a money-saver if it be true that time is money. Already it is noted that some farmers are able to market all of the products of the farm with a car and trailer. While the car eats up gasoline the farmer is eating up time as, with almost the rapidity of a railroad train, he speeds to the city. Instead of hauling his produce to the nearest railroad station, there to await the convenience of the station agent, he can take it direct to his nearest market and in many instances dispose of it to the consumer without the aid of the middlemen and to the advantage of the consumer as well as to his own."

Every one of the business activities in California are benefited in a similar way by good roads and the auto. But the latter has, like all other time-saving appliances, its limitations, for its motive mechanism is delicate and subsequent to derangement. Its greatest utility depends on roads constructed with hard, smooth surfaces which reduces wear and tear to a minimum and keeps down the cost of repairs and general depreciation which affects the economic value of the machine as compared with the horse, the unit of power.

With good roads, the auto totally eclipses the horse, and puts that useful animal out of commission in the matter of time-saving and covering distance. It has developed, moreover, into an aid and a competitor with its successful rival of nearly eighty years ago. It is a noteworthy fact that early in the last century practically all of the vital features in the machinery of a modern automobile had been invented and successfully applied to road vehicles which threatened to displace the old-time stage coach and all other means of transportation. But close on the heels of the invention of the horseless vehicle came the invention of the metal road rail and the proof that in a wheeled vehicle standing on parallel lines of rails one horse power was capable of moving one hundred tons of weight for every ton the same power was able to move on a dirt road. George Stephenson seized the economic idea discovered in the rail and applied his genius to the development of the steam locomotive and the birth of the railroad was instantly the death of the horseless road vehicle.

But the modern auto is under many conditions a successful rival now to railroads. To illustrate: Recently an Oakland professional man returned home from a two years' sight-seeing tour of Europe. When he left this city he shipped his passenger car overland to New York and thence across the Atlantic. During the European tour in which he was accompanied by his family, he never had occasion to pay a railroad fare. The record of his autometer at the close of the tour showed that the machine had covered a distance of 22,000 miles and it had not cost him a cent for repairs. Since returning the same machine has traveled over two thousand miles additional and is today in as perfect running condition as it was when turned out of the factory.

But dray horses and heavy drays employed in short hauling are still holding their own as old-time stand-bys which auto-drays have not been able to crowd out of business. The latter have not been able to overcome the superior economic value of the dray-horse. The original cost of an auto-dray involves a large investment of capital; cost of operation, maintenance and repair is correspondingly high, and the life of the machine is comparatively short. Still the auto-dray outstrips the horse-dray where the haulage is long and the saving of time in delivery is a material consideration. But the horseless road machine is an indispensable agent now in every line of business and human effort.

While the apple-growers of the northwestern tier of States—Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana—lost money last year through the failure to find a profitable market for their crops, the growers in the apple districts in this State, particularly those in the Pajaro and Sonoma valleys, obtained handsome returns for theirs, under contracts for the total crop made by agents of the buyers in the spring when the orchards were in blossom. The greater part of the California apple crop is shipped to Great Britain. That country is a great apple-producer, but the California crop is in big demand and finds a ready sale in the markets of London and other large cities throughout the island at a price which yields a good profit to the enterprising importer. Both Oregon and Washington are producers of high grade apples. The former was at one time the principal apple-growing State, and of late years the crop of the Hood river country in Southern Oregon and also that raised in some of the valleys in Washington found a market in the Eastern States. Some shipments were also made to the London markets; but their growers seem to have lost their hold in both markets last year, while the California growers succeeded in tightening their grip.

Cost of California Fish Food.

Edible fishes in all ages have been classed among all nations as the poor man's source of food supply. Food fishes are so classed today the world over except in California. And the waters of this State, both fresh and salt, are as prolific in the yield of edible fishes today as the waters of any populated section of the earth. Nor is there a place on the face of the globe fronting on tidal waters—not excepting the bay of Naples or the coasts of the British Isles or Japan—where so many varieties of food fishes are to be found in such abundance.

Dr. David Starr Jordan, who has been conceded to be the most eminent living piscatorial authority since the death of Agassiz, long ago declared that Monterey bay was more heavily stocked with a larger assortment of food fishes than any other known place in the world. He described it as the meeting-place of the food fishes of the waters of the tropics and of the temperate and Arctic zones.

Many years after that declaration was made it was accidentally discovered by an ardent amateur salt-water fisherman that Monterey bay was, moreover, the ocean retreat of salmon spawned in the Sacramento and other California streams when, in response to a natural instinct, they abandoned the fresh waters and disappeared in the sea.

But the point of burning interest and importance to the consumers of fish food in this State is that, with all this abundance [illegible] no populated part of the earth where the price of food fishes is as high, or anywhere near as high, as it is here.

For example: Salmon is retailing at present at 30 cents per pound. Halibut and other salt-water fish with which the floor of the sea along the coast is densely stocked is correspondingly dear. The poor man's fish supply has become the rich man's luxury through the mysterious influence of some artificial but easily determinable cause. The waters of the State, both fresh and salt, yield their finny crop without any cost to the fisherman, other than the simple effort of spreading his nets or setting his lines and bringing to market in his floating craft, in which an insignificant amount of capital is invested and which is propelled by the free wind or by an inexpensive agent of artificial power.

There is only one answer to be given as an explanation of the fish market conditions—namely, that the California Fish Trust which was supposed to have been broken about two years ago, has a firmer grip on the monopoly of the supply of food fishes than it ever had before, and that the enormous expense the State and federal governments are subjecting themselves to, to maintain the supply of salmon and other important food fishes is not inuring to the benefit of consumers, but to the exclusive enrichment of the trust controlling the market supply.

The proof of it is that in the northwestern waters of the Pacific Coast such a monopoly is not in existence and cannot be formed, because of international competition, for in all of the Puget Sound ports whole full-grown fish weighing anywhere from five to ten pounds can be bought at retail for the price of one pound in the markets of the bay cities, the cost and the size of the fish sold being regulated solely by the volume of the catch and the weather conditions affecting the fisheries.

The subject of the cost of fish food here is certainly one calling for stern official or legislative investigation to restore the poorer classes in the population of the State to their rightful inheritance.

SODA FOUNTAIN INDUSTRY

The greatest development of the soda fountain history in the United States, according to L. A. Becker, who writes on the subject in The Pharmaceutical Era, has come within the last 15 years. During this period new applications of principles have been perfected which have simplified construction, increased operative efficiency and made possible the 99 per cent efficiency sanitary fountain of today. The entire mechanism has been perfected and completed, and the modern fountain is really scientific in its utilization of correct mechanical and physical principles.

During this period the modern workboard, the iceless fountain—in fact, the majority of the features of the modern soda fountain—have been put forth and have won public approval. Within this decade and a half the industry has assumed the commanding financial proportions and the volume in output which makes it one of the greatest manufacturing industries of the present day.

No better presentation of the essential facts of the soda-fountain industry in this country can be made than that given in the census reports of statistics of manufacturers for the years 1899, 1904 and 1909, the data for the last period being presented from unpublished sheets through the courtesy of E. Dana Durand, director of the Census:

1899—Number of establishments, 30, salaried employes, 227 average number of wage-earners, [illegible], capital, $4,202,000, salaries, 244,000, wages $550,000; cost of materials, $997,000, value of products, $3,015,000; added value of manufacture to cost of materials, $2,015,000.

persons engaged in the industry, 2399, proprietors and firm members, 40; salaried employes, 562; average number of wage-earners, 1797; capital, $8,589,000, salaries, $624,000, wages, $1,239,000; cost of materials, $2,443,000; value of products, $6,556,000; added value by manufacture to cost of materials, $4,113,000; per cent increase in number of employes, 22.3; per cent increase in value of products, 41.5.

THE SPEED BUG

Truthfully picturing the demon of excessive rush abroad in the land in this step-lively age, Rev. Charles Bullard, a Presbyterian minister of New Jersey, says:

"We grow our chickens in eight weeks and eat them broiled in 15 minutes. We can hardly wait to read; moving pictures must tell us the facts. Sermons must be exceedingly short. We can scarcely stop to bury our dead. Messages are in codes. Business orders are in monosyllables. Fashionable society is a whirl."

The doctor of divinity tells us (and doubtless any M. D. will corroborate his statement) that this speed and ever more speed is the direct cause of neurosis, hysteria and kindred diseases.

It would seem to be the part of wisdom to slow down sufficiently to keep on the rails and avoid the ditch.—Boston Globe.

SWAMPED WITH REPLYS FROM AD.

H. Spencer Lewis Gets 2548 Answers From One Small Classified Adv.

Effectiveness of want advertisements is shown by a statement made by H. Spencer Lewis, advertising manager of the American Voltite Co. 225 West 39th St., New York City, regarding the results obtained from a want advertisement run regularly for a time in a certain daily newspaper. Mr. Lewis says his firm received 2548 inquiries from this advertisement, the writers remitting $235.92 in stamps for samples. From these inquiries his house received, to the date of the statement, orders amounting to $2058.97, with orders still coming in.—The Mail Order Journal.

Eastern firms who are bidding for business in Central California have found THE TRIBUNE one of their best classified mediums. There is only one other paper that compares to it in the point of returns. THE TRIBUNE prints more classified advertisements from its own city than all its competitors combined, and does not run deadhead advertisements in order to create the impression that its classified advertising columns are healthy, as some of the other papers do.

DIES AFTER BLOW OF HUGE HAMMER

Hospital Doctors Diagnose Pneumonia, But Case Will be Investigated.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Chief Deputy Coroner Kelly ordered the body of Samuel Martin, of 450 Broadway, who died at the German hospital this morning from pneumonia, removed to the morgue pending an investigation. It was learned by the officials that Martin had been injured on March 10. He was employed by the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, and on the day in question one of his fellow workers struck him on the leg with a huge sledgehammer. He was instructed to go to the German hospital for treatment, but failed to do so until yesterday. An examination by the physicians disclosed the fact that he was suffering from pneumonia. Whether the injury received 11 days previously had anything to do with the death is the matter which will be looked into.

WIFE DESERTER IS SEVERELY REPRIMANDED

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—When Louis Jensen, accused of abandonment and neglect of child, appeared before Superior Judge Dunne this morning and requested probation he received a severe lecture at the hands of the jurist.

"I think it is time to punish some of these wandering Willies," declared the court. "I have not much sympathy with you, Jensen. It is bad enough to do what you did, but it is much worse for you as you have dared people to prove it. They had no difficulty in doing so and now you want to be released."

Jensen, it is claimed, abandoned his wife and child and he was convicted by a jury. The case was continued for one week for sentence.

STATE PRODUCE 'CHANGE BILL GETS DEATH BLOW

Appropriation Not Forthcoming; Measure Causes Torrid Debate

(Special Correspondence to THE TRIBUNE)

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—The death knell of the state produce exchange bill, A. B. No. 254 (Tulloch) was sounded last evening by Assemblyman Beck of Livermore in the midst of a lively fight between the farmers and commission, or middle, men before the assembly committee on agriculture. Beck, who is a commission man, took part in the fight against the creation of the exchange and emphasized his remarks at one time with the statement that as a member of the ways and means committee he could assure the producers the bill was blocked, as the $200,000 asked for the establishment of a state produce exchange would not be appropriated.

This startling announcement from Beck took the proponents of the bill off their feet for a time, but they retorted that Beck was "undoubtedly pleased to announce the defeat of the bill."

DEBATE IS TORRID.

The hearing before the committee developed into a torrid debate between the few ranchers and producers and a group of San Francisco and Oakland commission men. In the words of the well dressed commission men the commission business was a failure, none of the commission men are making money at it and the margin of profit was so small that some of them were actually losing money, they asserted.

How to get rid of the middleman, so that the producer can command a fair profit for his produce and at the same time supply it to the consumer at a smaller price than is now asked, was the problem that the handful of ranchers sought to explain to the committee. T. J. Penfield of Turlock declared that there "are dishonest producers just as there are dishonest commission men," but the evil to be corrected was not in the men, he argued, but in the system.

STATE AS MIDDLEMAN.

"What we want to save to the producer, and to the consumer, is the commission man's profit, and we believe that we can accomplish this by making the state of California the middleman by the passage of this bill and the creation of the state produce exchange," asserted Penfield. "The commission men say they are conducting their business at a loss. If that be so, why do they not get out of it?"

H. C. Hoskins of Turlock insisted that the best evidence that the producers throughout the state, raisin growers, citrus fruit men and apple men, were not satisfied with the dealings they have had with the commission houses around the bay was the formation of co-operative associations in the different lines of fruit so that a better market could be had. He declared the exchange idea had been a success in New Zealand and Australia and should be given a show here. He contended that the existence of such a state produce exchange as was proposed would solve the problem of the storage and non-sale of 2000,000 boxes of Watsonville apples.

FLAYS COMMISSION MEN.

Ralph H. Smith of Santa Cruz also spoke on the means of bringing the producer and the consumer closer together. He flayed the commission men for their manipulation of prices to the detriment of the man who raises the produce and the man who buys it. Smith's remarks engendered quite a little feeling into the discussion and he was referred to at one time as a "parasite."

The commission men had several lines of arguments against the bill. They pointed to the fact that the initiative petition that was circulated to put the subject before a vote of the people failed to get the necessary number of signers. They spoke of the $200,000 that was asked for the launching of the system, and predicted it would cost millions before the exchange was a few years old.

"Where is the politician who as a member of the state produce exchange commission will get up at 4 o'clock in the mornings to take charge of the buying and selling in the produce market?" asked Walter Harris of Oakland. "The state several years ago appropriated money for a free market in San Francisco and it has been a complete failure. So would this exchange."

PREDICT DISASTER.

George Hatch of Oakland and W. C. Price of Oakland also predicted disaster if the state of California sought to emulate a commission man and handle and distribute the produce for the farmer. Assemblyman Beck joined in the discussion by declaring that he did not believe there was a commission man in the state who became rich off the business. He did not believe the state should go into the poultry business or any other business. The only way for the producer to get returns on his money was to permit the commission men to control the market by monopolizing the supply, and thus regulate the demand, Beck argued.

The ranchers and commission men wrangled back and forth for several hours until all but a few of the agriculture committee had fled. Then it was that Beck informed the proponents that the bill was doomed as the ways and means committee in cutting down the requested appropriations of $50,000,000 asked by the assembly to about $27,000,000 would overlook the amount asked for a state produce exchange.

Under the Tulloch bill a produce commission of five members to serve for six years at a salary of $6000 a year would be appointed by the governor. The commission is given power to hire all necessary employes.

WOULD OPEN PARK.

The beauties of the California Redwood Park which are unseen and unappreciated by thousands of Californians because of lack of access into this forest of giant trees was pictured to the senate finance committee and the assembly committee on finance last night by a delegation of San Jose people who are working in the interests of bills before each house of the legislature asking $100,000 for the building of a road into the park.

"Open up the California Redwood Park by 1915 and let the world see its wondrous wild beauty," was the slogan of several of the speakers before the committees and the legislators were impressed with their pleadings.

Members of the Sempervirens Club of California urged the building of a road from Congress Springs road to and through the Redwood Park, making a stretch of 18 miles of as picturesque a road as nature could boast. Such a road would make an ideal drive for San Francisco and Oakland autoists, it was explained.

Those who spoke for the proposed highway were: Professor Wing of Stanford University and chairman of the Redwood Park Commission; A. P. Hill of San Jose, Senator Holohan, A. P. Mauratten, George Radcliffe and Mrs. Herf of the Women's Club of San Jose.

OPPOSED TO BAN.

The Senate committee on public morals went on record yesterday afternoon as being opposed to raising the ban which been voted "dry" under the local option law. The bill which was drawn to exempt hotels of 25 rooms or more from the "dry" bill was reported out with a recommendation that it do not pass.

It was the first application of the "lid" that this committee has made at the session and it is taken as an indication that the clamps will be screwed down tight on saloon regulations and other measures that are susceptible to a lid. It is said to be Lieutenant Governor Wallace's pet committee.

DELEGATION TO MEET.

The Alameda county delegation will hold an important meeting next Thursday night at 8 o'clock, pursuant to a call which Chairman Ed Tyrrell issued yesterday. At least two bills of vital interest to Alameda county will be discussed. One of them will be the county government bill, calling for increases in salaries and help in the offices of the county. The other will be Ferguson's bill, No. 1620, changing the limits of the "dry" zone about the State University so that the Claremont hotel will be placed in "wet" ground.

There is a division of opinion on the Claremont hotel exemption among the Alameda solons. It is understood that Assemblymen Young, Clark, Gelder and Morgenstern will oppose it. Assemblyman Ferguson has received many petitions against the bill and is anxious that the Oakland merchants who have endorsed it do something. Now is the time to take some concerted action, he declared last night, if it is hoped to do anything with the bill.

Senator George Hans of Fruitvale has been placed on a committee with Senators Carr of Pasadena, Benson of San Jose and Hewitt of Los Angeles to frame a bill that will meet the water supply situation for sparsely settled districts in a city. It is proposed to make a water company supply houses with water when the applicants are not too far distant from the mains. Who shall bear the cost of the laterals, the county or the consumer, is a question to be solved.

Senator Tyrrell introduced a bill yesterday that provides that small balances in street opening funds in the auditor's office, which have been there for years and prevent the auditor from closing his books, may be transferred to the general fund. The balance is caused by the people failing to call for their money, although frequently notified.

WORK ON PEACEMAKER.

The joint committee that was appointed to prepare a compromise teachers' pension bill that will satisfy the proponents of the sliding scale and retirement pension of Tyrrell's bill and the flat pension of Boynton's bill will meet next Tuesday and grind out the peacemaker.

Assemblyman Frank Smith of Oakland introduced a bill yesterday fixing the pay of attaches who work after the close of the Legislature at $25.

The farmers in the Assembly won out over the city delegation yesterday when they beat Johnston's firearms bill, which prohibited children under 14 years from using firearms. The vote was 28 to 41 and it was the first time this session a bill was beaten in the lower house. The country solons declared the small country boy and his rifle to be one of the best eradicators of destructive animal and bird life. Speaker Young, who used to be a school teacher, was the only member of the Alameda county delegation who voted in favor of the bill.

The employes at the State printing office were handed a Christmas gift by the Senate yesterday when Senator Finn's bill allowing them full pay for the nine holidays of the year was passed by a vote of 24 to 10. Senator Anderson opposed it on the ground that State Printer Friend Richardson told him it was unnecessary and would mean an annual increase of $5000 to $6000 expense to the State. Senator Finn replied that Richardson had advised him he was satisfied with the bill as long as Sundays were exempted as holidays.

ENDORSE WEIGHTS BILL.

Senator Tyrrell's weights and measures bill has the endorsement of James Hartman, official sealer of weights and measures of Los Angeles, who has advised Tyrrell that he is going to work for the passage of the bill. The weights and measures bills—one each for Tyrrell, Gates and Chandler—will be taken up by the Senate committee next Tuesday.

MUST PRUNE EXPENSE.

How to prune the special appropriation bill from $27,000,000 to $7,000,000 and satisfy the greatest number of people and do the most good is a problem that the Assembly ways and means committee has assumed and Chairman Chandler has requested other committees who have bills carrying appropriations to get quick action on them and send them to his committee. It is understood that the ways and means committee will consent to the special appropriation bill carrying $7,000,000 but no more. The lopping off of $20,000,000 will mean that some pet monuments and many commissions will not be erected to the honor of many assemblymen at this session.

A bill that is designed to place the control of the juvenile court work in the hands of boards of supervisors of the counties by giving the supervisors the power to fixing the salaries and number of probation officers is before the committee on charities and corrections in the Assembly. It was introduced by Pearsr by request.

No superior judge in a county that has more than one superior judge shall serve more than one year as judge of the juvenile court consecutively, according to this bill. It provides that the judges shall take turns in the juvenile court work, a change being made each year.

Assembly Disposes of 17 Measures

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—Seventeen bills and two constitutional amendments were passed by the assembly yesterday, most of the bills being code amendments. One constitutional amendment proposes to change the divison of the legislature's daily contingent expense fund of $1000, at present equally divided between the two houses, to $600 for the assembly and $400 for the senate. The other gives the state reclamation board power to organize reclamation districts, which at present must be authorized by the legislature.

Considerable discussion was provoked by the bill authorizing the appointment of four additional judges for San Francisco, which finally was passed unanimously. Assemblyman W. F. Chandler of Fresno, chairman of the ways and means committee, contended that as the creation of new judgeships involved increased expenditures for the state, such bills should pass through his committee, as do all other appropriation bills.

Committee to Hold Sunday Meetings

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—Sunday meetings of the senate judiciary committee in an effort to catch up with the heavy burden of 700 bills that must receive the attention of the committee before they can be voted on in the upper house. To date less than a dozen measures have been reported out and when the committee came together yesterday afternoon it was made plain that something should be done.

"This legislature is going around in a circle," exclaimed Senator Boynton. "Let's cut out a lot of these public hearings and get down to work."

Accordingly it was moved that hereafter a certain portion of each day would be devoted to direct consideration of members' bills.

Then Senator Wright moved that Sunday meetings be held. He was opposed by Senator Anderson who objected on religious grounds, and a warm debate ensued. The roll call showed six in favor and five against the motion.

Large delegations representing opposing sides in the fight on Senator Juilliard's "label bill" appeared before the judiciary committee yesterday to present their views on the measure, which proposes to eliminate the jobbers' labels by requiring all food products to bear the label of the original producer.

Needles, Stepped on Years Ago, Cause of Limb Consumption

SHARON, Pa., March 22.—When Melvina Morford, now grown to womanhood, was a child, she stepped on a packet of needles and a dozen or more entered her foot. Three years ago surgeons began taking pieces of steel from her muscles, the needles having "traveled." Yesterday it became necessary, in an effort to save her life, to amputate her leg, blood poison from the needles having developed.

Bright Lights to Be Doused by Measure

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—That the cafe lights will be doused in the near future at 1 o'clock in the morning and that no longer will San Francisco have a night life in its brilliant eating places seems evident from the sentiment expressed when the Owens bill prohibiting the sale of intoxicants between the hours of 1 and 5 a. m. came up on the third reading was not passed yesterday, action having been delayed until the bill can be passed upon by the judiciary committee as to whether it will affect towns which have ordinances closing saloons at 10 o'clock and at midnight, and allow such places to keep open until 1 in the morning.

"Why can't San Francisco run her own affairs?" asked Senator Tom Finn when this bill came up. "We have taken this matter up there and have expressed ourselves as satisfied with the present conditions in selling liquor, and I see no reason why outside places should try to make us do something that we don't want."

"San Francisco is trying to regulate the fruit business of the farmers," said Senator D. W. Mott, "and so I don't see why we should not regulate the cafes of San Francisco."

Committee Takes Up Anti-Alien Laws

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—The assembly judiciary committee spent several hours last night in discussing blue sky, anti-Japanese and other legislation, and finally adjourned at midnight without having taken a vote. The sub-committee of three members on anti-Japanese legislation reported two anti-alien land ownership bills, one preventing the owning or leasing for a long term of land by an alien who had not yet declared his intention of becoming a citizen, the other prohibiting aliens not eligible to citizenship from acquiring real estate.

Assemblyman L. D. Bohnett's bill establishing a civil service school for men and women who desire to hold public office was reported favorably by the civil service committee last night and sent to the ways and means committee, which will decide whether there are funds available for its passage.

FOURTH SUIT AGAINST COMPANY IS FILED

David L. Jones, chauffeur of the taxicab in which R. T. Kessler and family were driving to their home on April 4 last, when the auto was struck by a Southern Pacific train at Eleventh and Webster streets, filed suit for $26,380 alleged damages today against the railroad company. Jones was thrown from the taxicab and sustained a fractured skull and bodily bruises. For some time after the accident his life hung in the balance. His suit is the fourth to result from the collision. R. T. Kessler, his wife and daughter have brought suits aggregating more than $100,000 against the Southern Pacific.

TRUCK CLIMBS TO HAMILTON'S PEAK

Lick Observatory Reached by Machine Carrying Big Overload.

(By EDMUND CRINNION)

A very remarkable demonstration has just been made with a one-ton Kelly truck by Normandin-Campen Company of San Jose. L. Normandin, the head of the company, in writing of the demonstration to Frank G. Miner, Pacific Coast manager of the Kelly Springfield Motor Truck Company, says:

"Taking advantage of a provision in our contract when we closed with you for the agency in Garden City, just before we visited the East to look over the truck factories, upon our return we tried out a one-ton Kelly to see if it was what we wanted for this section.

"Having learned from Mr. Campbell, director of Lick Observatory, that there was a supply of merchandise to be delivered to Mt. Hamilton, we hurriedly arranged a body, and at 12:35 the following day we left Mr. Barry's store on South Second street, loaded with fruit, potatoes, flour, eggs, etc., and Mr. Barry very kindly signed us off at the above time, namely at 12:35 p. m.

"Our route was over the regular Mt. Hamilton road, which we found in a very good condition as far as Smith's Creek, but the last seven miles was exceptionally rough. Our truck, however, performed beautifully and we were welcomed to the Observatory by Director Campbell at 3:20, having covered the distance in the remarkably short time of 2 hours and 45 minutes. After taking a few photographs of the truck the merchandise was then weighed by David Westwater of the Observatory and we found that we had delivered 2576 pounds, which showed an overload of 576 pounds, not saying anything about the exceptionally heavy body, which weighed 588 pounds.

"The return trip was made in two hours and five minutes and this brought us into town just before dark. We also escorted a passenger we had brought down with us from the mountain, and also a motorcyclist and his disabled machine that we picked up at Smith's Creek.

"We believe that up to the present time this is a record run for a truck, carrying its listed capacity, not mentioning the overload.

"The demonstration was certainly a successful one and shows what a remarkable time-saver these trucks can be and at a cost that is less than one-third that of a horse-drawn vehicle."

RAIN BRINGS BUSINESS.

W. D. Wallace, sales manager, representing S. G. Chapman, agents for the Hudson and Hupmobile cars, has just returned from an extensive tour through Sonoma, Marin and Lake counties. Wallace while away, visited Vallejo, Napa, St. Helena, Cloverdale and Santa Rosa. In St. Helena and Cloverdale he closed with new agents. Speaking of trade conditions in that section, Wallace says:

"It will be a banner year for popular-priced cars in the section I have just visited. There are more prospective buyers in sight in that section than I have ever seen in any other section lately. They are conservative and while stating that they would purchase the coming year they have, however, held off until the rain. Now that the downpour has come, there is no question but what a larger number of popular-priced cars will be sold in this section than ever before."

NEW FORD ON DISPLAY.

The latest masterpiece from the Ford plant, a nobby-looking roadster, has just reached the salesrooms of the Standard Motor Car Company. Probably no other car on the American market has been awaited with such keen interest as this new model, which with its change in body design, represents a marked improvement over all former models.

The Standard Motor Car Company has delivered three more Federal trucks to F. H. Holmes of San Jose.

MOTORISTS, ATTENTION.

THE TRIBUNE has been advised by the officials of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Company that while the steamer Ukiah is on the dock for repairs automobiles will be taken from Sausalito on Sundays on special boats, leaving Sausalito at 4:25, 6:10 and 7:45 p. m., until further notice.

OBJECTED TO RANCH LIFE; WIFE'S ACCUSATION

Life on a ranch was not to the liking of Fred C. Anderson, according to testimony upon which Cora N. Anderson obtained an interlocutory decree of divorce. Plaintiff said that her husband preferred to linger around the saloons in Salinas while she remained at home to do the chores.

Percy Elwood explained to Superior Judge Harris that he was under the impression that he had obtained a final divorce from his first wife when he married the second time. Later he found out his mistake and at his request he was granted an annulment from Helen Ellwood. Ellwood explained that he believed when the papers were served upon him the action constituted divorce.

Mary Carton obtained a final decree from Charles A. Carton for intemperance, J. S. Marshall was granted a similar decree from Nancy Marshall on the grounds of desertion and Jean D. Wilgress was also granted a final decree from E. A. Wilgress for desertion.

Heavily laden with food and clothing, a number of representatives of the Catholic Ladies' Aid Society of this city, made a visit to the Alameda county infirmary, where they were warmly welcomed. Prior to the distribution of the gifts Good Friday services were conducted in the chapel at 3 o'clock. Among those in the party were: Mrs. Frank H. Garcia, Mrs. John Lynch, Mrs. Catherine Hogan, Mrs. Russell Fitton, Mrs. M. Harris, Mrs. M. Miller, Mrs. J. Miller, Mrs. E. D. Carroll, Mrs. Amy Graves, Mrs. Richard Garding and Miss Josephine Lamb.

An appeal has been issued for eyeglasses for the inmates of the infirmary who have expressed a desire to read, but owing to the lack of glasses they cannot.

Since the new year numerous pilgrimages have been made to the hospital by the philanthropic members of the Catholic Ladies' Aid societies, who are doing splendid work in alleviating the distress of the indigent sick and poor.

STUDENTS WANT WILSON TO SEE BALL GAME

WASHINGTON, March 22.—College students early today besieged the White House in an effort to induce President Wilson to attend the baseball game between the Princeton and Georgetown University teams. The President previously had declared he would be among the Princeton rooters if public business would permit. If he does attend, the President probably will be accompanied by several foreign envoys. An elaborately decorated box has been set aside for the Presidential party.

ATTORNEY TO LECTURE.

Walter R. Dunn, attorney and secretary of Branch Oakland, will lecture at Hamilton hall, Thirteenth and Jefferson streets, on Sunday evening, March 23. His subject will be "Socialist vs. Capitalist View of Municipal Government."

MUSICAL SKILL EASILY GAINED

Best Teachers Advertise in Tribune Want Ads---Not Expensive.

"Music has charms to soothe the savage breast."

"I've read that things inanimate have moved
By magic numbers."—Congreve.

Do you realize what a safety valve music is for our nerves? Do you play or sing? You should. When "everything goes wrong" (which means that you are wrong), you can seat yourself at a piano or take up your favorite instrument and insensibly your jangled nerves attune themselves to the rhythm of the music. You are once more in harmony, your brain again calm and clear.

By the force of the music you play you can begin in any mood and deliberately guide yourself into any other frame of mind, and this calls for no skill, no art, just the selection of a few popular airs in different speeds, on different subjects, and played with no especial finish.

You owe it to yourself to acquire some sort of musical training, to lift you occasionally out of the commonplace, to exercise those sides of your inner self that are just as necessary as any part of you, but which tend to die of neglect in these dollar days—not that the dollar is to be despised, but it is not the sum of human happiness.

Turn to the "musical" column in the classified pages of THE TRIBUNE and you will find a list of the best teachers in Oakland, and that does not mean the most expensive. Any one of them will take you forward much faster than you think—particularly if you only aim at fair ability and not at professional skill. Remember to watch the column all next week.

GOSSIP FROM SAN FRANCISCO WEEKLIES

A Romance Of the South

Among those who went South to attend the polo matches and incidental gatherings was the beautiful Mrs. Agnes Shanley, whom the newspapers, not long ago, all but married to James Parker of Honolulu, son of the illustrous Colonel Sam It is now said that Mrs Shanley never intended to encourage the ardent suit of the young Honolulu patrician, much as he worshipped her, as her heart was true to a Grand Rapids millionaire who has purchased one of the handsomest places in Hollywood, Cal Mrs Shanley might already be installed as mistress of this beautiful home had it not been for the death of her mother, which caused the expected marriage to be postponed from the middle of March to some date not yet made public The romance in which the Grand Rapids suitor figures so favorably has been in progress for a full year it is said, so young Parker was only pressing a hopeless suit when the newspapers reported his alleged engagement last October Mrs Shanley did not take the trouble to deny the report publicly, so sure was she of the devotion of her Grand Rapids admirer who is about fifteen years her senior but a very handsome man Seen together on the golf links of the Country Club they were a decidedly fine looking couple It will be Mrs Shanley's third matrimonial venture and the Michigan millionaire's second Mrs Shanley's previous marriages were most unfortunate mistakes, her friends declare and it would be hard to decide which was the worst Naturally, of course, some of the ex-husbands sing a different song, but they don't count in a modern romance Mrs Shanley's costumes have been much admired in the Southern cities and at Coronado Being in mourning, she wears black in the cool climate of San Francisco, but in the semi-tropic atmosphere of the South, adopts white mourning altogether —The Wasp

Beautiful Gowns Are Seen at Opera

Of all the women I noticed at the opera, Mrs Templeton Crocker was certainly the most regal-looking in a creation of white brocaded silver, embroidered heavily in silver and pearls Over her shoulders was thrown a charming opera cloak or orchid brocade, with a standing collar of orchid shaded ostrich plumes and a binding of similar plumes about the edge With Mrs Crocker was pretty little Mrs Cheever Cowdin, in oriental blue brocade, jewel studded and embroidered in silver

Mrs Clement Tobin gave us a treat in letting us once more see her in the gown in which she reigned as Empress of the Romans at the Mardi Gras, and a radiant creation it was, too After the eyes of the observing audience turned from the wonderful costume of Mrs Templeton Crocker, they rested on the fair representative of Burlingame society

Mrs Joseph Coryell, to whom orchids of the most costly variety are no more than a little bunch of modest violets wore a very Frenchy gown of pink charmeuse, embroidered in pearls and rhinestones, and her beautiful pearl necklace and diamond aigrette completed the costume

In one of the boxes sat that extremely chic young lady Miss Enid Gregg who has appeared several times lately in public with her devoted suitor Stuart Haldom in close attendance This could be overlooked once but the dashing and popular young lady has repeated it several times and we are all predicting interesting news in the near future —The Wasp

This Startling Tale Comes From South

This is a horrid story that comes from Los Angeles and we may say at once that if Los Angeles can not arrange to change her manners she will certainly have to change her name If we have to take a half-day off and go to Sacramento and pass a law to that effect. It seems that it is the habit of wealthy women in Los Angeles to marry husbands who are rich in good looks but otherwise impoverished and then when they tire of their spouses to divorce them on the ground of non support. Judge Monroe of the divorce court down there in that frontier settlement says that the practice may be described as "trafficking" in husbands and he advised one fair and wealthy applicant to see that her next venture had a fortune approximating to her own so that he would be able to "support" her

Now what are we going to do about this? Our very flesh creeps at the thought of these innocent and unsuspecting male persons, enticed perhaps from a comfortable home by the wiles of designing women persuaded to go through a marriage ceremony that can only be described as a mockery, and then cast out upon the cold and cruel world as soon as they have lost the first bloom of their youth and innocence Now there is no use playing with a problem of this kind Men's clubs and husbandette organizations must make themselves heard in the matter We must have a minimum wage for husbands and a fixity of tenure A progressive legislature must see to it It won't take more than a few minutes to draft a bill and another few minutes will see it passed We men do not approve of militant tactics but we will have liberty or death, and probably both —The Argonaut

The Orchid Ball

Imagine the tapestried walls of a splendid private ball room hidden in orchids It sounds an exaggeration but it is true nevertheless At the most gorgeous balls ever given in this city, the walls of the ball room were so lavishly covered with orchids that the figures in the tapestries were completely concealed Every orchid that could be bought at any price in the vicinity of San Francisco was used in this costly decoration The flower shops of the city were stripped clean the nurseries gave up all they had for sale The result was a riot of orchidaceous color that enraptured the guests invited to this wondrous party The Orchid Ball will go down in our social history It outshone the Koshland Ball and those ambitious entertainers will have to 'go some' to approach it It outshone the Oriental Ball given by the Templeton Crockers It makes Mr and Mrs Adolfo Stahl our greatest entertainers This wonderful ball was not distinguished only by its profuse decoration of orchids The entire Genee company was there to entertain the guests with dancing A temporary stage was erected in the big ball room and Genee Volinin and the rest gave some of their most beautiful numbers In every feature this ball was equally brilliant One guest who spoke of it attempted to describe the beauty of it all and couldn't "It beggars description" I was told Estimates of the cost of the Stahl ball have been made The lowest I have heard was $15 000 Some thought it must have cost at least $25 000 For the Genee company alone the Stahls are said to have paid $2500 And by the way Mr and Mrs Stahl showed a proper appreciation of Adeline Genee's art She was seated between them at the supper table —Town Talk

He Avoids Publicity

Adolfo Stahl prefers to entertain quietly He eschews publicity, hence there were no flaring articles about the Orchid Ball in the newspapers In this respect it was very different from all the other great entertainments of many season Adolfo Stahl is lavish with his money, but he is far from ostentatious And his money is not spent in entertainment alone For Adolfo Stahl is a charitable man No subscription list for a worthy cause ever lacks his name. And it is his habit to give twice as much as the largest contributor before him If the largest sum on a subscription list for charity is $5000 Adolfo Stahl puts his name down for $10,000 When a man is as charitable as Adolfo Stahl he may spend a small fortune in giving an Orchid Ball without exciting criticism —Town Talk

A Statue to Joaquin Miller

"He asked for bread and he received a stone said the bitter satirist gazing at the "monumental bust" erected to Samuel Butler after he had died of starvation Joaquin Miller did not lack bread but he received scanty recognition during his life Now that he is dead Oakland plans to commemorate him by a statue in the City Hall Plaza The commemoration of a great poet in marble or bronze is always a worthy thing, and it is to be hoped that Oakland will do it worthily Already the sculptors are busy putting their ideas in clay. Douglas Tilden has lost no time in coming forward with a design He calls his composition "Joaquin Miller Embarking for Valhalla" The poet wrapped in an Indian blanket is borne aloft on the shoulders of a Mexican, a monk, an Indian, a pathfinder, a miner and a cowboy while his ship waits to carry him to the Paradise of the Norseman Just why Miller should go to Valhalla rather than to the pagan's Elysium, the Indian's Happy Hunting Grounds or the Christian's Heaven I am not competent to decide It is a bit incongruous to have a monk bearing the poet to the bark that will waft him to a heathen paradise There is more to the monument. The pedestal shows at the four corners ships in full sail, while the inscriptions include words from the poem "Columbus" Nothing is left to the imagination in this composition I understand that Rupert Schmitt is also at work on a Miller monument Schmitt took a death mask of the poet, rather against the wishes of Mrs Miller and Juanita Miller, I am told —Town Talk

How About Gertrude Boyle?

Will Gertrude Boyle Kanno be considered by the Oakland authorities who supervise the erection of a Miller memorial? She is one sculptress who studied the poet lovingly and imaginatively during his lifetime, instead of waiting till after his death Her plaques of the poet are well known, and her bust, a splendid interpretation, is now on exhibition at the Bohemian Club Steps are well under way to have it bought for the club by a subscription taken up among the members of the "old guard" who loved Joaquin Miller I believe it is Gertrude Boyle Kanno's opinion that Joaquin Miller should be commemorated on his own "Hights" that a statue to him should hold company with the monuments the poet himself erected to Moses, to Browning and to Fremont Certainly Miller was more at home on "The Hights" than in the streets of Oakland. Joaquin Miller once told Gertrude Boyle that she was destined to do a great work, to achieve a great artistic triumph I know of no subject better calculated to [illegible] and to justify the prediction of the poet than a monument to his own memory —Town Talk

Society Eager to See Actor

Vincent Astor, the richest young bachelor in America, will be in San Francisco early next month with a party of his former Harvard classmates Do not imagine for a moment that San Francisco society is blind to the fact Society is on the tiptoe of expectation Every stage of Mr. Astor's advance on San Francisco has been watched with the keenest interest, since his departure from New York in his sea-going yacht "Naomi" which will end her trip at Colon and return to New York The owner and his congenial party will inspect the Canal and then head for this lively burg which will doubtless be none the gayer for their visit Years have elapsed since San Francisco society enjoyed the distinction of entertaining a real Astor The rivalry will be keen amongst our fashionable hostesses, desirous of entertaining appropriately the most eligible young bachelor of the metropolis to whom all doors are open in the exclusive set of Gotham Several fair ones of Eastern celebrity, social and theatrical have been mentioned as possible Mesdames Astor, but in best informed circles the belief is entertained that young Mr Astor has not as yet definitely disposed of his heart It is supposed to be whole and healthy For a while the society reporters seemed eager to marry him off to Miss Katherine Force, the handsome young sister of his step-mother, but he has rather avoided than courted connections with the Force family, since his father's death his own mother, Mrs Ava Willing Astor, having apparently some influence on him —The Wasp

Her Withering Glance Fell on Motorman

The average woman will do a lot of foolish things, but she excels herself in "dodging" automobiles and street cars Many an auto driver has nervous prostration on her account and the majority of motormen grow gray-haired trying to miss her The other day a car that I was on stopped at Market and Powell streets to take on passengers While the motorman was waiting for the "go-ahead" signal, a fat woman started to cross the track She got to the edge then looked at the motionless car, and dodged back She repeated the performance and then stood pondering The "go-ahead" bell rang, and just as the man at the crank started the car she made another frantic essay to cross There was a quick reversal and the car was stopped within six inches of her The motorman used language that almost shattered the glass—and the fat woman, as she waddled to safety, gave him a glance of complete and withering indignation —News Letter

Thigpen the Irrepressible

Being an athlete of note the exercise of the glad right hand never tires Thigpen, and the hailing of acquaintances leaves his well oiled vocal chords unhoarsened Thigpen has been known to call people by their last names but only in moments of thoughtlessness Which reminds me of one day when John Drew walked into the Multnomah and picked up a pen to register. Unique Wedding Ring For Miss Small

Why Be Surprised Over Kind Act?

Mrs William Mayo Newhall, while driving along the Santa Barbara roads in her limousine, came across an injured woman The following comment is made in the society columns of an afternoon paper "Mrs Newhall has proved herself to be like the Good Samaritan of old, who is spoken of in the Bible While out for a drive in her limousine she came across an injured woman—the victim of a runaway horse Instead of passing by on the other side she took her home and secured the medical aid necessary to her recovery"

This paragraph should not be used as an indictment of Mrs Newhall in particular and society in general It is merely an indictment of the writer who is under the impression that accredited good form, the strictly conventional thing was violated The correct thing would have been to drive the limousine over the woman Since Mrs Newhall did not do that and did not pass "on the other side" she is a Good Samaritan

Of course Mrs Newhall resents the inference that she acted any differently than any other human being would under the circumstances Fact and fiction are freighted with stories of people fleeing from arrest who have stopped on the road risking capture in order to lend aid in cases of this sort So it might have been expected that even a society woman bound for a bridge party would stop to succor a woman the evident victim of a runaway horse And we are not told that Mrs Newhall was breaking speed records to get to a belated bridge party She was just driving along the road doubtless enjoying the scenery To be sure the injured woman lying there disturbed the scenic effects and that fact ought to reconcile the paragrapher to the unconventionality of the act But doubtless any one who could only explain it on Biblical grounds would reason that some one with less social distinction might just as well have restored the landscape to its original order and it is only because Mrs Newhall is a Good Samaritan that she picked up the injured woman and carried her to medical aid

It is this sort of thing which creates the prejudice against society in the minds of those who have only a reading acquaintance with the species Mrs Newhall did just what instinct would prompt any woman to do and it is not her fault that she has been made ridiculous by the chronicler of the act She is an unusually kind and thoughtful woman but the most indifferent and careless woman could not have done otherwise — News Letter

COMMITTEE PLANS BIG EXHIBITION

Kahn Building to Be the Scene of Elaborate Product Show.

The committee appointed by A. H. Irving, chairman of the manufacturers' committee of the Oakland Chamber of Commerce met last evening and completed preliminary details in connection with the exhibition of Alameda-county-made products that is to be made in the basement of Kahn Bros'. new building the latter part of April. Blue prints of the available floor space are now being prepared, and will be ready for the inspection of intending exhibitors next Monday. The object of the exhibition is to more fully bring to the notice of the residents of Alameda county the various products made at home.

It is aid that ninety per cent of the population on this side of the bay is unacquainted with the character and quality of goods produced in Alameda county, and to correct this the manufacturers of the county will join in the effort to make the coming exhibition one of the most succesful ever attempted in this section of the State.

The members of the executive committee of the manufacturers' committee, comprising A. H. Irving, chairman; E. H. Marwedel, J. W. Phillips, M. L. Hadley, Frank W. Bilger, Jno. G. Buswell and Curtis Wright Jr., have labored long and earnestly to bring about an exhibit of home made products, believing that it would prove of untold value to the manufacturers of the county.

The exhibit committee, Messrs. O. S. Orrick, Jr., E. H. Marwedel, Frank A. Leach Jr., J. A. Fenton, Varney K. Sturgiss, Harold Oliver and M. L. Hadley will have charge of the detail work in connection with the exhibition. Fred D. Parsons has been selected as superintendent of the exhibition and will assume his duties at once.

FOWLER TO SNAP CANAL FROM SKY

If he succeeds, he will have accomplished a marvel in photography never equaled in the history of that science.

PIONEER SOLDIER STARVES IN RENO

RENO, Nev., March 22.—Captain Lewis C. Shilling, 81, sole survivor of the Alamo massacre and adopted son of Kit Carson, was found dead yesterday, having starved in a shack in Reno, his savings of eight years, $320, reserved from his pension money, having been filched from his pockets.

Captain Shilling lost his funds two weeks ago at the Napa Soldiers' Home. He was starting to Reno to perfect an application to the government for relief when he unintentionally left the money in a pair of government trousers he turned in. The money was in an envelope with a key and some trinkets. He tried to secure it when he discovered his loss, but no trace of the money could be found.

Captain Schilling borrowed $8 and made his way to Reno. His next pension voucher of $45 is not due for two weeks. Meanwhile he has had nothing to eat but crackers and water.

Captain Schilling was adjutant to General Phil Sheridan in the Civil War. He made observations for the government in 1870 on the Franco-Prussian war. He escaped massacre in the Alamo at San Antonio, Texas, when four years old by crawling under a box. Captain Schilling helped build the first wooden house in San Francisco of drift wood at Jackson and Montgomery streets in 1846.

THINKS HUSBAND MURDERED AT SEA

Disappearance of Canadian With Large Sum of Money Cause of Inquiry.

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—Believing that her husband, Ernest F. B. Crowe, a wealthy Canadian business man, was the victim of a murder at sea, Mrs. Mae J. Crowe appealed to the police today to solve the mystery of Crowe's disappearance early in February. Mrs. Crowe's action was the result, it is said, of the failure of an insurance company to pay a policy carried by Crowe.

Crowe, who came here from Portland, sailed January 29 on the lumber schooner Norwood for Bellingham, Wash., where he had business interests. He carried a large sum of money and valuable diamonds, according to his wife, none of which was sent to her with his effects with the notification of his disappearance at sea. She declared that he had no reason for committing suicide.

STEAM SCHOONER IS LOST ON COAST

The Albion Wrecked and Abandoned After Fight With Waves.

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Swept on the ragged reef off Stewarts point a few miles this side of Bowen's landing, along the Sonoma county coast, by a severe southwester late yesterday, the steam schooner Albion, bound to this port with a load of lumber, now lies in a raging surf a total wreck.

The 15 members of the crew deserted the vessel in small boats shortly after 3 o'clock when the craft refused to hold by its anchor and was being swept by the gale toward the rocky coast.

After struggling at the oars in two small open boats for more than three hours, the crew landed on the beach south of Stewarts point about dusk. The men, fatigued from their labors are now being sheltered by residents at the point.

The Albion, commanded by Captain Jacobsen, put into Stewarts point yesterday noon to complete its cargo of lumber while on its southbound trip from Bowen's landing for San Francisco. While taking aboard some ties from the end of a long wharf the southwester swept down along the coast.

VESSEL FIGHTS SEA.

A heavy sea immediately began to roll the vessel against the bulkhead and parted several of the moorings. The gale increased in velocity and Captain Jacobsen immediately ordered the boat to clear away and stand off to sea.

After putting off for several miles the captain decided to anchor with the vessel at the south buoy. But the wind steadily increased, sweeping the Albion from its position and across the waters to the rocky surf.

The craft was put about in an attempt to combat the wind and sea, but neither steam nor anchors succeeded against the elements.

The boats were lowered and the ship was left to the mercy of the waves. In less than half an hour it was pounding itself to pieces on the reef. Late last night the craft began to break up, and wreckage is scattered along the beach for several miles.

AVIATOR FIGHTS FOR LIFE IN BAY

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Aviator Alfred Sutro and H. L. Jones of Portland, his passenger, were capsized in the bay yesterday afternoon while they were rising from the water in Sutro's hydroplane, after having waited for the wind to die down.

Waves caused by the passing of the German steamer Salatis, outbound, endangered the lives of Sutro and Jones, who were rescued while clinging to the pontoon by a crew from the Salatis and life savers from Fort Point.

The accident occured in mid channel opposite Fort Point. Sutro had taken on Jones at Harbor View and they had made a short flight through the Golden Gate. A sudden puff of wind drove them to the surface. While they waited there the Salatis passed out and a few seconds later the frail airship was wallowing in a heavy sea.

Then they started to rise when a sudden gust of wind capsized the machine. Sutro and Jones crawled on top of the pontoon. The accident had been seen by the Salatis commander and the boat immediately came to and sent out a crew. The German crew reached the imperiled aviators a minute or so before Captain J. S. Clark and his crew from the Fort Point Life Saving station. Lookout Gunnison, who had been watching the hydroplane, gave the alarm as soon as the accident occurred.

The air and water craft was towed to the engineer's wharf at the Presidio by the army tug Captain Gregory Barrett. There it was righted and then towed to Harbor View. The crew assisted Sutro in pulling the machine on the beach. It is not greatly damaged.

HUNGER AND SNOW COMPEL SURRENDER

PLACERVILLE, March 22.—After wandering in the mountinous country twenty miles above Placerville for nearly three months, sleeping outdoors in the cold and without food for days at a time, Lafe Newell, who escaped from the Napa State Hospital November 24 and was accused of the murder of Rose Lemos at the Melandrino ranch near Napa, December 18, surrendered to Sheriff Charles E. Hand yesterday.

Newell knew every inch of the rugged country around Somerset and was able to elude the posse last December and since that time he occasionally visited his relatives, who at last persuaded him to surrender. He denies that he or anyone else murdered Rose Lemos. He says he and John Avila were struggling over the gun when it was accidentally discharged and the bullet went over the girl's head and she fell on the stove.

Avila rushed out of the house and Newell followed, and while they were struggling again they fell and broke the gun. Newell fled and didn't know the girl was dead until he reached the home of his family at Somerset.

MAIL CARRIER KILLED IN IDAHO SNOWSLIDE

BOISE, Idaho, March 22.—P. Endicott, a rural mail carrier between Atlanta and Twin Springs, Idaho, was killed yesterday when he was caught beneath a snowslide several miles from Atlanta. The body was recovered.

The snow between Atlanta and Twin Springs has been so deep this winter that the carriers have been forced to abandon their carts and cover their routes on snowshoes.

FIGHTS FOR LIFE IN ARCTIC ICE

Botanist Koren Safe in Nome After Thrilling Adventures.

NOME, Alaska, March 22.—Johan Koren, the Norwegian botanist, whose power schooner Kittie Wake and the American whaling schooner Morris were crushed to bits by the ice at Cape Serge, on the Siberian coast, last fall, arrived in Nome late yesterday. All the equipment, furs and specimens taken by the Koren expedition were lost when the schooner was destroyed.

Koren, who crossed Bering strait on the ice with Sam Gottschalk and other members of the party, remained in camp two days on the Alaska coast, while Gottschalk proceeded to Nome with news of the loss of the two schooners.

The botanist said he could have saved the Kittie Waka if he had had one case of gasoline to use in his engine. The Kittie Wake's supply of gasoline was lost while the schooner was far up Colina river, which never before had been explored.

Captain Witting, who was with the party, was too ill to attempt the perilous trip over the ice and remained on the Siberian shore, intending to make his way to Plover bay.

The Kittie Wake was picked up disabled by the schooner Morris last fall and was towed to Cape Serge, where winter quarters were to be established. It was while the men were making their camp that the ice floes caught the schooners and crushed them to matchwood. No one was injured in the wreck.

BOY BABIES LEAD 10 TO 1.

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—Baby boys outnumber baby girls 10 to 1 at Live Oak, according to Dr. A. J. Rice, who sent in his report yesterday. He believes the record is due to planetary influences.

NEVADA LEGISLATURE ENDS LENGTHY BATTLE

RENO, March 22.—Nevada's twenty-sixth legislative session came to a close at 9 o'clock yesterday morning, the clock having been stopped at midnight to permit a protracted fight on the appropriation measure to be concluded.

The fight centered on the appropriation of $25,000 for state police. It was cut to $1 in the house and finally compromised at $14,500. A determined fight was made to abolish the service.

An appropriation of $40,000 was made for a state delinquent home in Elko county and $60,000 was set aside for adding to the executive mansion. Slot machine playing for trade was worked through in the final hours of the session.

BILL APPROVED.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 22.—The bill amending and making operative the initiative and referendum law, adopted as a constitutional amendment at the November election, was approved this afternoon by the Nebraska house. The amendments are supplemental to the new law.

ONE KILLED, TWO HURT, WHEN AUTO HITS CAR

SAN JOSE, March 22.—Frank B. Emig, candidate for Town Clerk at the forthcoming Santa Clara election, died here yesterday of fearful injuries sustained in an automobile accident on the Alameda, when he drove his car directly into the path of a swiftly moving Santa Clara electric car. Mrs. Emig is also lingering between life and death, suffering from a fracture of the skull which extends from the base of the brain to a point over the right ear. Her condition last night was a trifle improved, but the surgeons in attendance, who trephined her skull yesterday morning, held out but little hope for her recovery.

Maynard Doan, member of another prominent Santa Clara family, is also in a critical condition from injuries to his head and right side when he was pinned under the automobile after it overturned. His skull is fractured.

Will Emig, another of the injured, who is a brother of Frank Emig, was less seriously hurt and was removed to his home in Santa Clara. He is the only one of the party whose chances for recovery are bright.

"BLOOD IS THICKER THAN WATER"

Without good red blood a man has a weak heart and poor nerves. Thinness of the blood, or anaemia, is common in young folks as well as old. Especially is it the case with those who work in illy ventilated factories—or those who are shut up indoors in winter time with a coal stove burning up the oxygen or emitting carbonic (oxide) gas. This blood, or blood which lacks the red blood corpuscles, in anaemic people may have been caused by lack of good fresh air breathed into lungs, or by poor digestion or dyspepsia. Sometimes people suffer intense pain over the heart which is not heart disease at all, but caused by indigestion. Whatever the cause, there's just one remedy that you can turn to—knowing that it has given satisfaction for over 40 years.

THE greatest holiday in all the church year is at hand—Easter—the holiday that carries one into the future, that tells a story of the Resurrection, and fills all hearts with joy, with hope, with the glory of a great gladness In the church annals it is not Christmas that is the greatest holiday, but Easter, for on the truth of the Resurrection rests the great religious theme of Christianity.

Easter is the holiday of spring, of the new life, of the beginning of things. The Easter holiday lies in the heart of the spring flowers and its sweetness finds an expression in the pure calla lilies and in the exquisite masses of the Ascension lilies—our Easter flowers.

The, Eastertide is a season of gladness and we give happily to each other of our abundance, and a small gift becomes a great one when adorned with Easter greetings and when accompanied by loving Easter thoughts.

One is a child again at Easter. For, of course, everybody knows the sun dances at Easter, and if you are happy at heart, you may rise early and see it all for yourself. And the magic rabbits have been hard at work for many days in the hills, and they will come scurrying in the dawn of Easter morning with gifts for us. For the rabbits know magical things and they know how to bring Easter tidings, and among the dearest tales of folklore are those about the picturesque Easter rabbits. And we know there are Easter eggs in hiding for us, and we love the merry search for their hiding places. Life is no longer commonplace.

It is a great man who writes. "So if you look into the face of humanity on Easter day and listen to its accents, and watch its movements, wherever the message of Easter has been spoken, you know that it is joyful news, good tidings. The pealing bells, the jubilant songs, the churches and the homes bright with flowers of spring, the festive garments, the whole costume and utterance of Christendom show that the word that has been spoken is a word of cheer, a word of hope, a summons to rejoicing. Is not this, in itself, a great achievement? To fill the heart of the world with a great hope and an unselfish joy, is not that a great good?"

That Christ has done all this no man can deny. After all, the whole story of Easter is a story of gladness. Life is the heart of it, joy is the bloom of it, love is the fruit of it. Tomorrow is Easter. Come, let us be happy and glad!

SCHEDULE FOR EASTER WEEK IS BUSY ONE.

With Easter week comes a resumption. Everyone resumes the round of gayety which has made the winter such a delightful one. It is true the woman of affairs is occasionally tired, but it is the kind of fatigue without any worry to it, and one is glad to be tired out from too many activities rather than from too few. The schedule for the remaining days of March is of exceptional interest.

Today President and Mrs. Benjamin Ide Wheeler are giving the large Charter Day reception in honor of Sir Richard McBride. They are entertaining several hundred people at Hearst hall.

Tomorrow Mrs. Frank C. Havens gives a very delightful tea, and she has asked her friends to "Wildwood" to meet the well-known concert singer, Miss Emma Thursby.

On Monday, March 14, Mrs Henry Rosenfeld will be a hostess at the Hotel St. Francis, entertaining a large number of guests at luncheon and at bridge in the afternoon

Tuesday, March 25—Herman Martonne at the Ebell Club; card party at the home of Mrs. Henry Miles Zull for the benefit of the Ladies' Relief Association.

Wednesday, March 26—Mrs. A. L White and Mrs. William Thornton White will be hostesses at a large reception at the home of the Whites on Vernon Heights.

Thursday, March 27—Mrs. Mark Lawrence Requa will give an informal tea at her home on Mountain avenue, Piedmont. Mrs. I. Lowenberg will entertain a number of friends at the Fairmont in honor of Mrs Jacob Skiff.

Saturday, March 29—Card party at the Home Club given by the Mothers' Club of the Franklin school.

April 1—Mrs. Philip Clay will be the hostess at a bridge luncheon, to be given in her East Oakland home in honor of Miss Madeline Clay.

Thursday, April 3—"Book afternoon" at the Oakland Club, with Mrs. John T. Mole as the hostess of the afternoon.

Friday evening, April 4—Mrs. William Volkmann will entertain at bridge, and she is asking her guests to meet Miss Madeline Clay and Mr. Warren Harrold.

Friday, April 4—Mrs. Frederick S. Samuels and Mrs. Clarence Crowell will be joint hostesses at a luncheon, given at Mrs. Samuels' home on Perry street.

Saturday, April 5—Miss Pussy Creed will be the hostess at a dinner planned in honor of Miss Madeline Clay.

There are the usual bridge games given by clubs and individual hostesses, all of which bid fair to make the Easter days a round of joyful social activities.

SIR RICHARD McBRIDE IS HONORED GUEST.

The reception to Sir Richard McBride, given at Hearst hall this afternoon is the most elaborate given in many months at Berkeley. It is the usual Charter Day reception, which is, in many respects, the most important social function each year at Berkeley.

On Charter Day there is the usual address in the morning, followed by luncheon and tea in the afternoon distinguished people from all around the bay are invited to personally meet the speaker of the hour. Hearst hall is beautifully decorated for the occasion, and in the hall below delightful refreshments are served.

MRS. F. C. HAVENS GENEROUS HOSTESS.

It was very thoughtful of Mrs. Frank C. Havens to ask her friends to an Easter tea, for it gives the men a special opportunity to enjoy a social hour in a home which is rapidly becoming one of the historic homes of the coast. Much interest is expressed in it in New York, London, and other of our large art centers. It is a very thoughtful thing of a hostess to plan an "at home" when the men may be able to accept her hospitality and an informal reception on a holiday or on a day when they are free from business cares For all our men are busy; we have no leisure class. Sunday afternoon in Mrs. Havens' beautiful home means true hospitality, graciously and sincerely extended. The "at home" will afford old friends an opportunity of meeting again Miss Emma Thursby, who is a true artist, and an altogether charming and most delightful woman. And the "at home" so happily planned by Mrs. Havens will add to the Easter gladness of a beautiful holiday.

MRS. ROSENFELD TO ENTERTAIN FOR FRIENDS.

On Monday Mrs. Rosenfeld will again entertain for her friends on one of the occasions which in the past have won for her the reputation of a most generous and wonderfully cordial hostess. One meets many of one's friends in the lounge room of the St Francis, and the luncheon is so perfectly planned that one knows that Mrs Rosenfeld has spent much time and thought on it. Later the guests find themselves seated in the lonely white and gold ballroom of the St. Francis, and a most enjoyable afternoon at bridge rounds out the pleasure of the day.

MRS. MARK REQUA'S CARDS ARE OUT.

For Thursday of next week there are two special dates, two well-known hostesses, Mrs. Mark Requa and Mrs. I. Lowenberg, planning to receive their friends on that day.

Mrs. Requa has sent out cards for a 4 o'clock tea and she will entertain her friends in her beautiful home on Mountain avenue, Piedmont. It is one of the most artistic and one of the most beautifully planned homes there, its style of architecture showing great refinement of taste and a wonderful dignity in its design. The home, with its interior finish and fine furnishings, is a very exquisite study in artistic effects and will make a charming setting for the informal tea which Mrs. Mark Requa is planning for her friends. She is a loyal and very true friend and one of the younger matrons who is much loved for her helpfulness in a good cause and for the high ideals which not only lend dignity to her own home but which help the cause of women everywhere.

* * *

MRS. JACOB SKIFF WILL BE HONORED.

Mrs. I. Lowenberg will also be a hostess on Thursday and she will entertain at the Fairmont, asking her guests to meet Mrs. Jacob Skiff, who is a very cultured and most charming woman

Mrs Skiff is the wife of the director general of the Panama-Pacific International Exposition and she has many friends who will be glad to meet her at Mrs Lowenberg's reception And the new friends will be equally happy in the pleasure in store for them.

Mrs. Lowenberg will be assisted in receiving her guests by her daughter, Mrs. Abraham Lincoln Brown, a very charming and gracious young matron, who, since her marriage, has spent a great deal of her time in Europe The reception will be one of the most delightful affairs arranged for Easter week across the bay.

* * *

MANY OF PROMINENT BID TO WHITE RECEPTION.

On Wednesday many prominent people will be seen at the reception given by Mrs. A. L. White and her clever young daughter-in-law, Mrs. William Thornton White. They both know many delightful people, both here and across the bay, and this "at home" will mark one of the most enjoyable social dates of the week.

* * *

MANY DATES ARRANGED FOR MISS M. CLAY.

Many of the important March dates are arranged for Miss Madeline Clay, one of the most popular of the young brides-elect of the year. The round of festivities reminds one of the similar affairs planned for Mrs. Harden Crawford (Annie Clay), who was one of the most feted brides-elect of her circle of friends.

Mrs Philip Clay is to give a bridge luncheon for her sister-in-law and Mrs. William Volkmann (Gladys Meek) will entertain at a bridge evening for Miss Clay and her fiance, Warren Harrold.

Miss Pussy Creed, who is a most charming young hostess, is planning a dinner for Mr. Harrold and Miss Clay and will entertain for them on April 5. Miss Creed is a most attractive young hostess, who plans very delightful affairs, and for her dinner on the 5th her guests will be Miss Clay, Mr. Harrold and members of the wedding party.

EBELL CLUB MEMBERS ENJOY PLEASANT DAY.

Very few large social dates were scheduled for "holy week," so one met people of the smart set at the various clubs and at the opera. These are the closing weeks of the club year and therefore one finds dates of more than the ordinary degree of interest

One of the most enjoyable Tuesdays the Ebell Club has known this season was that arranged by Mrs. C. W. Kinsey, who has this year been curator of the "California Landmarks" section.

Mrs. Kinsey presided at the meeting on Tuesday, having announced as the subject of the afternoon "The Pioneer Woman and Her Time."

It was planned that the board of directors and the members of the section should dress in costumes representing the women of pioneer days, and wonderfully picturesque studies were the result. When the guests arrived they were received by a group of strangers, in most picturesque garb, and it took some time to discover that these bewitching hostesses, representing far off days, were friends of our own time. In the main hall receiving the guests were Mrs. A. C. Posey and Mrs. C. W. Kinsey, Mrs. Posey gowned in a wonderful creation of ashes of roses satin, with quite wonderful sleeves of white ruffles of real lace and "the pointed basque" of long ago. The gown belonged to the trousseau of Mrs. Posey's mother and was truly artistic, representing one of the loveliest traditions of pioneer days.

Mrs. Charles Leonard Smith was "Sacajawea," the lovely Indian princess to whom a statue has been erected. [illegible] Smith was charming in a costume of brown leather, with beads innumerable, and she wore a headdress of beads, in which were the two quills denoting the rank of an Indian Princess. She carried wonderful old baskets adorned with quail topknots and wampum.

Mrs Dwight Huntley was charming in a pretty gown with wide skirts ruffled to the waist and Miss Janet Haight wore a gown of brown poplin which had belonged to her mother. Miss Haight's father was a former governor of California.

Mrs. Albert Smith and her daughter, Miss Bradetta Smith, carried off many honors. Mrs. Smith wore a wonderful gown and a bonnet dating from the year 1834. She carried a fan which had belonged to the famous singer, Jenny Lind.

Mrs. C. W. Kinsey was very quaintly sweet in a brown poplin gown, with an admirable headdress and a fan many years old.

Mrs. George W. Percy's gown was set off by a superb shawl in tones of yellow, magnificently embroidered in red roses.

Mrs. Mighels was a center of attraction as she sat on the stage, wearing an old-time gown and the superb white shawl her mother wore when she was married. The shawl was beautifully embroidered and it cost in those early days $500.

Mrs. Woodbury was in Colonial costume and she wore over her gown a gorgeous black lace shawl and among her ornaments was a superb cameo brooch, very rare and costly.

The musical program was one long to be remembered, the songs bringing one back to the romance of earlier times. They were given with great sweetness and daintiness of expression by Mrs. A E. Nash and her friend from the East, Mrs. Charles Yon, and the audience could hardly help joining in the refrain, "Every one who knew her felt the gentle power of Rosalie, the prairie flower." There was "The Heart Bowed Down" and "Oft in the Stilly Night," and one will not soon forget the haunting sweetness of "Genevieve, My Genevieve, the days may come, the days may go" One was off in a land of romance, in a land of enchantment, and later it was a rude shock to come back to the world of today, where the small boy was bidding an unseen minstrel to "Fiddle Up on His Violin"

Quaint indeed were the two singers, in their great picturesque poke bonnets, with the wonderful Paisley shawls, worn three cornered, and their funny white stockings.

At the conclusion of the program all rose and in a sweet chorus sang together "Auld Lang Syne." Somehow one's friends are always dearer when one things of them in the music of "Auld Lang Syne."

Mrs. Mighels' address painted in glowing colors the picturesqueness of life in the early days, the strength of purpose that helped the mothers to endure hardships, and the nobility and dignity which were characteristics of the womanhood of these early days.

Instead of the usual afternoon tea there was "coffee and gingerbread," and when most of the guests were gone, Mrs. Posey, who is a talented musician, went to the piano and out upon the air sounded the strains of the old time "Virginia Reel." Away went the pioneer mothers of '49; down the middle they danced, and swung their partners to the good old tune of "Money Musk."

It was playtime in the Ebell Club—and the merry matrons played happily in the Garden of Long Ago.

It was quite dark when everyone turned their faces homeward, all the better for the happy playtime in the Kingdom of the Past!

BRIDGE INVITATIONS SHOWERED ON SOCIETY.

Bridge invitations have been simply showered upon us all in the past few days. Very few people have played bridge in "Holy Week," but for the days before the summer vacation the dates are simply innumerable.

There is a charming description of the way we play bridge, written by that clever English woman and noted author, Mrs. Alex Tweedie:

"Invitations were issued for a card party at 2 o'clock, and at 2 o'clock punctually a stream of smart ladies entered the house. The door was opened and the visitors were ushered upstairs to take off their cloaks.

"The chrysalis unfurled and out came the feminine butterfly in all her glory. Light silks, white foulards, and painted muslins on an October day were made transparently open at the neck. Light hats and white plumes nodded from every head, veritable garden-party attire all these women wore, and wondrous smart they looked, American dames dress extremely well Their afternoon frocks are gay and costly, and those same frocks do duty for evening wear. Low dresses are worn at balls or stately dinner parties, but, except in New York, they are worn seldom for the theatre or a concert. In 1900 men and women never dressed for dinner in the home circle, now the richer families begin to do so.

"A cloak room is a queer sight—long dark cloaks are doffed, shawls and hats discarded, overshoes slipped off, and out of the gray chrysalis comes a gorgeous butterfly. The women have learned how to pin up their skirts and manage to hide their evening clothes to perfection, but still this horrible tram or train business means that American women do not look as smart in the evening as Britishers.

"But to return to the card party. Every blind in the house was drawn down, as usual, at 2 o'clock, and all the electric lights were turned on. Whether this was because artificial light was considered more becoming or not remains a mystery, or whether it was thought more respectable to begin card playing in an illumination which, anyway, savored of the evening.

"The party was auction bridge. Six tables, of four women each, meant twenty-four ladies, to say nothing of the handful of onlookers They were small square tables, made on trestles expressly for the purpose, and the chairs were narrow. On every table covered with its tightly stretched daintily embroidered white linen cloth a dish of American candies reposed, and before the afternoon was "through," as our western sisters would say, the candies had all disappeared.

"For nearly two hours the game proceeded, played in a most serious manner, then waiters came in, cleared the cards and the glasses of orange punch that had been served, and laid the tablecloths for other and more substantial refreshments.

"Chicken salad at 4 o'clock, with hot buttered rolls and coffee, were followed by ice creams and cakes and more punch. Then the scores were toted up, among much amusement and good-natured chaff, and then the three prizes were given—and valuable prizes they were, too—with almost as much formality as at a school function.

"The women all seemed to be in the best of tempers, were all good friends and took as much trouble to amuse one another as though each woman was flirting with a man"

That is a perfectly true sketch of us. We play cards together in a most adorable manner. We do give each other presents, and we most cheerfully take our enjoyment together, the men of our country being too busy to join us in afternoon affairs

One of the best things about the women of America is that they have learned to stand together, bravely, cheerfully, and nobly—and they are all a power today in the world's advancement

MOTHERS' CLUB PLANS FOR CARD AFTERNOON.

One of the most successful card afternoons of the coming week, bids fair to be that given by the Mothers' Club of the Franklin school, who have arranged to entertain at the Home Club They have a most worthy object, and they are to try a very notable experiment in establishing a cafeteria in connection with the school. Mrs. A. R Beebe is at the head of affairs, and she will be assisted by a coterie of well known East Oakland women.

Prominent women from all over the city have promised to be in attendance and the card afternoon promises to be very successful, both socially and financially

PICTURES IN THE MEDDLER.

A reproduction of the quaint scene at Ebell Club this week, when the receiving party greeted the guests in the old-fashioned costumes of their mothers' and grandmothers' times, is shown today in the Meddler. The meeting of the Ebell Tuesday was devoted to the pioneer woman and her times and the costumes were in keeping with the subject of the day.

Mrs. A. H. Glasscock is the first in the standing row Her gown was of Dresden silk trimmed with rare old lace in the form of a fichu, with a Marie Antoinette neck band of black velvet. The next, Mrs. Elizabeth D. Yorker, was dressed as a Spanish senorita of early days, in an effective costume of black velvet brocade with an overdress of yellow brocade. Her hair was coiffed in the Spanish style, with curls over the ears.

COMEDY TAKES TO HILLS; KOLB COMING TOMORROW

'Hoity Toity,' Worn to Threads, Is Ancient Vehicle of Clarence William

Fat, lazy spiders weave their webs across the window of the Macdonough box office The treasurer fights off sleep and surveys an empty lobby. His assistant in a sad, sad business sits on his high stool and awaits the coming of someone—anyone; he has been sitting and waiting all the weary day.

A lull has dropped in on the theater's box office for the first time this season There's no clink of gold where gold is wont to clink.

Pink pasteboards—hundreds of them—must be consigned to the waste-basket. Nobody wants 'em. They're admission tickets for Clarence Willyum Kolb.

He comes to the Macdonough tomorrow. With him are Max Dill and a lot more who have to earn their living some way and cannot be particular.

Clarence William Kold—a name with which to conjure! Children cry for him, the world weeps for him, a grateful nation weaves garlands of Brussels sprouts to drape his dressing-room.

IT'S HIS LATEST.

C Willyum Klod brings to Oakland something new in musical comedy—"Hoity Toity" It is the very latest—10 years late Weber and Fields cast it off years ago Colb found it in the dramatic ash heap, pressed it out and wore it threadbare. And now it's out of the trunk again, disguised with a new velvet collar

What form but that of the devilishly graceful Bolk could solicit cries of admiration from theatergoers when attired as a decade ago? None of this earth The shades of the great, who have gone before, needs must see and weep with envy as they rehearse for an open-air performance of "As You Have to Like It" on the banks of the Styx

Shakespeare, Clarence W. Klob and "Hoity Toity" are immortal. If you don't believe it, ask Blok.

HIS DELICATE COMEDY.

What new and delicate touch of humor Lobk will give to his late vehicle remains to be seen. Few who see will remain In delicate comedy Clarence Willyum excels even his own record, and admits it.

"Hoity Toity" offers the one great chance for Oklb to display his rare and subtle sense of humor That chance, indeed, is present in quantity Behold it in the pneumatic stomach of Max Dill.

Some inspirations come from the brain, some from the heart. C. Willyum elicits his from the stomach—

KerPUNK! That's Kolb comedy.

"Hoity Toity" is crammed with such, it shines with examples of Cold's skill as an actor, fairly glistens with its own delight.

Clawence Willyum excels in that brand of comedy that comes in sausage skins ond is served free of cost in soup kitchens.

He comes to the Macdonough tomorrow. So does annui and empty houses. In the words of another great man, you can fool some of the people all of the time, but you can't make 'em buy tickets.

Sunday will see him here—this shaft of humor, this giant of comedy, this supreme actor. He's all of that; admits it.

Progress, luck, sunshine and happiness have been showered on Oakland of late. It is only fair that a little of sorrow should come now. Every city must have its setbacks and its Kolbs.

NEW YORK MAY BE RIVAL OF RENO

Decree Awarded Girl Bride May Be Repeated by Many More.

NEW YORK, March 22.—The famous Cunningham elopement case, as finally decided yesterday, may make New York the Reno for the younger brides of contract marriages who repent tying the nuptial knot while still within the statutory years of indiscretion. Lawyers gathered in the court of Justice Bischott to hear the rendering of the judge's decree express the unanimous opinion that with this decision as a leading precedent, a marriage contracted in any state may be annulled in New York state provided the parties were residents here at the time of the ceremony and suit to annul be brought before the bride reaches her 18th year.

Anna P. Cunningham, the young daughter of Otto Prell, by her determined fight, has placed the story of her elopement on the statute books, where it will be read by lawyers probably for generations and possibly centuries to come. She has her Jersey marriage to William Cunningham annulled after five judges of the court of appeals had reversed six justices of the lower courts in the three years of litigation.

January 30, 1910, William Cunningham, a machinist, 40 years old, went with 17-year-old Anna Prell to Westwood, N. J., and they were married.

After the ceremony they returned to New York, but did not live together as husband and wife. The child wife managed to keep her secret until March 21, 1910, when Cunningham inadvertently disclosed their connection. A few days later August P. Wagener, a lawyer, began suit in the supreme court to annul the marriage.

The case was tried November 30, 1910. The girl swore she had gone to Jersey with Cunningham because he threatened to kill her. The judge decided the marriage could not be annulled. After a three years' fight the girl wife, now in her twentieth year, appeared before Judge Bischoff and again recited the story of her clandestine marriage. At last she was given her decree of freedom.

The Cunningham case bears on the strange "trial marriage" provision of the New York state law. It strengthens the provision accorded any young married woman who changes her mind before she attains the age of 18 years.

No Melon, After All

REDLANDS, March 22.—Mme. Sarah Bernhardt appeared in Redland's last night and yesterday continued her tour. Late yesterday two members of Bernhardt's company visited the Chamber of Commerce display rooms, and seeing a monster citron, reported to madame that they had seen the largest "melon" ever grown.

The Madame's lips smacked, as melon is one of her weak spots, and she at once ordered two of her men to go to the exhibit rooms and buy the melon, disregarding such a trifling thing as the price. But their importunities were unavailing, and it was only after much questioning that it was learned what the actress really wanted. "Why," the men were told, "tell Madame Bernhardt this is a citron, not a melon. Here in California we use them for cattle feed, and they would certainly not be good for her to eat."

Favors Militants

BOSTON, March 22.—Mme. Nordica, the prima donna, discussed militant suffragetism in a frank manner yesterday.

"If I thought I could help the cause of woman suffrage by going out and throwing a brick through a window or adopting any other militant tactics I would do it," she said, "but I believe in women being feminine and making themselves as attractive as possible. By always looking their best they gain more. I do not approve of mannish dress.

"We would do well to adopt some of the militants' tactics. I think if I had tried again and again to present a petition and each time the king turned his head the other way, I would pluck him by the sleeve and after a while when I saw that the men of the country were having their petitions read and considered while mine was ignored, I think I would venture to seize his majesty by the ear.

"If that failed I would begin to throw things and use men's methods of fighting to gain my ends."

Wife Steals Babe

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J., March 22.—W. Preston Nuckols, wealthy racetrack man and plunger, announced yesterday that his wife, who was recently divorced from him, had kidnaped his youngest child, Muriel, 4 years old, known affectionately as "Tiddle Dee Winks."

The divorce decree was given adversely to Mrs. Nuckols and the children, Muriel and Preston, were placed in a Catholic institution at Marion, Pa. Mrs. Nuckols was granted the right to see them at stated intervals.

Saturday Mrs. Nuckols obtained entry to the convent. She clasped "Tiddle Dee Winks" in her arms and before the sisters could interfere the spry young matron had scaled the convent wall with the little girl.

Half a block away a long gray racing car was waiting and a young society man, who has been reported as attentive to Mrs. Nuckols, was at the wheel.

Detectives have been unable to get any trace of the fugitives. The millionaire father fears he may never see the child again and declares he will spend his millions in the search, but the lawyers are not confident that she can be recovered.

Has Easter Lilies

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The propagating gardens where the White House flowers are grown, are in the full flush of Easter bloom, ready for the first visit of Mrs. Wilson, wife of the President. Row upon row of tall white lilies which will be sent to the White House add to the beauty of the display arranged for Mrs. Wilson's inspection.

The flowers grown in the gardens are strictly for the White House, except the young plants grown for decorating the public parks. Just now there are few flowers in bloom aside from carnations and jonquils.

There is much curiosity as to Mrs. Wilson's favorite flower. Each former mistress of the White House has had her favorites, Mrs. Taft turning to roses and carnations, while Mrs. Roosevelt best loved orchids.

On one side of the house are arranged in artistic beauty tall Easter lilies which will be sent to the White House, while other flowers suggestive of the season will accompany them to be used for table and mantel decorations.

Mrs. Wilson has been asked to make her suggestions as soon as possible for the colonial gardens at the south front of the White House. Already the fountains of the north and south lawn are being surrounded by gay tulips, hyacinths and jonquils, while long boxes of them are being prepared for the east and west terraces.

Women Jurors Won

REDWOOD CITY, March 22.—After more than an hour's deliberation, two women on a jury before Superior Judge Buck, convinced the ten male jurors yesterday that Ugo Dianda, a handsome youth of Granada, known as the "Beau Brummel of the Coastside," was innocent of the charge of horse stealing, despite his own testimony to the contrary.

Mrs. Alma A. Monroe was the "foreman," the first of her sex to act in that capacity here in a felony trial. Mrs. Violet S. Fine was the other feminine juror.

Dianda had groomed himself for the trial. His clothes were carefully pressed and his shoes shined. A clean shave and haircut showed him to advantage. On the stand he smiled frequently at the two women.

When the jury took the first ballot the two women were for acquittal, while the men stood for conviction. The second ballot stood six to six. The final ballot was for acquittal.

The result surprised Superior Judge George Buck, District Attorney Franklin Swart and James O'Keefe, counsel for the defense. Dianda laughingly informed his lawyer that he was "some lady killer."

Hunger Strike Wins

LONDON, March 22.—Sylvia Pankhurst, by means of her hunger strike, won her release from Holloway prison yesterday, the authorities having decided that further imprisonment would endanger her life.

Miss Pankhurst was sentenced on February 18 to two months for breaking windows in London. Miss Pankhurst persisted in her hunger strike, though the authorities adopted the method of feeding her through a tube.

ASKING A MAN FOR HIS DEAREST TREASURE IS SERIOUS MATTER

By LAURA JEAN LIBBEY

[Copyright, 1913, by Laura Jean Libbey.]

Give not a sigh for youthful hopes
That faded 'ere their prime;
That fancy held in golden cups
To deck the brow of time.

LAURA JEAN LIBBEY.

WHEN a young man steps into another man's presence to ask him for the most presclous treasure which he possesses—his fair young daughter—it is little wonder that qualms of fear take possession of him. In talking over the affair with the girl herself no subject but love is touched upon. It is quite another thing to face a hard, cold, stern father, who has seemingly outlived all sentiment and who would probe the future minutely regarding his circumstances. Aye, and it does not usually stop there. The careful father would know of his past heart affairs, for by these he weighs his girl's chances of happiness in the future.

A young man might tell a widowed mother a very plausible story of sowing wild oats and that they would have no bearing on his future. He could not tell such a story to a man. He realizes that he would know better; that the young man whose feet have sped down in the primrose path with alacrity knows the way to it and finds it irksome to keep in the strait and narrow path. He could laugh off some very serious escapades with his own father, for he has a very lenient judge who is ready to pardon him long before he knows all the facts in the case. But with the father of his sweetheart a young man's so-called light follies assume huge significance.

Most fathers consider the future welfare of their daughters above all that the world could give. He would rather see her marry the poorest young man that he knows of if he had but an honest heart than the rich, frolicsome young fellow who could not show a clear record. Gold is not everything in this world. Happiness is sweeter by far. It is most natural for young women to rely upon the judgment of father or elder brother as to the suitability of a lover or husband. Not one girl in a thousand would be apt to oppose the judgment of father, who knows his world of men. Perhaps this may be the reason as to why many a free lance who is considered by both mammas and daughters as an excellent matrimonial catch, has never had the temerity to approach another man in quest of his daughter's hand in marriage.

But these are exceptional cases. The power of love can subdue and change the most mettlesome man; cause him to become a veritable Ingomar. Cold and stony must, indeed, be the heart that would not warm with, first, reverence, then love in the presence of a pure, sweet, noble woman.

A father of fourteen daughters recently said he was the wealthiest man in the state, but of this world's goods he had only what he toiled for. Yet, poor as he was, he would not give any of his treasures into another man's keeping unless he was sure that they would not exchange a great love for a lesser one. He always taught them one and all to look for integrity in a heartmate before wealth. A mother is usually so anxious for the happiness of her daughter that the luxury a man can give her weighs much with her. Not so the father. He considers the character before all of a man to whom he would yield his treasure.

"HOES AMONG FLOWERS."

"Dear Miss Libbey: I feel as though I have bushels of trouble. I am 20 years old, a charming and beautiful girl. I like music and love to associate with companions near my own age. I make a host of friends. But a girl not far from here seems to draw my friends away from me. She is not beautiful at all, and she does such rough work, such as baking, washing, scrubbing, ironing, and even hoes among the flowers. She is tanned by the sun. I do not like such work at all. My mother is so good to me that she doesn't have me do such work. D."

It is easy to understand why the girl who is not afraid of a bit of work can draw friends away from one who lets her mother do all the work. Besides, a really beautiful and charming girl is not quite so conscious of her charms as you are. This is probably another reason why you are slighted for the other girl. Every one prefers to number among their close friends a warm hearted, generous girl not afraid of work or of being tanned by the sun. No one is particularly desirous of knowing the selfish, self-centered type of girl your letter indicates you are. Try not to be so well satisfied with yourself and you will be more popular. Self-satisfaction is nearly always stagnation of mental growth.

"KNOT" STOPS THEM.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am 31. Seven years ago I married a very nice girl of my own age. After 2 years, during which a little girl was born, but only lived a few days, we came to a very satisfactory agreement that we were not meant for one another, although we never had any quarrels to amount to anything. Whenever she was cross I humored her and she did the same with me and so avoided quarrels. So after being separated a few months on the very best of terms we decided to try it again, but we still found the same result. This we did three times in the first five years and for the last two years we have been apart, but have no hard feelings toward one another whatever and neither of us has the least grounds for divorce, although we both wish that the other were free, and as sincere friends are very sorry the knot was ever tied. I have heard through my sister that my wife truly wishes I were free and could get a good wife and I truly wish her the same, as she certainly is worthy of a good husband, but that knot stops us both. I have since found and have been for nineteen months keeping steady company with what I know is surely the one meant for me. I have also explained all to my new love and also to my wife, who wishes me the best of success as I do her. Now how could we be legally separated. I don't want to apply for divorce nor does she, as we don't want any trouble between us after having agreed on everything so well (but that knot) and neither of us wants to pay for the proceedings either. We have not seen each other for two years, but hear and know about each other through other sources. We are about 100 miles apart. My new love knows all about this and we are getting on fine and would be so happy if I were not already tied up. Please explain your full ideas about this matter and what to do and how to best be legally parted with least expense. Trying to live together is impossible and we wont try it again under any circumstance that I could think of. What does a divorce cost at the cheapest. UNHAPPY."

I never give advice in regard to divorce. Such a situation as you write about could readily be adjusted if you both were but willing to do your share. Such cases are pitiful.

"Dear Miss Libbey: I am a young man not quite 21. Am employed by a large machinery concern in this city at a salary of $16.50 a week. I have, I believe, a fairly good education and therefore am in a good way to earn a better salary later on. About four months ago I met a young lady who is about one year my senior, went out with her quite frequently, and finally proposed marriage and was accepted. However, I am not sure that I now have the proper feeling toward this girl to make her my wife. She is a very excellent girl and I feel certain would make a model wife for a poor man. One thing which rather jars on me, though, is the fact that she is a foreigner and has not had a very good education. She is good looking, although not a raving beauty and has a very kind heart, is a good cook, and as I stated above, would make a good wife. Sometimes I think that I love her and again I don't. I am quite certain that she thinks a lot of me.

Are you a raving beauty yourself? From what you write me of the girl I think you would be fortunate, in deed, to get her.

LIFE "A BLANK."

"Dear Miss Libbey: I have been keeping company with a widower of 35 for the last six months; met him last February. For the first four months he called on me four nights a week, said he cared for me very much. He said during the summer he could not see me so much owing to being very busy with his work. It is such that he has much more leisure time in winter. Lately he has grown very negligent; promises to telephone me a certain time, but does not, then I do not hear from him until I telephone him. At times I cannot understand the meaning of his actions, but thought possibly he does these things just to try me, as it were. I think very much of him and it seems I cannot forget him. I have always told him I gave up every other man friend I had. Last Saturday he said he did not care to take up too much of my time as he never intended to marry. This is quite the contrary from what he intimated at times before. I guess a man that is too 'gushy' in his first attentions turns out differently. He said the same evening he wanted me to like him real well, but not to love him. It is, however, late to tell me this, as I already love him dearly. Do you think he is possibly trying me. I never had any man act that way. If they care for me they always have kept any promise made as to telephoning. Since I met this party I have lost all interest in other men acquaintances. He has a child of 4 years whom his mother is caring for in another city. Said she could never endure him taking the child from her, she has become so attached to him. At times I become so blue I can scarcely contain myself. Possibly I am foolish to injure my health thinking. This man knows I care for him; it seems so absurd to tell me after six months that he only wants me to like him. "Says I am the only lady friend he has and he has a difficult time in not loving me dearly, but owing to his intentions being not to marry again will be controlled by his will power. He never has taken me around much, being a retired person. Sometimes I think it best for me to try to forget him and then again I think possibly he is acting so queerly just to see if I will still care for him. Have frequent invitations for dinners, etc., from other men, but up to the present have not accepted any. My life without this person seems a 'blank.' Sometimes I think it would have been better for me had I never met him. "T."

A girl always makes a mistake in letting a man know too plainly that she cares for him. Also, she makes a mistake in giving up every other man friend unless she is engaged. If I were you I would accept the invitations for dinners and theaters. If the fellow is just trying you out, accepting the attentions of other men may prove quite effective. It usually is. I don't believe I would think too much about the widower when he has given you to understand so plainly that his intentions are not serious. He is contemptible to waste your time as he has done and you won't miss much by not getting him.

Press the Button Cure is Latest in Absent Treatment

LOS ANGELES, March 22.—The "button cure" as the latest variation of "absent treatment" for physical and mental ills was introduced to the police today when J. Jefferson, who advertises himself as a physician, was arraigned in the Municipal Court on a charge of practicing without a license.

Mrs. Grace Lonnecker, at whose instigation Jefferson was arrested, told the officers that Jefferson guaranteed to cure her of a nervous disorder for $150 providing she would place a button clipped from his coat in the palm of her hand each day, establish telepathic communication with him by pressing the button, then open her mouth and stand agape until relief came to her. She tried it once, she said, and the expected relief was not forthcoming, and, doubting the efficacy of the "button cure," she reported her experience to the police.

BRYAN NOT TO SELL HOME.

LINCOLN, Neb., March 22.—A rumor that has been current in Lincoln for some time that William Jennings Bryan contemplated selling Fairview, the suburban home, was denied yesterday by Mrs. Bryan. She said Mr. and Mrs. Richard L. Hargreaves, the latter her youngest daughter, would make their home at Fairview and keep the house open during the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan at Washington.

THIS WOMAN HAD MUCH PAIN WHEN STANDING

Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound made Her a Well Woman.

Chippewa Falls, Wis.—"I have always had great confidence in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as I found it very good for organic troubles and recommend it highly. I had displacement, backache and pains when standing on my feet for any length of time, when I began to take the medicine, but I am in fine health now. If I ever have those troubles again I will take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound." — Mrs. Ed. Ferron, 816 High St., Chippewa Falls, Wisconsin.

Providence, R. I.—"I cannot speak too highly of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as it has done wonders for me and I would not be without it. I had organic displacement and bearing down pains and backache and was thoroughly run down when I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It helped me and I am in the best of health at present. I work in a factory all day long besides doing my housework so you can see what it has done for me. I give you permission to publish my name and I speak of your Vegetable Compound to many of my friends." — Mrs. Abril Lawson, 126 Lippitt St., Providence, R. I.

The Abuse of the Veil

By LILLIAN RUSSELL

I ATTENDED a bridge and tea at a fashionable restaurant a few days ago. The women who were invited to the affair were all non-professional women, being of the society set. Now a business woman, if she does wear a veil at all, arranges it so loosely that it can be raised quickly and I am positive that she would never be guilty of the absolutely idiotic performance I witnessed at this particular bridge party. Not one, but several had their hats tightly fastened down with veils. Sitting for a couple of hours looking at cards incessantly through a mesh veil is harmful to the eyes. Any oculist will corroborate me in that statement. While I was wondering at the chances those women were taking with their eyesight, tea was brought in. Tea and other things to drink. To my astonishment, I saw several of those women deliberately drink through their veils. One or two drank cocktails, others drank tea with milk and sugar, and the strangest part of it all was that they did not think for a moment they were doing anything extraordinary.

But it was extraordinary. If you think what tea is, a veritable stain, then add milk and sugar, which thickens the tea and causes it to be sticky, you will see that passing that concoction through a veil which contains either dye of some kind or a composition to dress the white mesh, must be poisonous. Such an exhibition is disgusting to refined people. I cannot imagine where women with those habits have misplaced their minds. They surely do not indicate any consideration for their health or for the refined feelings of the society they happen to be in. They wonder when they have inflammation of the eyes and lips and where they could have taken cold. Their brains are too undeveloped to absorb the true meaning of it all—that they have filled their eyes, noses and lips with poisonous microbes which hover around uncleanliness to devour their health and beauty.

Answers to Queries

G. T. D.—I do not believe much in internal remedies for beauty ills. Diet, pure air, cleanliness and sensible cultivation of one's charms are all that are necessary to insure to any woman a loveliness that will last as long as she lives. Gentle massage with warm cocoa butter is good for developing the bust. Deep breathing is also good, and singing is a splendid exercise. Any exercise that involves the muscles of the arms will also tend to enlarge the bust. The following exercise is excellent: Double your fist as tightly as you can, bring them together in front with the arms raised so as to be horizontal. While keeping your arms on a level with your shoulder, slowly separate your fists as widely as possible. Be sure and eat fat-making foods, sleep a good deal and don't worry. Any hard pressure tends to flatten the bust, so if you wear forms of any kind they should be made as light as possible. If you care for it send me a stamped addressed envelope and I will send you a formula for a nourishing cream for fattening the bust.

RICHARD—I am unable to give you a cure for goiter. As the goiter is just starting I would advise you to consult a physician immediately, before it gets too large.

MISS G. R.—Do you wear tight clothing of any kind—tight collars, corsets, or, in fact, anything tight? This will make the nose red. Avoid eating spicy foods, rich meats, tea and coffee; and keep the ankles and feet warm. Here is a lotion which is good for a red nose: One dram muriate of ammonia, one-half dram tannic acid, two ounces glycerine and three ounces rose-water. Dissolve the muriate and acid in the glycerine, then add the water. Saturate a piece of absorbent cotton with the lotion and bind on the nose nightly until a cure results.

L. B.—Dip your finger nails in olive oil daily for a few minutes. This will supply the oil that is lacking in them. Keep your nails well manicured. They should be manicured at least once a week to keep them in good condition, and each morning after washing the hands gently push the cuticle back from the nails with the blunt end of the orange wood stick. Polish with a buffer. A good way to clean the nails is to wind a piece of absorbent cotton around the pointed end of the orange wood stick, then dip it in warm soapsuds and run under the nails. Never use a steel file under the nails, for this roughens the skin and it is almost impossible to keep them clean. I shall send you instructions for manicuring if you will send me a stamped, addressed envelope.

SCHOOL AND PLAYGROUND

FAST GAMES PLAYED IN PLAYGROUND SERIES

The final game in the 120-pound division of the playground basketball league was played off at the Y. M. C. A. court on Thursday evening, between teams representing De Fremery and Plymouth Center. It was a hard-fought contest from start to finish. The De Fremery team did not seem able to stem the tide and went down to defeat by a score of 32 to 18. The Plymouth Center team thereby becomes possessor of the beautiful pennant presented by the Ellery Arms Co. In the 130-pound division Bella Vista is tied for first place with Mosswood. The first game between Mosswood and Bella Vista was won by Bella Vista and the odds are in favor of Bella Vistas capturing the pennant in this division. The standing of the teams are as follows:

BASEBALL LEAGUE.

The Playground Baseball League starts today and in preparation for this many exciting preliminary games have been played. Last Saturday the teams of Melrose and Bella Vista engaged in a series of preliminary games in which the Melrose teams won three and the Bella Vista team won one.

The names of the teams and the scores are as follows:

Seniors—Melrose 27, Bella Vista 1; Juniors, Melrose 31, Bella Vista 3; Midgets, Melrose 17, Bella Vista 11; Baby Giants, Melrose 11, Bella Vista 16. The Melrose playground has a very strong aggregation of baseball players this year and every team is playing bang-up ball, especially the senior team, which has not been defeated this season. This team took the crack team from Mosswood into camp by a score of 6 to 3.

Recently the Bushrod senior team won a one-sided contest from Mosswood by a score of 16 to 2. The line up was as follows:

Bushrod—McKensie, fb.; Christ, lf.; Hodgman, c.; Kramer, ss.; Foss, 3b; Gatter, 2b.; Raymond, cf.; Peacock, rf.; Hurle, p.; Fagan, rf.

At the end of the third inning Billy Hurle, the Bushrod pitcher, was taken out to save his arm, and Bert Peacock put in his place. Both men pitched good games. Abrahamson was the star for Mosswood.

BASKETBALL TEAM.

Tompkins' crack 110-pound basketball team administered a second defeat to the Berkeley playground team on the Tompkins' court last Saturday. Berkeley sent down a team composed of several of the crack Y. M. C. A. men, but they failed to get any working combination that would beat the whirlwind game put up by the Tompkins' lads.

At the end of the first half the score stood 20 to 6 in favor of Tompkins. Four of Berkeley's points were made on fouls, due to the accuracy of [illegible] Berkeley's star center, who made 7 out of the final 9 points scored by his team. Edgar playing forward for Berkeley scored the only field goal of the first half. The Tompkins' team scored almost at will. Magnelli and Pinguatoaro, two of the best 110 forwards around the bay, scored heaviest.

Magnelli threw 10 field goals and his partner seven. Russo, playing guard, not only kept his opponent from scoring, but managed to toss the sphere through the ring for a total of ten points. Berrio tended strictly to business and prevented his man from doing any scoring. Superior team work on the part of the Tompkins players, together with a well perfected system of signals, was largely responsible for the final score, which was 45 to 9.

WRITES STORY, 'IN SOUTHERN SEAS'

HOWARD TREMBLE.

"In Southern Seas," a story which appeared in the class edition of the Scribe, the official magazine of the Manual Training and Commercial High School, has gained for its author, Howard Tremble, a member of the class of 1913, much praise from representatives of the faculties and pupils in the various schols.

Enthusiastic over the affairs of the student body of which he was the president, Tremble has returned to "Poly" to pursue a post-graduate course. Many boys and girls who received their sheepskins last semester are continuing their studies in that institution.

EASTER GIFTS FOR LADIES' RELIEF "KIDDIES"

The presentation of Easter gifts to the boys and girls of the Ladies' Relief Society home of this city, will gladden the hearts of the youngsters tomorrow morning, when Miss Matilda Brown, president of the organization, will assist in distributing the various festival tokens. Through the generosity of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Standeford, Easter novelties have been donated to the little ones.

Easter eggs and the rabbits will be hunted in the customary manner by the youngsters, who are looking forward to the celebration with keen interest.

PLAYGROUND BOYS FLY KITES FOR PRIZES

The kite-flying contest held last Saturday afternoon on the Tompkins playground aroused much interest among the boys in that neighborhood. Three prizes were offered for first, second and third places, entries being judged as to distance, height and skill in construction. Long before the hour set for judging the entries about 50 kites had entered the competition. The first two places were soon conceded to Arena and Belmont, whose creations were the result of skilled workmanship. But shortly before the time set for judging the contest, both boys were much chagrined in having their kites break away. As a result Rinaldo Magnelli, 9 years old, captured first prize with a well-constructed star kite which at one time was almost out of site among the clouds. Joe Dominguez tok away the second prize with an old kite of Portuguese type. Tommy Mecca had to be contented with third place, although he would have undoubtedly taken first place if he had had more string at his disposal. A second contest will be held next Saturday afternoon as there are many challenges at stake and must rivalry exists among the youthful constructors.

SUFFRAGE FORCES PREPARE PLANS

Elaborate Demonstration to be Made by Women at Capital.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Much progress has been made on preparations for the woman suffrage demonstration which is to take place on the opening day of the special session of Congress, April 7. Dispatches were sent to Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, president of the American Woman Suffrage Association, asking her to preside at a mass meeting, and to Mrs. Carrie C. Chapman Catt, president of the International Suffrage Alliance Association, asking her to speak at the meeting. It was decided to hold the meeting at 10 o'clock on the morning of the 7th so that the marchers will reach the capitol in time for the opening of Congress at noon.

MILLIONS IN DAMAGE DONE BY STORM

MEN EXPIATE CRIME ON GALLOWS

Both Confessed; Repudiated Confession; Were Convicted and Again Confessed.

SALEM, Ore., March 22.—George and Charles Humphreys were hanged today at the State penitentiary for the murder of Eliza Griffith in Benton county, in 1911. An Episcopal minister made a short statement for the men, saying they admitted their guilt, but nevertheless he, personally, had some doubts.

Last night Charles Humphreys is alleged to have confessed to several persons, but up to that time George stoutly maintained his innocence.

The crime for which George and Charles Humphreys were executed in the penitentiary here today was the murder of Mrs. Eliza Griffiths at Philomath, Ore., June 11, 1911.

Mrs. Griffiths, an aged woman in comfortable circumstances, was found dead in a small pond a few hundred yards from her home.

HUMPHREYS CONFESSED.

The search, both for a motive for the crime and for the perpetrators, extended over about nine months, when George Humphreys was apprehended at Hillsboro, Ore., where he broke down and confessed. His confession was so revolting that it was received with skepticism until a day or so later his brother Charles was taken into custody and another confession almost identical as to incidents was secured from him.

Both were woodsmen. They related that they believed that the woman had money concealed in her house and that, being in dire straits, they had gone to her home and after slaying and mistreating her, had carried her body to the pond where it was found. Their search for money was fruitless, only a few dollars being found about the premises instead of about $500, which they said they expected to secure.

REPUDIATE CONFESSION.

The Humphreys later repudiated their confessions and put up a stubborn defense, but were convicted May 3, 1912, of murder in the first degree They were held to the Supreme Court, which on January 2 last upheld their conviction. Early in February they were sentenced to be hanged March 21.

About March 10 Governor Oswald West, who has been persistent in his effort to secure the abolishment of capital punishment in Oregon, reprieved the men for one day. This was taken generally to indicate further clemency, until the governor explained that the spiritual adviser of the Humphreys had urged the reprieve because March 21 fell upon Good Friday and that the hanging would interfere with his vocational duties.

There has been, however, a systematic effort to secure commutation to life imprisonment by the anti-capital punishment league of Oregon. The opponents to extreme punishment in this particular instance justifying clemency on the contention that the Humphreys were ignorant men, mentally incapable of planning and consummating the crime with which they were charged.

Steamers Collided In Virginia Sound

City of Macon Rammed by the James S. Whitney, but Both Escape.

VINEYARD HAVEN, Mass., March 22.—It was learned early today that the collision between the steamship City of Macon of the Savannah line and the James S. Whitney of the Metropolitan line in Vineyard Sound late last night occurred in a dense fog without injury to anyone on either vessel.

According to Captain Diehl of the City of Macon his steamer was rammed by the Metropolitan freighter. The Whitney's stem was twisted and her bow was broken, while a large hole, all above the water line, was stove in the side of the City of Macon.

LEASE CLOSED FOR CHOICE CORNER

Charles J. Heeseman and C. L. Hoffman Close Deal for Dunn Property.

Lease of the Dunn property at the northwest corner of Fifteenth street, Washington street and San Pablo avenue by Charles J. Heeseman and C. L. Hoffman, who will erect a modern eight-story building, was consumated today.

The deal is an important addition to the list of new leases and building enterprises announced exclusively by THE TRIBUNE yesterday, and involves a choice corner opposite the new city hall, at the end of the Washington-street extension, soon to be a reality; opposite the Kahn arcade building, now nearing completion, and a short block from the eleven-story First Trust and Savings Bank home, to be built at the southeast corner of Sixteenth street and San Pablo avenue.

The lease is for a term of 50 years and the lessees plan to erect an office building to cost more than $75,000, but will build to suit a tenant desiring a structure for other purposes. It is expected that work on the new building will begin this spring.

The Dunn estate property leased has a frontage of 45 feet on Fifteenth street and will front 69 feet on Washington street when that artery is extended within a short time.

Negotiations which were pending for the lease of the corner to the United Cigar Stores Company and which were announced by the principals as having been completed several months ago, have come to naught, as shown by developments. The cigar stores concern was to have erected a tall building.

LEASE WAS SOUGHT FOR.

Los Angeles investors made an effort to obtain the lease after the United cigar stores deal was declared off.

Hoffman, who is Heeseman's partner in the lease, is a former San Franciscan who has established his home in Oakland and transferred his capital to this side of the bay. He was one of the buyers last summer of the former Butters property at the southeast corner of San Pablo avenue and Sixteenth street, a portion of which is to be the site of the First Trust building. Hoffman and A. J. Snyder, the other purchaser, sold to Dr. E. L. Dow and a syndicate of First National Bank capitalists.

The list of modern buildings to be erected in the new retail district partly in consequence of leases announced yesterday and today now includes:

LIST OF SKYSCRAPERS.

Heeseman and Hoffman building, at Fifteenth street, Washington street and San Pablo avenue; eight stories, to cost $75,000.

Oakland Holding Company building, at southwest corner of Sixteenth street and Telegraph avenue; 12 or 15 stories, to cost $300,000.

Office building on southwest corner of Washington and Fourteenth streets, which is in process of being leased by the University of California to parties whose names are as yet unknown.

Carlston and Snyder 12-story building, at Broadway and Telegraph avenue gore, construction of which is to begin this spring; cost $300,000.

First Trust and Savings Bank building, 11 stories, southeast corner of Sixteenth street and San Pablo avenue; to cost $350,000. Steel has been ordered for early construction.

Work is in progress upon the Dalziel eight-story building on Fifteenth street, between Clay street and San Pablo avenue, which will be near the Heeseman and Hoffan structure.

Inquest Is to Be Held Over the Body of Mrs. Leda Curtis.

PORTLAND, Or., March 22.—Five minutes after being removed from an automobile to a drug store in the outskirts of this city, Mrs. Leda Curtis of San Francisco expired last night. The cause of death has not been ascertained, and owing to certain features which the coroner's office said were present, an inquest will be held over the woman's body.

According to other members, the party was on its way to look at a residence which Mrs. Curtis contemplated renting, when she was seized with a fainting spell.

AUTO PARADE HAYWARD'S PROLOGUE

Thirty-five Autos. All Flowery Masses, Elicit "Ah!" and "Oh!" Along Line.

Gayly bedecked with blossoms, flying banners and preceded by the official automobile of the Oakland police force as an escort of honor, thirty-five automobiles today, shortly before noon, paraded through the streets of Oakland, the parade being the first activity of the Hayward blossom festival. While the festival has not yet started the parade, which later proceeded to San Francisco, was for the purpose of advertising the big affair.

It had been planned to hold the parade early in the day, but the threatening weather this morning caused a delay, and, in fact, it was not decided until late that the parade would be held. When it was finally believed that the weather would be clear the machines started from Hayward and arrived in Oakland at about 11:30.

PASSES THROUGH STREETS.

The parade lined up at the Chamber of Commerce headquarters, before the Hotel Oakland, and, circling the hotel, proceeded along Fourteenth to Harrison. Thence they went to Nineteenth street, turned into Broadway and proceeded south on Broadway to Thirteenth, turning back on Washington to pass by the new city hall, and, again turning into Fourteenth, proceeded to Tenth street. Turning into Franklin street the machines next proceeded to Eighth, paused before THE TRIBUNE office and then, turning to Broadway, went direct to the Oakland harbor ferry, where a special boat took the machines across the bay to San Francisco.

Captain J. J. Borree of the Hayward company of National Guard acted as grand marshal, leading the parade. His machine followed directly behind the machine in which were seated Captain Charles Bock with a detachment of police and a machine containing Secretary A. A. Denison of the Chamber of Commerce, Financial Secretary George Mason, Assistant Secretary D. H. Bradley and press representatives.

DECKED WITH BLOSSOMS.

The machines were decked with blossoms from the fruit trees of Hayward's fertile orchards and several of the machines which will participate in the auto polo game, to be a feature of the festival, were also in the line of march. The prize for the best decked auto went to Blake MacKay. The second prize was awarded to Dr. Cubb, the third prize to E. A. Ebert and the fourth to J. Armstrong.

SYDNEY, N. S. W., March 22.—With the metropolis crowded for the Easter racing show carnival, the deck hands and engineers of the Sydney ferries, which tap practically every crowded suburb of the city, struck today, throwing the public into indescribable confusion and tieing up traffic. The men demand a working week of 48 hours and all efforts to effect a settlement have proved futile.

Small craft of all descriptions have been pressed into service, but are unable to cope with the situation and dangerous over-crowding has resulted. The Sydney water police department is working overtime patrolling the harbor.

Wild Arabs of Sahara Destroy French Troops

PARIS, March 22.—Dispatches today told of the virtual annihilation of a small column of French troops by Arabs in the Adera region of the Western Sahara.

A body of 1000 of the intractable Berber tribe of Awellemid swooped down and surrounded the French detachment, which was marching through the shifting sands of the desert about three days journey from Timbuktu, the French military station.

After a fight lasting all day, the French troops were overcome. Their commander, Lieutenant Martin, and four sergeants, were killed, together with 53 native troopers.

A few troopers escaped on pack horses and brought the news to headquarters in Timbuktu. They declared that the Arabs suffered tremendous losses before the ammunition of the French troops was exhausted.

Antiquaries Would Sell Morgan Relics

NEW YORK, March 22.—There is not an art dealer or antiquary in Rome who is not besieging the hotel where J. Pierpont Morgan is staying, according to Rome dispatches. From all parts of Italy also hundreds of letters, the majority containing photographs and pictures of statues, are arriving for Mr. Morgan by every post, and most of them being consigned to a huge waste paper basket. Dealers in Rome and a number of private collectors are carrying all sorts of odds and ends, pictures, china, lace and curios to the hotel, thinking they can dispose of their goods and return home with a bundle of banknotes. All of the visitors are repulsed, notwithstanding their desperate efforts to approach the financier.

STATE TROOPS MOVE ON NACO

Desperate Battle Expected; the Constitutionalists Number 1600.

NACO, Ariz., March 22.—State troops at noon today began moving in against Naco, Sonora. Following his precedent of last week, General Ojeda at once left the Mexican border town and set out to meet the enemy. His ranks are depleted by desertions and the Huerta commander has not more than 350 men, while four groups of the state troops aggregate 1600 men.

Although the state troops suddenly abandoned their avowed plan of first attacking Cananea, Ojeda was not caught napping. At once his small army set out in two columns, the rapid fire pieces to the east and the mortars and cannon to the west. The state troops also advanced in two groups. Colonels Bracamonte and Calles, who were defeated previously below Naco, moved in from the east with four machine guns. From the west General Obregon and Colonel Cabral advanced with a battery of field pieces.

WILL HASTEN CAMPAIGN.

NOGALES, Ariz., March 22.—Facing intrusion of federal forces from Guaymas, the California gulf port in Southern Sonora, officials of the insurgent state yesterday decided to hasten the campaign against Naco and Cananea, the only remaining federal garrison in the north

After crushing General Ojeda at Naco on the Arizona border and Colonel Moreno at Cananea, an American mining center below the border, all available state troops will be rushed against Guaymas. The report today that 4000 Huerta soldiers are being hurried by transport from Pacific coast points to Guaymas, where 1000 federals already are located, will occasion great haste in completing the northern campaign.

While neither Naco or Cananea now contain more than 350 federals, nearly 1500 state troops mobilized today at Del Rio, midway between Cananea and the border. General Obregon, head of all state forces, was in personal command of the column, which moved on three trains with ample supplies of foodstuffs and ammunition, two field pieces and a number of machine guns. Leaving Ojeda temporarily to his internal problem of preventing desertions over the border into Arizona, it was decided first to attack Cananea, immediately returning by rail against Naco.

Already state troops are mobilizing along the Sonora railway just north of Guaymas to prevent any sudden sally of the federals against Hermosillo, the state capital. But not until the northern campaign is completed can a force be organized to oppose any formidable advance of Huerta troops. Also, the state authorities must guard the Chihuahua frontier. While General Rabago cannot leave the vicinity of Chihuahua City because of activity of Constitutionalists to the south of him, it is feared that other ex-insurrecto leaders will follow Antonio Rojas, who has entered Western Sonora.

VILLA IS DERISIVE.

EL PASO, Texas, March 22.—"Dear Senor Don General Antonio Rabago:

"You have asked for my extradition from the United States. I am now in Mexico. Come and get me."

This was the message received here today from Francisco Villa, a former Madero insurrecto general. He wrote from San Andres, in the Guerrero district west of Chihuahua City, the state capital where General Antonio Rabago is located with some 2000 federal troops.

Villa, with a few followers, entered the field in Chihuahua state from El Paso, where he had sojourned since his escape from Mexico City. He had been imprisoned at the national capital by order of General Huerta, now provisional president.

Jose Inez Salazar, another Madero ex-insurrecto leader, is reported to have secured a concession in the Casas Grandes district, southwest of Juarez. Salazar's troops will occupy Casas Grandes on the withdrawal of all federal soldiers. He will be made military governor of the district.

TRAIN CAPTURED.

NOGALES, Ariz., March 22.—Constitutionalist leaders in this vicinity were disturbed by reports that federals at Guaymas had made a daring sally from the town and captured a train bound for Ortiz, the state troop base.

Leaders of the state troops in Northern Sonora are preparing to rush their forces to Hermosillo and Ortiz to repel the threatened invasion by Huerta's army from the southwest.

OBREGON THREATENS.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—As railroad communication between Laredo, Texas, and the interior of Mexico is at a standstill the consul at Monterey today reported that all United States mail for Mexico should be sent by way of Brownsville, Texas, and Matamoras, Mexico. There is one train daily between the latter city and Monterey.

General Obregon still threatens Cananea with several hundred volunteers and Yaqui Indians. General Diaz is reported to have arrested the governor of Sinaloa and the prefect of Mazatlan.

STOLE TOOLS: YEAR SENTENCE.

CHICAGO, March 22.—So severe was the effect of the sleet storm yesterday on telegraph and telephone wires that it will be several weeks before the damage has been repaired completely. There was some improvement today, but at best, telegraphic service was feeble and liable to interruption.

Some curious routings of messages were made necessary by the prostration of the wires. It is only 85 miles from Chicago to Milwaukee, but press telegrams from Chicago went from Chicago to Pitsburg and around on a leased wire through Columbus, O.; Cincinnati, Omaha, Kansas City and Minneapolis to Milwaukee.

It is estimated that the damage done to wires will aggregate $2,000,000, the heaviest loss which the telegraph and telephone companies have suffered from storms in the last five years.

SLOWLY RECOVERING.

INDIANAPOLIS, March 22.—Indiana is slowly recovering from yesterday's storm, which did damage estimated at a million dollars, cost two lives, injured a number of persons and paralyzed wire communication throughout the state.

Large gangs of linemen, sent out by the telegraph and telephone companies, had communication partially restored, but the wires were still shaky.

RED CROSS TO AID.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The American Red Cross today notified the governor of Alabama that it would give all aid possible to the sufferers in the stricken district.

Wear Your Finery; Carry Umbrellas

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—"You can put on your best bib and tucker, array yourself in all your fine feathers and celebrate Easter in time-honored fashion, but you must take your umbrella along."

This is the dictum of United States District Weather Forecaster Alexander McAdie, who predicts for this section the antics to be performed by one Jupiter Pluvius. McAdie admitted this morning that the women had triumphed over the farmers sufficiently to cause him to predict for the bay region spells of sunshine for tomorrow. Occasionally the sky will be cloudless.

There is a bare possibility of a bright, balmy day and there is also a chance of a continued downpour of rain, but the most likely condition, as dictated by the elements and as seen upon the horizon, is one of alternate showers and sunshine.

BETWEEN TWO STORMS.

The bay region is at present between two storms. Neither overlaps the other, but Alameda, Marin, Contra Costa, San Mateo and San Francisco counties are on the edge of both. The first storm, which gave the heavy downpour of last night, has moved southward and at noon Los Angeles and the regions around that city were enjoying a good fall. Storm number two, which is moving hither from the Washington coast, has already drenched Oregon and may or may not pass us by.

During the last 24 hours a good downpour has been received in the region south of the Tehachapi. There has been 10 inches of snow in the mountains, with a prospect of five inches more. This makes six feet of snow now covering the highest peaks and is a gain of 30 inches within the last few days.

HOPEFUL OF RAIN.

"We are hopeful of more rain," said McAdie today, "but we have been doing very nicely and almost a half-inch fell during the night. There is snow in the mountains and on the whole conditions are shaping themselves to our profound gratification."

An indication of the rainfall in the northern half of the State may be gained from the following figures:

Red Bluff, .42; Eureka, .70; San Francisco, .38; Sacramento, .32; San Jose, .48; San Luis Obispo, .22; Fresno, .02. At this time it is raining heavily at Fresno.

START SCHOOL OF EDUCATION

Five Men in Charge of New Departure at University of California.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, March 22.—The university has organized a school of education planned to cope with the increasing demand for trained teachers in various fields. From one reason and another, the university has found the teaching life of an elementary school teacher is about three years; of a high school teacher, less than five. The university sees in this rapid change a need for constant supply. More than 1000 men and women are preparing in the university now for the teaching professions.

Five faculty men—Professors Lange, Rugh, Howerth, Boone and Thomas—give their whole time to training these future teachers in the fundamentals of educational methods and in the history and theory of education. Fourteen different departments give courses in the best methods for teaching their special subjects—departments such as history, Latin, mathematics, etc. Now this whole provision for training university, high school, elementary and vocational teachers has been organized as the school of education. This many other leading American universities have done.

The University of California contributes a very great number of teachers to the high schools of California. Of the high school certificates granted by the State Board of Education last year, 180 went to graduates of the University of California, 69 to graduates of the University of Southern California, 54 to Stanford graduates and 150 or more to teachers of special subjects. Those who took examinations for the regular certificates were few. A number of high school teachers received certificates from county boards on the basis of graduation from eastern universities.

Agriculture is one of the new fields for the teacher toward which the University of California is turning many of its students. There has been a wonderful development, all over the world, of a demand for the teaching of the science and art of agriculture in the high schools and in the grades. In the United States the movement has been retarded by the lack of trained teachers.

Some 150 women students are preparing themselves to teach domestic science. In the university they receive instruction in dietetics, personal and home and civic hygiene, fabrics, the principles of home decoration, etc. A number of the students in engineering are preparing themselves to teach in manual training schools.

Many of the students of the school of education are preparing themselves for work in school administration, or to teach in normal schools or in university departments of education. Others are expecting to follow the university career in various special fields. Recently thirty of the men students who expect to make education their life work have organized a club for the discussion of educational problems.

Schools of education such as that now established by the University of California have been found successful in practice in the great state universities of Illinois, Wisconsin, Iowa, Missouri, Kansas, etc. They have proved of the greatest usefulness to the cause of good teaching and progressive educational leadership.

ELK SHOW PROMISES SPLENDID SUCCESS

ALAMEDA, March 22.—With the opening performance of the Alameda Elks still three days distant, it looks as if the seat sale for the two nights' show at the new Alameda theater would exhaust the supply of seats before Monday arrives. The show opens Monday night and will be repeated Tuesday night. The bill is the farce-comedy, "Why Pettibone Left Home," and is replete with amusing situations and complications. Several song numbers and other specialties are interspersed between the regular lines of the play.

The cast includes a lot of star amateurs who have had wide experience in amateur theatricals and who have developed marked talent. The Elk show is the first amateur performance to be staged in the new theater. There will be special lighting and scenic effects. A dress rehearsal will be held in the theater Sunday to close the nightly rehearsals now in progress at the Elks' clubhouse.

ALAMEDA COUNCIL PRESIDENT HOME

ALAMEDA, March 22.—Council President E. B. Bullock, who has been absent on a business trip to Washington, D. C., arrived home last night after a trip requiring seven and one-half days from New York. The train on which the councilman traveled was delayed by floods in Southern Alabama, and it was necessary to route it in roundabout way and over a number of little country local lines.

Bullock said that the best speed the heavy train could attempt over the light rails of the local lines was five miles an hour. The engines, he said, were not equipped with heating apparatus, and the cars were freezing cold as a result.

SACRED CONCERT GREAT SUCCESS

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, March 22.—The concert of sacred music scheduled for the Hearst Greek Theater yesterday afternoon was held instead in Harmon gymnasium, owing to threatened rain. Thousands of music-lovers were disappointed in not hearing what was one of the finest programs of sacred music ever given in Berkeley owing to lack of seating capacity.

The program was divided into two parts. The first part consisted of an overture by an orchestra of sixty and solo numbers by a quartet of singers from the Chicago Grand Opera Company, now appearing in San Francisco. The latter half of the program was devoted to Rossini's "Stabat Mater."

The custom of giving annually on Good Friday a sacred concert in the Hearst Greek Theater was inaugurated three years ago by Paul Steindorff, choragus of the University of California. Steindorff was the conductor this afternoon.

In addition to the orchestra and soloists a chorus of 200 voices took part, selected from the following choral societies about the bay: The San Francisco Choral Society, the San Francisco Treble Clef, the Oakland Wednesday Morning Club and the Berkeley Oratorio Society.

The quartet of soloists were as follows: Miss Helen Stanley soprano, Miss Margaret Keyes contralto, Mr. George Hamlin tenor, and Mr. Henri Scott bass.

PUBLIC SERVICE RATES TO REMAIN UNCHANGED

Telephone, Gas, Electric and Water Tolls Will Stand for Year

Telephone, gas and electric, and water rates for the coming fiscal year will remain unchanged. Out of the complex of technical statistics submitted by the various companies, together with intimations of litigation and of putting into effect interurban tolls on the telephone systems has emerged the general proposition that the city commissioners will find it the better part of valor to leave the rates as they now stand for the various forms of public service rendered in this city.

The ordinances containing gas and electric rates for lighting, fuel and power have already been passed to print by the city council, with the schedules of the fiscal year 1912-1913 unchanged for the coming fiscal year. Intimation was given yesterday that there will be no changes in the telephone rates.

IN SAME POSITION.

As to the water rates, the city finds itself in the same position today that it occupied at the rate fixing time a year ago. The Peoples Water Company has made demand for recognition of its claim for an increase in rates on the basis of the loss to the company through structural depreciation. This has never been formally considered by the council. The experts for the city believe that the company could make a reasonable profit on its actual investment at a smaller rate than that now charged, but they realize that any reduction in the rate would plunge the city into litigation that would cost thousands of dollars. Former litigation on the same ground cost the city over $400,000 within a few years, without working any advantage to the consumers.

The present rates are protected from litigation by the old Pendleton-Titus agreement made in 1908. This agreement contains a clause binding upon the water company that it shall not increase its charges over those in effect June 30, 1911. The city on its side cannot make a reduction without breaking the agreement, and thus losing the protection of the no-litigation features of the contract. By next year it is hoped that the metropolitan water district plan will have been carried to a point where the property of the Peoples Water Company and other concerns may be taken over to be publicly owned.

PHONE RATES REASONABLE.

In answer to the contention made by City Electrician George R. Babcock that Los Angeles was receiving better service than Oakland for lesser rates, while the two cities were comparable in size and population, John W. Gilkyson, division commercial superintendent for the Pacific Telephone & Telegraph Company, with headquarters in San Francisco, presented the detailed reports of telephone experts employed by the city of Los Angeles, showing that Los Angeles had been advised that the rate established by that city was too low, and that litigation had resulted.

It was pointed out by Gilkyson that at present the seven cities on the east bay shore enjoy a telephone system free from interurban tolls, while the telephone company has a right to exact a toll for every call that passes over a city boundary line.

"This is not the case in Los Angeles," said Gilkyson. "In many other ways the two cities do not offer basis for justifiable comparison. But this is a significant one. Los Angeles is larger than Oakland, but is not as large, nor has it the same population, as the great district served without extra tolls by the Oakland division, comprising Oakland, Berkeley, Alameda, Piedmont, Emeryville, Albany and San Leandro.

"You are getting more for your money in Oakland than in any other city of similar size and population. Mr. Shaw, telephone expert for the state railroad commission, told the commission that the bay cities were receiving a good service and low rate in comparison with any like district in the United States."

When the rate fixing matter first came up before the council some days ago, Mayor Mott and the commissioners criticised the financial statement of the telephone company because there was included in the items covering investment the cost of the Home telephone plant which is admittedly of little or no value to the Pacific concern. The present value of the concern's holdings in Oakland amounts to $5,743,7200, of which $1,808,720 represents property formerly owned by the Home Telephone Company, and Oakland's proportion of the revenue amounted to $853, for 1911, according to the revised figures submitted yesterday.

The investigation brought out the fact that Oakland is given a flat rate for unlimited telephone service of $7 per month for business houses as against a rate of $5.25 charged in Los Angeles. The comparison between the two cities was made on the assumption that the telephone systems in the two cities cover a similar territory. It was shown by Gilkyson that C. B. Miller, a telephone expert employed by Los Angeles during a recent investigation, had advised that $5.75 would be a more reasonable rate.

It was shown that Oakland rates for other service are either the same or less than those charged in Los Angeles and that in many ways business telephone service conditions differ from those in Los Angeles. Throughout the session, Gilkyson refused to admit that the comparison between the two cities was a fair basis for discussion, but insisted that rates should be fixed on local conditions of revenue and investment.

His figures show what he termed a "theoretical percentage of profit" of 2.4 per cent, but when his statistics were criticised by the commissioners he declared that, no matter how the figures might be cut by the commissioners through the elimination of items involving Home Telephone property, the net earnings could not be placed at more than 6 per cent on the investment. He reminded the commissioners that the law gives the company the right to earn 8 per cent on its investment.

MAY PASS TO STATE BOARD.

In the midst of a tangle of technical terms, comparative rates, legal decisions, expert opinions, critical comment and official statement with which the commissioners and the telephone men had become involved, Mayor Frank K. Mott suggested that the entire matter should properly be referred to the State Railroad Commission. Commissioner Turner objected to this on the ground that such action might jeopardize the existing water rates of Oakland and lead to the decision of the state commission of all public utility rate matters of the east bay city.

It was then that Gilkyson declared that, although the telephone company is not earning from its Oakland plant all the revenue it is entitled to collect, it would be willing to allow rates to remain as they now are for another year, at least, and in making this statement he dropped the intimation that if it became necessary to protect its revenue the telephone company might be compelled to institute a toll system.

Since no extra charge is now made for talking by telephone from one to another of the six municipalities of the east bay district, although such charges would be permissible by law, the tacit threat of such a practice proved far more effective in its influence on the men whose duty it is to fix the rates than the figures submitted as a basis for the discussion.

Mayor Mott asked for a maximum grant of 300 telephones for the new City Hall and other city offices. This request is to be answered next Friday morning and at that time the city council will pass an ordinance fixing the telephone rates, and it is intimated by the commissioners attending yesterday's session that no change will be made in the existing schedule.

At the meeting representatives of the telephone company, the Pacific Gas and Electric Company, the Great Western Power Company and the Central Oakland Light and Power Company were present.

RETURN IS SMALL.

Frank A. Leach, local manager for the Pacific Gas and Electric, explained that the Oakland rates for gas and electricity were the lowest for similar service in the United States, and showed figures proving that the company was receiving a return of only 2.2 per cent on the investment.

For the benefit of the consumers using electric cooking, heating and ironing devices the Pacific Gas and Electric Company plans to offer a special low rate, a separate meter being placed for this purpose on the request of the consumer.

Mayor Frank K. Mott made a public statement at the rate hearing to the effect that the statement given out by Commissioner F. C. Turner on the basis of a letter from City Electrician George Babcock had been made public inadvertently, and that it was uncalled for.

"The city employes should not give out statements criticising the telephone company, or any other public service corporation with whom the council is negotiating," said Mayor Mott. "The statement given out from Mr. Babcock's letter was not justified, as I believe that the service rendered by the Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Company is an excellent one, and that this company is doing all in its power to better the service from time to time, and to give satisfaction. Criticism of the company by city employes, especially where the statements made are somewhat ill considered, is uncalled for."

UNIVERSITY LOAN FUND INCREASED

Through the untiring efforts of Miss Annie Florence Brown, a member of the Oakland Board of Education, the class of 1897 of the University of California has secured $1005 for the loan fund of the State University for the use of the students who have not sufficient funds to finish their college course. The endowment was raised entirely by Miss Brown, who is chairman of the loan committee and received her degree with that class. For a number of weeks Miss Brown worked to obtain the sum, which she presented to President Benjamin Ide Wheeler, yesterday, as a token of appreciation to her Alma Mater on behalf of the students of the class of 1897. About one-fourth of the young men and women of that class subscribed to the fund.

Various classes that preceded and followed that of 1897 are maintaining scholarships in the University of California for the benefit of the students who are working for degrees in the different branches of higher learning. Many gifts will continue to be given by the classes of the State University.

IMMIGRATION OFFICIALS SEEKING FOR JAPS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—Immigration officials are searching today for five Japanese sailors who lowered themselves over the side of the British freight steamer Mina Brea as the vessel lay in dry dock at Hunter's Point last night.

Lending vigorous assistance to the officials is Captain Crawford of the freighter, who, according to a recent ruling, will be held responsible for the escape of aliens. If they are not apprehended he will be liable to a fine "not exceeding $1000 for each man."

CATTLE MEN DROP CLAIMS.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—Echoes of the Sioux uprising led by Sitting Bull in 1890 were heard yesterday in the Supreme Court of the United States, when two cattle companies, which lost thousands of cattle during the Indian raids, abandoned appeals from suits brought in the Court of Claims to recover from the government. The Court of Claims held that the Indians were not in "amity" with the federal government at the time the cattle were taken and, therefore, under the statute they were not entitled to recover.

AUDITOR HOLDS POSITIONS OPEN

Two Places Vacated by Retiring Officers Cannot Be Filled; Interpretation.

By a seemingly strained interpretation of the city charter pension provisions, City Auditor George Gross has decided that he cannot pay the salaries of appointees to the positions left vacant by the retirement of Assistant Fire Chief Sam Short and Police Corporal Henry C. Arnest. Chief of Police Walter J. Petersen and Fire Chief N. A. Ball wish to fill the two vacancies in their departments, and they have opinions from the city attorney and civil service commissioners contrary to that put forward by Gross, but they will not attempt to fill the places unless Gross consents to audit the warrants.

The charter provides that if a man is retired on account of disability prior to the age at which he would be entitled to regular retirement, he must have the right to be reinstated, should he recover from his disability. Gross contends that this automatically holds the positions open for a possible reinstatement, and that no other member of the department be raised to the rank vacated.

Physicians declare that it will not be possible for either Short or Arnest to return to active duty, and it is desired that these places shall not be left vacant until the two retired men shall have attained the age of regular retirement under the charter.

The civil service board and the city attorney contend that the controverted charter provision means that if a man is retired on account of disability, he shall have the right to be placed on the eligible list with the rank held before retirement should he recover.

Chief Ball will probably make an appointment under civil service to Short's place, and a friendly suit in the courts will be instituted to obtain a decision as to the meaning of the clause.

FAIR COMMISSION HOME FROM SOUTH

After inspecting the site of the San Diego exposition, members of the board of supervisors, accompanied by Deputy District Attorney Leon Clark, Fred St. Sure of Alameda, M. G. Callaghan of Livermore, Colonel Theo Gier of the Alameda county exposition commission, Secretary Paul Goldsmith and W. B. Nichols of the Chamber of Commerce returned from the south this morning. Two days were spent in San Diego, during which time the delegation considered the placing of an exhibit during 1915.

With the local men were members of the board of supervisors of Santa Clara county. A plan for a joint exhibit with other counties in this part of the state and adjacent to San Francisco bay was discussed. Santa Clara county officials stated that they would be willing to expend $20,000 for such an exhibit on a ratio basis of county valuations. At this rate Alameda county would have to pay about $80,000 and those who made the investigation were doubtful as to such a course being taken.

A report of findings will be made to the supervisors Monday, when the plan will be further discussed.

NAVY DEPARTMENT TO HONOR MEYER

Former Secretary to Receive Magnificent Farewell Gift Next Week.

WASHINGTON, March 22.—When former Secretary of the Navy Meyer returns to Washington from the South next week his former associates in the Navy Department will present him with a magnificent silver center piece as a farewell gift to emphasize their regret at parting. The massive bit of silver was especially designed and is a superb specimen of the silversmith's art.

Virtually every branch of the naval service is represented in the presentation of the gift, officers and men ashore and afloat, in office and on active duty having contributed toward the remembrance. The Navy League, the Naval Academy Alumni Association and the Naval History Society are among the organizations which insisted upon being permitted to subscribe.

ARRESTS AND DISARMS ALLEGED FUGITIVE

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—When Detective-Sergeant Redmond made his way into a room in a Kearny-street hotel this morning to arrest Joseph Hall, an alleged fugitive from Los Angeles, he found his man armed with an automatic revolver. Warned by the experience of the officers who apprehended O. D. Conn, the million dollar burglar, Redmond quickly searched his prisoner, with whom he was alone, and drew forth the weapon. Hall protested against his arrest, but was taken to the city prison, where he is booked en route to the south. He is said to be wanted on a charge of seduction and was apprehended here on telegraphic advices.

KING'S DAUGHTERS PLAN RECEPTION

New Buildings Now Completed Will Be Open for Inspection.

An Easter reception will be held at the King's Daughters' Home for Incurables, 3900 Broadway, on Easter Monday afternoon, March 24, between the hours of 2 and 5 o'clock. The friends of the home and all the contributors to the campaign fund for raising money for it are invited to attend and inspect the new buildings which are now completed.

The directors were unexpectedly compelled to erect a nurses' building to the north of the main building, as the old one was condemned and had to be removed. The cost of the new main building with furnishings, and the expense of the campaign fund, has been $70,642.27. The nurses' building will cost $13,000, making a total of $83,624.27. The pledges of the campaign amounted to $59,238.15. The collections up to January 31, 1913, amounted to $47,913.15, leaving a balance of $11,325 to be collected from the campaign pledges. In January of this year Mrs. Annie Palmer of San Francisco left a bequest of $10,000 to the home.

The institution was organized and incorporated in July, 1897, with only one patient; now there is an average of 85 patients daily. The new building is arranged with a view to the comfort of the patients, especially with regard to sun porches.

The directors of the home include: President, Mrs. Matilda Brown; first vice president, Mrs. C. C. Clay; second vice president, Mrs. H. M. Tenney; recording secretary, Mrs. H. F. Whitman; corresponding secretary, Mrs. I. M. Van Slyke; financial secretary, Mrs. Adam Gilliland; treasurer, Miss M. E. Raymond; custodian of the Lord's fund, Mrs. G. A. Willard; Mrs. C. B. Morgan, Miss Amelia S. Good and Mrs. R. R. Hardin. All the directors, headed by the president, Mrs. Brown, will be present at the reception, which is an annual affair.

WOMAN RUN DOWN BY SPEEDING AUTO

Rev. Mary M. Bowen, residing at 1315 Fifth street, Sacramento, was run down by an auto yesterday at Eighteenth and Market streets here, and injured so that she had to be taken to the Receiving hospital for treatment. She is engaged in Japanese mission work, and was here on a business trip.

TAX ASSOCIATION OPPOSES FEES

Members of the Alameda County Legislative delegation have been sent a letter by Mark L. Requa, setting forth the attitude of the Alameda County Tax Association toward the fee system. The letter is as follows:

"The Tax Association of Alameda county desires to go on record as being opposed in general terms to the payment of fees to the county officers, and as being in favor of abolishing all fees in connection with all county offices.

"In this connection, we desire to call your attention to Senate bill No. 1173, introduced by Senator Gerdes, primarily to permit the collection of fees by the county recorder. As we understand it, the passage of this measure would, because of the fact that it is based upon the statutes of 1907 instead of the revised statutes of 1911, permit the county assessor to draw in addition to his salary fees of 15 per cent on poll taxes, 6 per cent on personal property taxes and $5 per hundred for names of men eligible for military service.

"As this would result in increasing the salary of the assessor of Alameda county from $7000 per annum to $25,000 or $30,000, we are strongly opposed to the passage of any such measure."

U. S. WILL NOT SEND OUT ICEBERG PATROL

WASHINGTON, March 22.—The United States probably will not patrol the North Atlantic steamship lane for icebergs in view of the action of the British Board of Trade and British steamship interests in sending the whaler Scotia for the patrol.

The New York Maritime Exchange strongly urged the treasury department to assign revenue cutters to the work, but Secretary McAdoo thinks the British action sufficient.

JUDGE FORGOT HE WED THE COUPLE

Judge James G. Quinn apologized to Mrs. Hattie Holloway in open court yesterday, first for a lapse of memory in having forgotten that he performed her marriage ceremony three months before, and second for the maze of adverse circumstances in which he found her involved as the result of a wedlock that was not.

The apology came just before the close of the hearing of the case brought by the National Detective Service—which in Oakland is A. P. Ady in disguise—L. S. Clark and others against Mrs. Holloway for lawyers' and detectives' fees. Judge Quinn took the interrogating of Mrs Holloway in hand and after several questions the witness said with an injured tone, implying that he should know. "Why, you married me yourself, judge, only three months ago."

Judge Quin murmured that he was sorry—that he hadn't remembered—that sometimes he embarked several couples a day in the matrimonial canoe and that he wished her better luck next time.

SUED FOR $146.10.

Suit is brought against Mrs. Holloway for sums amounting to $146.10. Of this amount Attorney L. S. Clark wants $100, Attorney T. L. Christensen $20 and the National Detective Service, Alias A. P. Ady, demands the remainder of a bill of $26.10. In this item lies one of the principal points of the case Of the full bill $15 has been paid by check. The remainder of the amount, according to Mrs. Holloway, was paid Mrs. Ady, who called at the house as a friend.

This is stoutly denied by Mrs. Ady. Mrs. Holloway, through her attorney, T. C. Tillman, put E. H. Wilkins on the stand to swear that he had loaned the money to Mrs. Holloway and that she had paid it to Mrs. Ady in his presence. Mrs. Ady denied that she had ever been Wilkins before.

When Wilkins was on the stand Ady took a hand in the examination and asked: "Isn't it a fact that you were not in the house at all and that you did not loan Mrs. Holloway any money?"

SUFFERS REBUKE.

Wilkins' answer was in the form of a request to Judge Quinn: "Can I go around there and get that guy?" for which he was rebuked in short terms by his honor.

The bills were incurred at the time Mrs. Holloway was advised to secure men to watch the house at 1745 Forty-fifth avenue, by Mrs. Ady, who called there as a friend. Ady advised the employment of Christiansen, but Mrs. Holloway says that she did not retain him as an attorney. Clark was later secured in a legal capacity, but Mrs. Holloway refused to pay him because she is advised that he did not give her the proper advice in her divorce proceedings. The detectives were secured to watch the house because of an alleged beating that Mrs. Holloway had received at the hands of her husband and it was thought that he might return and try to kill her.

The case was taken under advisement for one week. Judge Quinn will look into a check that states that the $15 paid the Adys is the full amount. Ady asserts that at the time the check was given him it had no writing on it and that it has been put on subsequent to the time, it was returned to Mrs. Holloway after being cashed at the bank.

Mrs. Holloway's recent suit for divorce was disallowed by Judge Harris, who thought there were too many attorneys in the case and that there might be collusion. Suit is now being brought for annulment of marriage on the grounds that Holloway did not sustain domestic relations. Mrs. Holloway made frequent allusions to this fact during the hearing yesterday, refusing to admit except for legal reasons that her name was Holloway and preferring to be called Hattie M. Kenney.

GOVERNOR JOHNSON STANDS PAT ON HIGHWAYS

Stands by Original Plan and Will Slight No Section.

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—Criticisms by certain contractors that the wearing quality of a leading type of road now being constructed by the California Highway Commission was not permanent and that the money was not being well spent were threshed out by Governor Johnson with the contractors, the Commissioners and the Highway Engineer at an open meeting in his office yesterday.

The type of road discussed was that which has a concrete base and is being surfaced with asphaltic oil and stone screenings.

The contractors conceded that the concrete base was satisfactory, even saying that a less expensive base might be used in some places

This type, it was conceded on all sides, would last a great deal longer, the contractors setting forth that it would be virtually permanent, although the initial cost would be far greater than the other type.

ECONOMY IS OUTLINED.

The Highway Commissioners held that the asphaltic oil surfacing on a concrete base would endure from one to three years and that the interest on the difference in initial cost would be sufficient to meet the expense of maintenance

They said that more than 90 per cent of the money was going into foundation work on highways of this type.

Much difference of opinion was developed in regard to the relative costs of the two types, but Governor Johnson finally brought out the estimate that the concrete base with asphaltic oil surface would cost about $7600 a mile and the type urged by the contractors $12,000 a mile.

It was then asserted by the commissioners that if they should try to build the more expensive type at the outset the $18,000,000 bond issue would not suffice to construct the system required by the State highway act.

SECTIONS TO BE SKIPPED.

The total mileage would be cut down and certain parts of the State would fail to receive their share of the projected system.

Governor Johnson said it would be unfair to give the roads to the centers of population, leaving other sections untouched. He said:

" 'You go to the bat and get bonds to complete your part of the system.'

"It must be perfectly plain how unjust it would be for the commission to say arbitrarily that some counties should have roads and others should not."

"It was marching up the hill and marching down again," said another of the leading contractors of the State.

"The Governor mothers his brood like a hen with chickens. Every time one of them got into trouble he at once helped him out of it. He's a brilliant man, that Governor.

"But I am certain time will show we are right. The roads building under the State specifications will begin going to pieces in six months.

"The worst of the situation is that the State is setting a false standard for the counties that are voting bonds, and, as a consequence, we are going to have hundreds of miles of roads that will begin going to pieces at once."

The contractors present at the meeting were:

William F. Bryant of Bryant & Austin, Los Angeles; C. S. Kent, Barber Asphalt Company, San Francisco and Los Angeles; James H. Bishop, City Improvement Company, San Francisco; Hugh Crummey, Ransome-Crummey Company, Oakland; Carl Brooke and William Henry, Clark & Henry Company, Stockton and Sacramento.

Burton A. Towne, president of the Highway Commission; Charles D. Blaney and N. D. Darlington, the other commissioners, and State Highway Engineer Fletcher presented the Commission's views on the question.

Governor Johnson opened the conference by saying that it was the purpose of the commission and the administration to construct the best roads possible, adding that he was proud of the work of the Commission was doing.

Crummey, Bryant; Brooke and Kent said asphatic oil for surfacing would disintegrate, that there was no adhesion between the surfacing and the base and that it was not thick enough to stand the shock of travel so that the base itself would not wear away.

Highway Engineer Fletcher and the Commissioners contended that the asphaltic oil surface would last from one to three years, but the contractors limited its wearing period from six months to a year.

EAST GETS GOOD RESULTS.

Fletcher said that a similar surface was being used in the East with good results. Commissioner Towne said that in one State the concrete base alone was being used, but that this was a more costly type of concrete.

Crummey said that an asphaltic concrete surface would be practically permanent in character—that it would be guaranteed for at least ten years.

Engineer Fletcher disagreed, asserting that at the end of four or five years it would have to be given a squeegee coat.

Governor Johnson's questioning brought out, through the commission's figures, that the cost of the asphaltic oil surfacing was one-tenth of the cost of the surfacing advated by the contractors.

The governor said that under the highway act the State would maintain the highways and that if the impending automobile bill passed, revenue would be obtained to maintain the roads.

Highway Engineer Fletcher said that the commission had planned 2700 miles of roads, of which 1305 miles would be paved, 480 miles graded and surfaced with gravel, and 785 miles laterals.

Fletcher said that if the more expensive type urged by the contractors be adopted, the mileage construction for the entire State, as planned, could not be put through. He submitted these figures:

TRUNK LINES.
480 miles graded at $5944 a mile	2,852,905
LATERALS.
785 miles at $2881 a mile	2,261,485
Total (equal to bond issue)	$18,000,000

RICHMOND, March 22.—Richmond is after the rolling mill plant that J. A. McGregor, president of the Union Iron Works in San Francisco, and right-hand man of Charles M Schwab on this coast, says is to be established in the bay region.

Long before the announcement by McGregor, the Richmond business men were active in this matter, believing that the next big thing in Richmond would be something in the iron or steel line, because of the great deposits of iron ore in this state and on the Mexican coast. When Schwab was in San Francisco several months ago he was visited by a Richmond representative and the advantages of this city were laid before him

There have been many rumors that the steel people have acquired a site here through agens.

UNDER-WORLD OFFERS TO AID IN VICE BATTLE

Outcasts of New York Plead for Opportunity to Co-operate

ALBANY, N. Y., March 22.—A cry from the outcasts of the underworld, pleading for an opportunity to co-operate in the efforts being made to solve the social evil question, is voiced in letters to the special legislative committee appointed to draft remedial police legislation for New York city.

Senator Wagner, chairman of the committee, made public several letters received from women of the under world, who insist that they can assist the city if permitted to co-operate in their own way toward restricting and segregating the social evil. They claim this phase of the situation in New York City is the source of all graft. They support the plan of the citizens' committee to the legislators proposing a social welfare commission and pledge themselves to be of greater value to such a committee than all of the social and civic bodies in New York.

These women also declare that the time has come when New York should at least handle the subject practically and sensibly, and "not make any attempt to drive unfortunate women from homes that give annoyance to no one to the streets and to the gutters, and to help swell the army of street walkers who have no regard for their own physical condition nor the health of the people in whose midst they circulate."

One woman wrote:

"I am representing thousands upon thousands of unfortunate girls that are without homes. Some are working for starvation wages. Some are selling their souls to keep off starvation and cold. These women are much like other women. All grades are to be found in their ranks, some good, some bad and others very bad. My experience is that the outcast women of society have a code of morals and are honest in the majority. The better half would be surprised to know of the self-sacrifices that many of these women make for those that are dependent upon them for sustenance and almost every girl has one or more dependent upon her for support.

"I have had girls in my house who have had royal blood in their veins. Many of them were descendants of the best families in Europe and America; some were the daughters of well-known clergymen of Chicago, Philadelphia, New York and Boston. The army of 'the fallen' is recruited from all ranks of society, including the daughters of the elect."

SOUTH AMERICAN TRADE INCREASING

Exports from the United States to South America will approximate $150,000,000 in the fiscal year 1913, against $41,000,000 in 1903, $33,000,000 in 1883, and $30,000,000 in 1873. Imports from South America will approximate $240,000,000, against $107,000,000 in 1903, $102,000,000 in 1893, $77,000,000 in 1883, and $67,000,000 in 1873. In both imports from and exports to South America the chief growth has occurred during the last decade, the growth having been more rapid in exports than in imports, as is indicated by the following table from official statements of the Statistical division of the Bureau of foreign and domestic commerce:

1904	120,364,113	50,755,027
1905	150,795,800	56,894,131
1906	140,422,876	75,159,781
1907	160,165,537	82,157,174
1908	124,998,590	83,583,874
1909	163,878,724	76,561,680
1910	196,164,786	93,246,820
1911	182,623,750	108,894,891
1912	215,089,316	122,310,451
1913 (est'd)	240,000,000	150,000,000

This rapid growth in the exports to South America is especially interesting in view of the fact that manufacturers form over 85 per cent of the total merchandise sent from the United States to that grand division, while they form but about 32 per cent of those sent to Europe and 47 per cent of our exports as a whole

The growth in the exports to South America is distributed among a large number of articles and practically all the leading countries of that continent. To Argentina, for example, the total exports increased from $32,000,000 in the fiscal year 1908 to $53,000,000 in 1912, the chief growth having occurred in mowers and reapers, which increased during the five years in question from $1,000,000 to $2,250,000; plows and cultivators from $781,495 to $1,722,096; automobiles, from $72,396 to $860,350; steel rails, from $290,343 to $862,511; iron sheets and plates, from $460,784 to $1,778,283, sewing machines, from $440,045 to $724,134; steam engines, other than locomotives, from $259,481 to $1,342,578; windmills, from $782,429 to $1,072,489; glazed kid leather, from $6,864 to $1,141,661; boots and shoes, from $94,661 to $377,407; napthas, from $332,760 to $1,642,477; cottonseed oil, from $238,139 to $600,881; printing paper, from $168,923 to $733,006; soap, from $61,219 to $370,834; and lumber, including only boards, deals, etc., from $3,621,071 in 1908 to $5,255,547 in 1912.

To Brazil the growth is equally striking, the total having increased from $19,490,077 in 1908 to $34,678,081 in 1912. Of flour the total increased from $1,640,774 in 1908 to $3,377,981 in 1912; passenger and freight cars, from $520,465 to $1,243,293; automobiles, from $77,363 to $662,883; coal, from $82,591 to $1,025,646; electrical instruments and scientific apparatus, from $1,339,639 to $2,460,169; locomotives, from $622,395 to $1,251,824; steel rails, from $171,959 to $1,187,462; and lumber, boards, planks, etc., from $474,148 in 1908 to $1,248,665 in 1912.

To Chile the total exports have grown from $9,194,650 in 1908 to $15,491,846 in 1912, the chief growth being in agricultural implements, cotton cloths, canned salmon, india rubber manufactures, steel sheets and plates, steel rails for railways, wire, cottonseed oil, lubricating oil, and manufactures of leather.

In the trade with the other countries of South America increases of more or less importance are shown, nearly all of them occurring in manufactures. The total value of manufactures exported from the United States to South America in the fiscal year 1912 was $115,000,000 out of a grand total of $132,000,000, manufactures thus forming, in 1912, 87 per cent of the total exports to that grand division.

RICH WIDOW, AGE 69, WEDS YOUTH OF 19

POUGHKEEPSIE, March 22.—Justice Bangs was in his office in Dover Plains when a woman and a youth entered and the woman asked if the justice would perform a marriage ceremony.

"Certainly," he said; "and he's a mighty fine looking boy, ma'am. Your daughter's outside, I presume, too bashful to come in till the arrangements have been made. Bring the girl right in—right in—"

"No," said the white-haired woman, Mrs. Amanda Colby, 69, who is said to be rich. "You're wrong. It's not my daughter; I'm the bride."

"Yes," said Irving Volkes, 19. "It's she I'm going to marry, judge. I was going with the girl, but I changed my mind."

The judge sat down suddenly. But he recovered his composure, and when Volkes brought forth a marriage license, Mrs. December and boyish May were married with a knot as hard as his honor could tie it.

MURDER NOT CAPITAL OFFENSE; TREASON IS

OLYMPIA, Wash., March 22.—Murder is no longer a capital offense in the State of Washington, but treason is. Governor Lister signed today a bill abolishing capital punishment as the penalty for first degree murder. A companion measure modifying the penalty for treason was lost in the House.

POWER LAUNCH ELUDES CUTTERS

SAN FRANCISCO, March 22.—If the swift power launch sighted last night off Point Reyes carried Chinese from Ensenada, Mexico, they probably are safe in Chinatown now. Nothing was seen of the launch this morning and no attempt to pursue her had been made, since the government cutters in service here are too slow to overhaul the fast craft used by smugglers.

The launch sighted was believed to be the Waterwitch or the Gypsie, which immigration officers had been warned was on her way north from Ensenada, packed with contraband Chinese.

WOMAN'S ROOM IS ENTERED BY BURGLAR

A burglar broke a window in the apartment house at 586 Twenty-fourth street last night and entered the rooms of Mrs. C. Herrian. Bureaus and desks were ransacked and a purse containing $43 was stolen from a trunk.

Mrs. W. K. Hicks, 5117 Boyd avenue, reported the theft of a gold chain and charm valued at $10 from the drawer of a dresser in her room.

The police have been asked to keep watch for burglars in the yards of the San Francisco-Oakland Terminal railways. J. W. Gibson, watchman for the Key Route, reported an attempt to break a number of brass car handles last night. The thieves were frightened away.

A. C. Kincade, 6604 Dana street, reported the theft of carpenters' tools from 1000 Claremont avenue.

OIL CAKE EXPORT TRADE GROWS LARGE

The following note on the export trade in oil cake by Dr. Harold H. Mann, agricultural chemist to the Government of Bombay, appeared in the November issue of Indian Industries and Power:

There are few things in the commercial development of western India during the last year or two more remarkable than the expansion of the oil-pressing industry, and we appear to be only at the beginning of things in this direction. Bombay has always been the great center for the export of seeds, and it has been a matter of regret that, with an immense local demand for oil, the actual pressing of the seed did not take place in this vicinity.

The difficulty has been, however, that there was little or no local demand for oilcake—at any rate, not sufficient to absorb the material which would be produced by any industry on a large scale. Thus the oil-pressing industry has always involved, and involves yet, in by far the greatest measure, the exportation of the oilcake. Luckily the demand from abroad is very active and is increasing.

The object of the present note is to call attention to a danger in connection with this export trade. Most of the foreign demand for oilcake is for the purpose of using it in France and England for the preparation of cattle foods. This applies to practically all Indian oilcake, except that from castor seed, which is poisonous and can be used only for fertilizer. It is therefore essential that the cake should arrive in Marseilles or Liverpool in good condition and not moldy. The oilcake as produced in Bombay contains a large quantity of moisture, and in its passage to Europe has a great tendency to mold, and hence be of little use when it arrives at its destination. There has been complaint on this score, and it may lead to a considerable checking of the trade unless local manufacturers pay more attention to the condition of their cake as exported.—Consul Edward J. Norton, Bombay.

In short, those in all professions, occupations, employments and trades will find that the work

STANFORD REPLY SHOWS ORIGINAL STAND IS STILL FIRM

Insists California's Initial Action Was Unjust and Was Not Authorized.

UNIVERSITY OF CALIFORNIA, March 22.—Official reply was received from Stanford University yesterday in regard to the matter of the abrogation of the football section of the California-Stanford intercollegiate agreement. About two weeks ago the athletic authorities at Berkeley addressed a letter to the associated students of Stanford University asking for an explanation of the complete cancellation of the football rules by the Stanford executive committee. This action on the part of Stanford was taken, it will be remembered, following the abrogation of a certain disputed section of the football rules by the California student body.

Stanford still defends her position by stating that California's initial action was unjustly taken, and was without the full consent of the Stanford members of the arbitration board, which was picked by the two universities to settle the dispute.

In California's letter of two weeks ago the Blue and Gold offered to put the matter before the intercollegiate agreement committee, and let that body draw up a new and satisfactory section governing the football relations of the universities. This proposition has met with the favor of the Stanford authorities, and a meeting of the committee will undoubtedly be called in the near future.

STANFORD STILL FIRM.

From the tone of the letter sent to the executive committee at Berkeley, it is very evident that Stanford will fight to the last ditch, when the question comes before the intercollegiate agreement body, to introduce into the rules a favorable provision in regard to the permanency of the laws governing the football relations of the two colleges. Stanford claims that the football rules as once laid down should remain unchanged from year to year unless amended, while California has taken the stand that the rules are drawn up for one year only, and must be redrafted each season. The question is merely a technical one on its face, though other considerations will undoubtedly come forth before the matter is settled.

No opinion was expressed by those in authority in athletic matters at Berkeley today, in regard to the course which California will now pursue. The letter from Stanford will be laid before the executive committee of the associated students on next Tuesday night and the plans then fixed. A date for a meeting of the intercollegiate agreement committee will probably be proposed to Stanford and the meeting then arranged.

ZEIDER - LORD FIGHT FOR SOX SACK IS WAXING WARM

One of the big fights of the season on the White Sox club will be between Harry Lord and Rollie Zeider for the regular third base job. Both are fighting hard to land the place. The result will not be known until Manager Callahan announces his lineup for the first game at Cleveland next month.

The two started out on even terms. Lord, being a veteran, required more time to get into playing condition. Zeider was held back by illness, but has shown his old time speed. He is determined to win back the place.

He says it's the only berth on the team he can play to advantage and that it is just like sitting in a rocking chair to play third. Lord admits he did not show well last year, but is confident he can "come back." Both are fast on the paths. Zeider having the edge. Lord hits stronger. Both are good fielders and throwers.

One of the biggest achievements of Kid Gleason is in making Ping Bodie and Chief Johnson, former Western league pitcher, take off weight. Gleason made them run and chase flies.

Marty Kane Who Will Appear in Come-back Role

Quite a few fans are pulling for Marty Kane, the gentelmanly little bell-boy boxer, who was a great card until Ad Zotte of Stockton took his measure one night in the second round and knocked him cold. Since then Kane has been nursing his strength and keeping in good condition. He will be given a chance to come back next Wednesday night at the West Oakland Club show, when he meets Tommy Ryan, an Eastern feather.

NEUTRAL GROUNDS ARE CHOSEN FOR DECIDING MATCH AT GOLF

Claremont and San Francisco Players Will Meet on Links at Burlingame.

Poor weather and Easter Sunday have put a stop to competitive golf at the Claremont County Club for this week end, and the golfing enthusiasts will have no tournament play of any sort to keep them busy. For the past three weeks a "two-ball foursomes tourney has been in progress on the Claremont links among the club members and has now narrowed down to the finals.

The deciding match will bring together E. A. Rix and E. H. L. Gregory against R. Belcher and E. B. King. The quartet has come down the line through a long list of entries and will decide the question of supremacy at an early date. The match between them was set for tomorrow, but has now been postponed indefinitely. It will in all probability be sandwiched in between the various competitive events which are on the schedule of the Claremont golfers for the near future.

Tentative plans have been laid for the completion of the home-and-home tournament between the members of the Claremont and Presidio golf clubs.

The score between the two clubs is now even, victory having rested once with each organization in the first two meeting of their representatives. The coming play will bring the series of matches to a close, and will decide, for the time being at least, the much disputed question of superiority between the local golfers and the San Franciscans.

No positive announcement of the date of the matches has yet been made, but it in all probability will be set for next Saturday, March 29. The two previous contests between the clubs have been held on the links of each organization. The first competition was held on the course of the Presidio golfers and at that time victory went to the home club. The Claremont players then evened up the score by defeating their opponents handily on the local links. The third and deciding matches will be held on neutral territory and will probably take place over the course at Burlingame.

'PING' BODIE THE HERO WITH TWO MIGHTY CLOUTS

Viva, El Senor Don Ping.
He lift his hat, so—
And then with one blow

Viva, Don Bodie El Ping;
He look straight and full
And then he aim and go "Ping."

Viva, El Bodie Don Ping,
Chief of the Army of Bing;
Soak the bull on the back,
—Baseball Ballad No. 10.

(By BILLY FITZ.)

If it had not been for Ping Bodie, yesterday's game at Recreation Park would have been as gloomy as the weather which is making the comparison as strong as possible. Ping with his "pinger," was the redeeming feature of a game that otherwise would have gone down into history as a sin.

Remember what Ping said last Thursday afternoon, when Gregory struck him out? He pulled his cap over his good eye and casually remarked that the fences were too far away in our park to suit his style. "Wait until I get back in old Recreation Park," said "Ping," "and I'll show them all who Bodie is."

Yesterday "Ping" got back, and when he came to the plate the first time up, the crowd prepared to chaff him good-naturedly. Cack Henley smiled upon the fence-buster and served him two wide ones. The third time the ball came right over the plate and Ping Bodie raised one foot, spun like a piano stool on the other and pinged the ball into the far region of the left-field bleachers.

Fournier, having already singled safely ahead of Bodie, we see that the very first inning developed a brace of tallies for Ted Sullivan's hirelings.

The irrepressible Bodie came up again in the fourth inning, and this time he connected with a high one and smashed the big bull in center field right on the backbone. This is the first time in the memory of the writer that the Recreation Park bovine has been so badly insulted, for the drive was just about as husky a one as can be secured inside the park limits, and it came very nearly hitting the clubhouse roof. Bodie only got as far as second base on this ping, because Fournier remained at third instead of going home. Fournier scored a moment later on Zeider's sacrifice fly, and then Bodie came home when Sylvester singled.

* * *

The crowd got Bodie's goat in the seventh inning, when they went after him and told him he couldn't hit a load of hay if somebody shoved it at him. Arlett induced him to swing at two wild ones and then fed him a slow ball. Bodie missed it by five feet and retired to the field disconsolate. Such is the way of a fence buster.

* * *

The showing made by the Seals yesterday was really something awful. Tub Spencer was put in behind the plate to catch Henley and he looked as though he should have been in a Hammam bath. Tub acted like a wooden man at the plate and threw the ball into center field trying to catch the runners at second. Sepulveda went in during the last half of the game when Pop Arlett supplanted Henley, and the kid played a fair game, but it is easy to see that he lacked sufficient seasoning to be of any use to the Seals this year. Howard is in a bad way for catchers.

* * *

Gosset, who was behind the plate forr Chicago, is the catcher whom it is said was picked to go to the Seals. Gossett failed to show anything yesterday, being inclined to lose his head and throw the ball at the moon if he sees it making faces at him. He allowed two passed balls yesterday, made several poor pegs and accomplished little at the bat.

* * *

Big Douglas held the Seals hitless until the fifth inning, when Heine Zimmerman combed a single to left field that paved the way for the only three runs which the Seals secured. Both Hogan and Corhan fanned and it looked blue, but Cartwright singled through the infield and then Howard sent our old friend McArdle in to bat in place of Spencer. Honus did the Bodie act and lined the ball against the r. f. f., driving Zimmie home with the first tally. Schmidt, batting in place of Henley, was safe when Kernan bobbled his offering and Cartwright registered the second run. Then Hoffman walked and everybody stood up and rooted, firm in the belief that something was going to happen. Something did happen. Wagner smashed the ball through the pitcher's box for a single and the ball hit Umpire McCarthy in the pants' leg. According to the rules, only one man could score, though undoubtedly two would have made the plate had not the ball gone out of play. McCarl was an easy out and the rally ended.

* * *

Del Howard suggested to Umpire Bush that he call the game at the end of the eighth inning as the rain drops were beginning to take a hand in the batting column. The crowd was well satisfied at that for the Seals would have been beaten worse the further they went yesterday.

Hap Hogan has tied the can to Carl Alson, Can Bernardino pitcher, who tried out with Venice and was found wanting.

Bobbie Smith, a young busher who has been twirling for the Urbita Stars at San Bernardino, has been bought by the White Sox from the Boise club of the Western League and will be given a thorough try-out.

* * *

The champion Oaks, led by Manager Honus Mitze, arrived in town this morning from Livermore. This morning's meal at Livermore is the last for the local prides at that training camp this season and the boys all appeared pleased to be home once again after working in the Livermorian wilds since February 25. All of them looked fit and with the exception of Ables there are no men on the sick list.

This afternoon the Oaks will meet the University of California baseball nine at Berkeley. Tomorrow morning Mitze will lead them against the White Sox on the Grove street grounds and in the afternoon the same grounds will be used for a game between the Oaks and St. Mary's college Phoenix aggregation.

Monday morning the athletes will give the new ball park at San Pablo and Park avenues its baptism and will cavort there until the bell sends them into the first game of the season, a week from Tuesday, when they tackle the Wolves at Sacramento.

The St. Ignatius college nine will meet the champions at the Grove street grounds Tuesday afternoon [illegible] the new park will be formally opened Thursday afternoon with a game between C. Comiskey's athletes and Mitze's Oaks.

The opening of the new Oakland park will have all the customary trimmings. There will be an automobile parade, speeches and other accessories.

Arrow Indicates Fracture

BLUE GRASS LEAGUE IS EXPELLED FROM ORGANIZED BALL

AUBURN, N. Y., March 22. — The Blue Grass League was yesterday expelled from the National Association of baseball clubs. Its membership fee has been returned and more than 100 players, members of its clubs, have been declared free agents.

Chairman John P. Farrell of the board of arbitration of the National Association, stated that the league in establishing a club at Covington, which is within five miles of Cincinnati, had violated a section of the national agreement. This is the first time in the history of baseball a league has been expelled.

LEXINGTON, Ky., March 22.—Officials of the Blue Grass League will resist the action of Secretary Farrell. In a telegram to that official last night the officials of the league asserted a club has not been established at Covington.

ANGELS BEAT SOX BY TWO RUN RALLY IN EIGHTH

LOS ANGELES, March 22. — Captain Dillon's hired men took a fall out of the White Sox No. 1 baseball squad yesterday afternoon, romping off with the fat end of a 4 to 3 score. The game was full of thrills. In the eighth the pale-hosed boys made a tally, thereby putting themselves in the lead, 3 to 2. The Angeles came back strong their half of this spasm and on two hits shoved across two runs.

Young Fitzsimmons Wants Try at McAllister

Another middleweight comes forward with a challenge for Bob McAllister, the former Olympic Club boxer who won from Willie Meehan recently at the Wheelman's show. The latest addition to the ranks of those after the San Francisco scrapper is Young Fitzsimmons of San Diego. Fitzsimmons has secured Tim McGrath as manager, and if McAllister refuses to come south to fight, then McGrath will bring his boy to this city. Fitzsimmons tips the scales at 152 pounds, and is said to be in excellent condition. Fitzsimmons is at present in Los Angeles. He thinks that he beat the San Francisco boy because of the fact that he has had more ring experience than McAllister.

1913 REACH BASEBALL GUIDES ARE AT HAND

The 1913 Reach American league guide—the official handbook of the great junior major league presided over by the famous Ban Johnson—has just made its appearance, thus ushering in one more baseball season; a function which it has fulfilled each spring for 31 consecutive years. This long term embraces virtually two base ball generations, assuming that fifteen years measure one generation in a field in which events move swiftly and the actors make their entrances and exits in painfully quick time. So, this long continuity of publication alone has served to make the Reach Guide the standard annual publication of the baseball world, without considering the merits of the contents of the book.

The 1913 Reach official American league guide also contains the most important requisite to give it official stamp and public value, namely, the revised and correct new uniform playing rules code for 1913, together with the 1913 championship schedules of the American league, National league and various important minor leagues. The legislation and results of the annual meetings of the American league and National league are also set forth. In short, everything of interest or value either for record or reference will be found within the covers of this great book, which is thus really a complete history of baseball in 1912. The Reach American league guide for 1913 is for sale by all newsdealers at 10 cents the copy.

CARDINAL BASKETERS ARE DEFEATED BY CALIFORNIA

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, March 22.—A rough game of basketball at Encina Gymnasium last night resulted in a 22 to 12 victory for the University of California basketball five over Stanford. This victory gives the Blue and Gold five the intercolegiate championship, the other game necessary, for the series having been won by California at Berkeley two weeks ago.

The game was featured by the throwing of penalty fouls by Carpenter, California's captain, who converted nine out of eleven chances. The first half opened with an immediate spurt on the part of the Stanford five, who quickly had the score 4 to 0. The California team soon struck its gait, even the tally, and at the end of the period was leading at 9 to 6.

This margin was increased in the second frame and when the whistle announced the close of the game the Blue and Gold five was ahead with a safe lead at 22 to 12.

The teams lined up as folows:

TICKETS TO NEW OAK BALL PARK TO BE SOLD IN S. F.

No more will the San Francisco baseball fan who journies to this side to see a ball game have to undergo the tedious wait of standing in line to purchase his ticket for admittance into the park. Yesterday afternoon J. H. Brown of the San Francisco - Oakland Terminals Railway Company made the announcement that, beginning April 3, tickets for admittance into the Oakland baseball park at Hollis and San Pablo avenue should be obtained at the ticket office of the Key Route, on the San Francisco side. Tickets will not be sold for the bleachers, but for the grand stand only. The agreement whereby the new system of purchasing tickets was inaugurated was consumated yesterday between the Oakland Pacific Coast League Baseball management and the [illegible] Company.

M'ALLISTER SIGNS UP FOR FOUR-ROUND GAME

Olympic Boxer to Get $2000 for San Francisco Appearance

(By THE TIMEKEEPER.)

Bob McAllister has done what a good many people expected he would do. He has capitulated to the "easy-money" talk of the four-round promoters in San Francisco. He has listened with an attentive ear to the tingle of the box-office and has sold his services to the highest bidder with due regard to the assurance that the four-round game is less dangerous sport for him to tackle than a bout over a longer distance.

Promoter Dan Curran, with a guarantee of $2000 in cold cash, obtained McAllister's signature to a contract calling upon him to appear in a four-round bout in San Francisco on the night of April 25 with a middleweight opponent to be selected later. The opponent will probably be Otto Berg of Astoria, Al White's good protege, who is likely to give McAllister plenty of trouble in four rounds without the slightest chance of the Olympic man being able to stop or injure him.

Will be Howard's Debut

In the meantime, the tickets are out for the big card in West Oakland Wednesday evening, when Berg and Jimmie Howard will meet for a ten-round contest. This will be Howard's first appearance here, but if he fights anything like his record shows he can, the contest should be a great one from gong to gong.

He is said to be a fast, clever fighter with a good wallop, and as he informed the local promoters when he was dickering with them for a chance to box that he was willing to fight on a winner take all basis, it shows he has confidence in his own ability to win.

Al White is now managing Berg and he thinks the Astoria pugilist is the peer of all the local middleweights. That is why he has taken on such a well known and capable boxer as Howard. Berg has been training across the bay and is in fine trim for the contest.

Sullivan to Referee

The fans are looking forward with a great deal of interest to the 20-round meeting between Red Watson and Tommy McFarland, which is carded for next Friday evening at the Pavilion rink. These lightweights are without doubt the best ones in the local field since the recent relapse of Willie Hoppe, so a sensational mixup is looked for.

The chances are that the betting will be about even, as there is little or nothing to choose between the lads. Both proved whirlwind performers in the four-round game, having met and beaten the best of them. They failed to settle their differences over the short route, but it looks as though a 20-round meeting should prove which is the better man.

Meehan Without Boss

Willie Meehan has split with his manager, Louis Parents, and accuses the latter of not treating him fairly in the matter of a division of the boxer's earnings. Though Meehan's share of the receipts at the McAllister bout amounted to $771.75, Parente only turned over $300 to Meehan. When Willie learned how much his manager had held out, he went to Louis and remarked "Good Night." Now Meehan is his own manager, and has signed up with Promoter Rohan for next month's show. This makes four likely boxers whom Rohan has already signed for his next card, which falls on April 16. The mitt artists are Frankie Burns, Willie Meehan, Kid Rome and Harry Baker, the Oakland favorite. Burns will meet Azavedo while Hickey will be given a return chance against Rome. Meehan and Baker yet await good opponents.

Bayley Held to Draw

SEATTLE, Wash., March 22. — Joe Bayley, Canadian lightweight champion, was held to a four-round draw by "Frenchy" Valse, a hitherto unknown fighter of Renton, Wash., in the principal event of an athletic club smoker last night. Bayley scored the only knockdown when he floored Valse in the third round. Valse was on his feet in an instant and pushed the fighting. He was unmarked at the end of the bout, while Bayley was bleeding freely from the nose.

Burns and Shugrue May be Matched For 10 Rounds

Frankie Burns, the local lightweight, who was recently knocked out by Harlem Tommy Murphy, is anxious to take another whack at the game. Frankie is likely to be matched with Young Shugrue, the Eastern boxer, who is now in Venice helping Frankie Burns to get ready for his bout with Eddie Campi. The Oakland Wheelmen's club is angling for Burns and Shugrue for a 10-round bout. Shugrue is one of the most promising of the eastern lightweights. He is credited with having bested Leach Cross in a 10-round bout and also with a victory over Phil Brock.

CALIFORNIA AND U. S. C. TRACK MEN MEET IN SOUTH TODAY

The Coaches and Men of Both Squads Are Confident of Victory.

Los Angeles is this afternoon the magnet for focusing attention of the Pacific coast on the clash between the track teams of the University of California and University of Southern California which are meeting this afternoon. The defeat of the Stanford track squad by the southrons has given them a prominent position in the track world of the west.

SOUTHRONS ARE FIT.

The Southern California squad should be in better shape for this meet than it was for the one with Stanford. Berger is back for the relay team. Ben Ward has found his high jumping form and Clerrent has improved in the shot.

Swiggert is in far better shape for the two mile than he was last Saturday. Captain Linton Smith is still out so the burden of the mile will fall on Art Torrance. He was a little stale before the Stanford meet, but is in fine fettle.

"The squad is better than last year's in both numbers and balance, though we are losing Vail in the polo vault, and not taking "Ful" Wood, the short-distance sprinter, Crabbe, the two-miler, nor McClise for the hurdles.

"We are going after second and third places just as hard as for first positions. The season is a little early for us yet, and the men are not in the shape they will be later. If we win by a point I am satisfied."

WHAT WOOD THINKS.

Captain Harry Wood of Whittier says: "It is a little early for us, but we are going to give them everything we have. There are some good men down at U. S. C., and it will be the first real competition for us. Of course, we are going in to win, but I would rather we should not get a point than sacrifice anything to clean sportsmanship.

"I believe we will take two places in the 100 yard dash and first in the 220. Stanton and Wadsworth are the men. Jimmie Todd should get the 440. The half mile is hard to dope, but I believe we are good for second at least. About the mile, I have nothing to say. The two-mile is Zellie's event, but just what he will do when forced, I cannot says. He will make Swiggert and Walbridge hustle, however. Beeson ought to get the low hurdles, but Kelly of U. S. C., has a winning appearance in the high timbers.

"In the hammer throw Shattuck and Coolidge are first and second placers. If Wiley can get a good heave he will do something for third position. The shot will be very close. It will do Thomas good to buck against some real competition.

"The first place in the broad jump should go to Allen. In the high jump we have three men in the six-foot class, McFie, Beeson and Hill. I think we are sure of two places in this event. Borgstrom of U. S. C. will get the pole vault, and we should make second. The relay team is to be decided on the grounds, so there is no dope for it."

TRACK POOR.

The entries:

The 100-yard dash—Stanton Wadsworth, Allen, Todd (Cal.); Throop, Courtney, Carrigan, Bradley (U. S. C.).

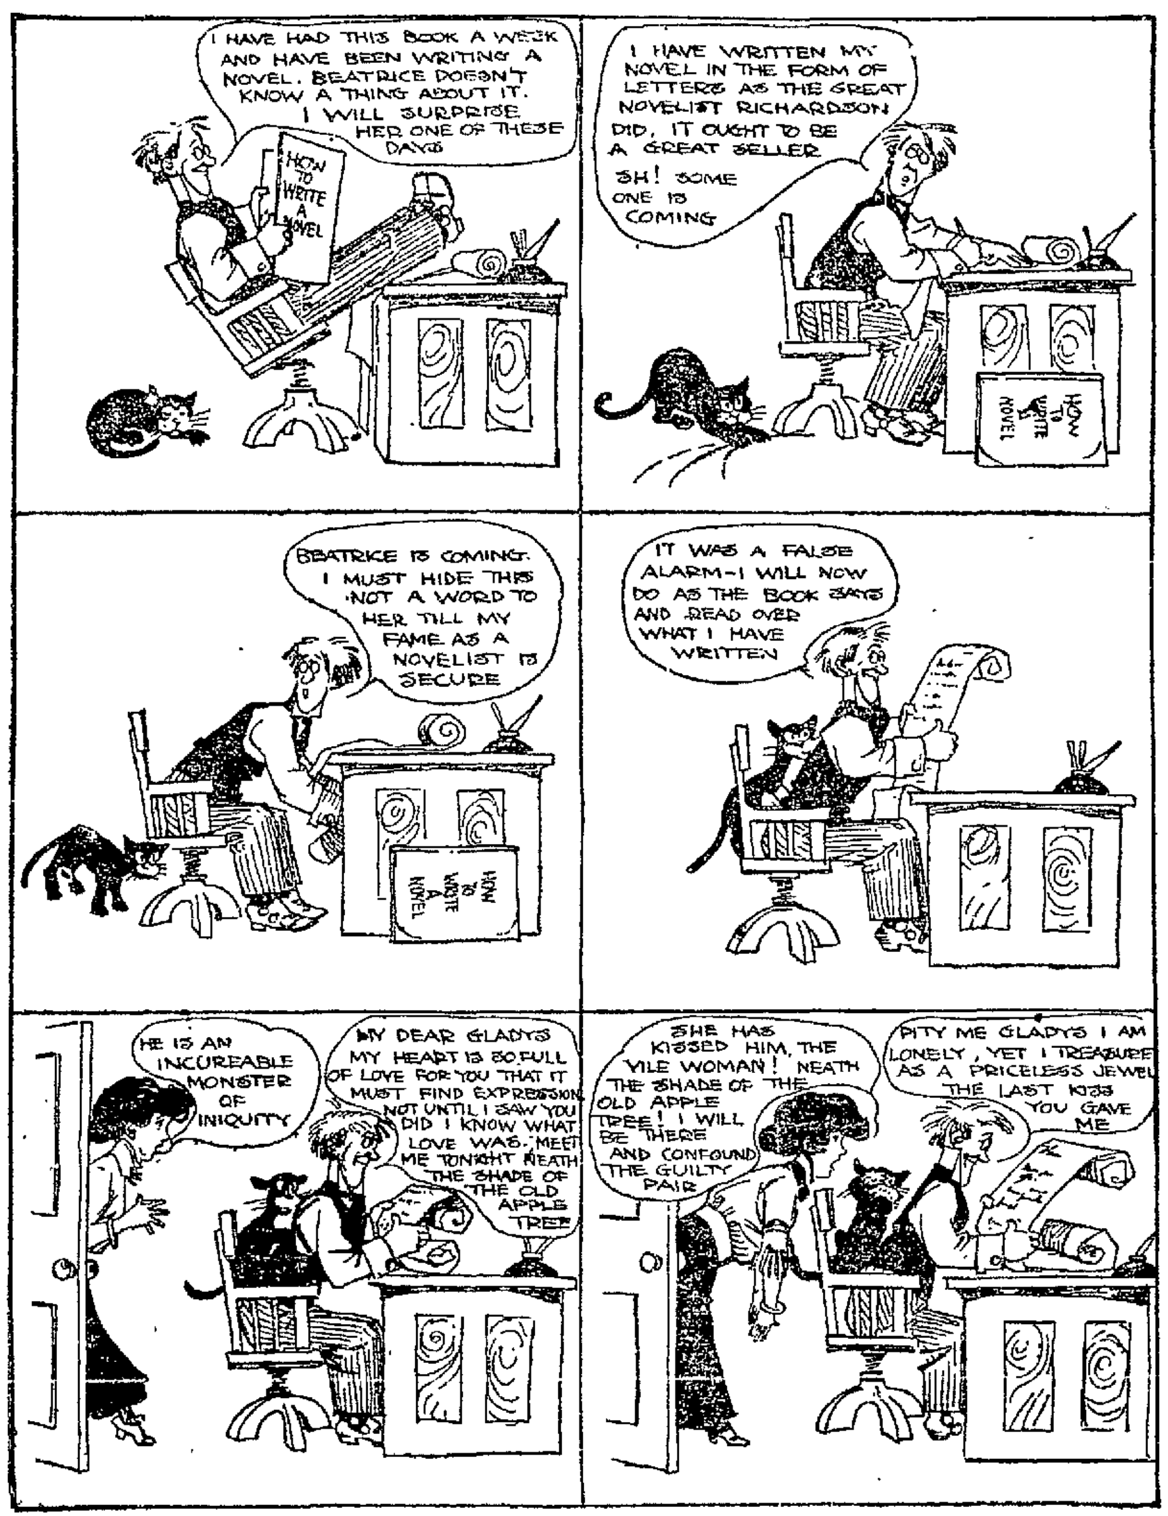
MR. TOO CAREFUL



I HAVE HAD THIS BOOK A WEEK AND HAVE BEEN WRITING A NOVEL. BEATRICE DOESN'T KNOW A THING ABOUT IT. I WILL SURPRISE HER ONE OF THESE DAYS
HOW TO WRITE A NOVEL
I HAVE WRITTEN MY NOVEL IN THE FORM OF LETTERS AS THE GREAT NOVELIST RICHARDSON DID. IT OUGHT TO BE A GREAT SELLER
SH! SOME ONE IS COMING
BEATRICE IS COMING. I MUST HIDE THIS. NOT A WORD TO HER TILL MY FAME AS A NOVELIST IS SECURE
IT WAS A FALSE ALARM—I WILL NOW DO AS THE BOOK SAYS AND READ OVER WHAT I HAVE WRITTEN
HE IS AN INCUREABLE MONSTER OF INIQUITY
MY DEAR GLADYS MY HEART IS SO FULL OF LOVE FOR YOU THAT IT MUST FIND EXPRESSION. NOT UNTIL I SAW YOU DID I KNOW WHAT LOVE WAS. MEET ME TONIGHT NEATH THE SHADE OF THE OLD APPLE TREE
SHE HAS KISSED HIM, THE VILE WOMAN! NEATH THE SHADE OF THE OLD APPLE TREE! I WILL BE THERE AND CONFOUND THE GUILTY PAIR

COLD WEATHER SENDS WHEAT UP

CHICAGO, March 22.—Low temperatures over the winter wheat belt today, though in many sections the cold was accompanied by snow, sent wheat up. The market opened unchanged to ⅛@¼c higher. May started at 90⅛c to 90½c, varying from ⅛c off to a like amount up, and then rose to 90⅝c.

Later the market eased somewhat, because of falling off in eastern demand, and closed firm at 53⅜@53½c for May, a net gain of ¼@⅜c.

Firmness was given to corn by unfavorable weather for farm deliveries. May opened unchanged to ⅛c lower at 53c to 53⅛c and sold up to 53⅜c.

WEEK'S TRADING WAS VERY DULL

Stock Liquidation Continues Heavy, But Movement of Stocks Was Narrow.

NEW YORK, March 22.—Trading was dull throughout the four days of business on the stock exchange this week. Movements of the standard stocks were narrow, with a heavy, dragging tendency, which resulted in the establishment of many low records for the protracted decline. The widest fluctuations occurred among the specialties, which suffered from the effect of further liquidation. Stocks recently listed were the heaviest losers, owing to discrimination against this class of securities as collateral. New England railway stocks also were hard hit by liquidation, due to poor statements of earnings recently and talk of possible dividend reductions.

The gold export movement continued and money rates, which had shown a slightly easier tendency earlier in the week, stiffened again on the eve of the three-day holiday.

SATISFY PATRONS OPTICIAN'S POLICY

Chinn-Beretta Gains and Holds Public Confidence and Respect.

"The proposition of eyeglasses," remarked I. A. Beretta of Chinn-Beretta, the well-known opticians, "is as simple as A, B, C. If the man that takes an order for a pair of glasses knows his business and has the necessary equipment to carry out the result of his examination, he ought to at least be able to make a fairly satisfactory pair of glasses, otherwise not—and I might say decidedly not.

"From the very moment that we started our business—Mr. Chinn and myself, nearly a score of years ago—there was one thing that we always insisted upon—in fact, we were rather cranks upon the subject, and that was—every customer must be satisfied—they must be pleased with everything they procured from us. We felt that it was the only policy to follow because it was right.

"In all these years we have built up and developed a wonderful optical organization and with our six stores cover a very large portion of the entire state. We feel and we have always felt that we owe much to the public for the confidence bestowed in us, and we always try to respect that confidence in constantly trying to improve our service."

Dr. Bonilla has been afflicted with Bright's disease for about a year and a half. His condition gradually grew worse, and for the past few days he had several severe convulsions. It is believed his death came during one of these spells.

Bonilla became president on the wave of a revolution about two years ago. He was about 70 years old.

APACHE OUTLAWS ARE SET FREE

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., March 21.—By order of Secretary Garrison and Secretary of the Interior Lane, 200 members of Geronimo's band of outlaw Apache Indians, held prisoners for many years at Fort Sill, Oklahoma, will leave there March 25 for New Mexico. The Indians will travel aboard a special train, and be taken direct to the Mescalero-Apache Indian reservation in Otero county, where they will be given their liberty. The transfer of the Indians back to New Mexico was protested against by the recent legislature, which addressed a memorial to Congress and United States Senators Fall and Catron and Congressman Ferguson.

Feeling against the return of the Indians is bitter, but no trouble is expected, unless the Indians should leave the reservation.

YACHT CLUB IS IN BAD POSITION

NEW YORK, March 22.—Sir Thomas Lipton has found a way to put the New York Yacht club "in the hole." Members of the club admit it and don't know how to get out.

In the request for a reconsideration which the Royal Ulster Yacht club has asked the New York Yacht club to make of its refusal to accept a challenge for the Americas' cup, it is indicated that Sir Thomas will eliminate all conditions. That is, he will enter for his sloop a 75-footer against anything the New Yorkers may choose to send out, up to the 90 feet stipulated in the deed of the America's cup.

Yachtsmen agreed today that if the challenge took this form, the New York Yacht club would be forced to accept it and if, in accepting, the New Yorkers entered a 90-footer against the British 75-footer, the race would be such a farce that American yachtsmen would be held up to the ridicule of the world. It was reported today that the New York club might reply to the Royal Ulster club as early as Monday next, although the regular meeting of the club is not scheduled until Thursday.

THINKS CAPTAIN WEDDING IS SAFE

Brother of Shipwrecked Mariner Believes He Succeeded in Reaching Plover Bay.

SEATTLE, Wash., March 22.—Henry Wedding, brother of Captain N. M. Wedding who was left on the Siberian coast to make his way to Plover Bay when the other members of the crew of the wrecked schooners Kittiewake and Morris struck out over the ice in Behring Strait toward the Alaska coast, said tonight that the last word he received from his brother was in a letter he received April 20, 1912. The letter was written from Nijni Kolyusk, Siberia, an exile settlement. The letter had traveled nearly around the world in reaching Seattle, having passed through Moscow, St. Petersburg, across the Atlantic to New York and over the American continent to its destination.

Mr. Wedding is confident that his brother reached Plover Bay in safety, as he has had many other thrilling experiences in the north.

Captain Wedding was one of the six men lost for three months after they had set out in a small boat to seek help when the steamship Farallon was wrecked in Iliamna Bay, Cook Inlet, Alaska, January 7, 1910. After the boat had left Iliamna for Kodiak, 130 miles away, the steamship Victoria picked up the passengers and crew of the Farallon who had remained encamped on the icy shore.

WADED ASHORE.

In the meantime, the small boat bearing Captain Wedding, was wrecked on Cape Douglas. The six men reached shore by wading through the icy water which came to their armpits. Otto Nelson, one of the men, was snow blind and Captain Wedding was so cramped with rheumatism that he hardly could move. For thirty-six hours the six men lay on the ground sheltered from a howling blizzard only by a makeshift tent they had rigged from a sail saved from the boat. When the gale abated they found a trapper's camp where they obtained provisions, upon which they subsisted a month. Early in February they set out again, Captain Wedding and three other men who were unable to walk riding in a native bidarka. After two days they reached Haguak, where they dug an old skiff out of the snow and made their way to Kafliar Bay, living on whale oil and dried fish flour.

At Kafliar Bay they killed a seal, obtaining the first fresh meat they had tasted since leaving the Farallon. On February 22 they set out in an old boat to cross the strait. Soon after they left shore another storm arose and they were wrecked at Cape Ugat. Near their camp they found an old native bidarka and after many hardships and much suffering they made their way to Uganek Village, where they remained until March 5, when they crossed to Afognak, where they were picked up by the revenue cutter Tahoma, which had been sent to look for them.

BIG YACHT TO SERVE AS EXCURSION BOAT

PORTLAND, Ore., March 22.—The principal stockholders of the North Pacific Steamship Company, headed by C. P. Doe and busines men of San Francisco, organized under the name of the Bayocean Excursion Company, completed the purchase yesterday of the speedy passenger yacht Bayocean, built here in 1911, and she will be the flagship of a fleet to be assembled within the Golden Gate for excursions to near-by points.

The vessel is now at Bayocean, on Tillamook bay, where she has been wintered since her first season. A thorough inspection has been made of the yacht, and in about a month, or as soon as conditions are deemed favorable, she will be navigated to San Francisco to be prepared for the new service. The Bayocean cost $40,000 to build. She has triple propellers and is fitted with gasoline engines.

DEMENTED YOUTH, AT SEA, IS RESCUED FROM BOAT

AVALON, Catalina island, March 22.—While attempting to cross the channel in a small skiff, Louis Duhme, aged 18, of San Francisco was picked up yesterday by two market fishermen three miles from shore. The boy said he was trying to row to San Pedro from the island to catch his mother, who left yesterday on the steamer Cabrillo.

Duhme's parents claim that the boy is demented and that they had left him in charge of a nurse on the island. It was only by mere chance that the boy was picked up by the fishermen. One of the occupants of the launch noticed that the boy was rowing around with one oar and that the skiff seemed overloaded or waterlogged. Heavy seas were running at the time.

DARROW WOULD END CAPITAL PUNISHMENT

SACRAMENTO, March 22.—Before a crowded house in the Senate chamber last evening the abolition of capital punishment was discussed by Clarence Darrow and other speakers, who were greeted with rounds of applause. It was the largest public hearing held at the fortieth session, and Darrow was interrupted with applause several times in the course of his rambling talk.

Among the speakers was James Barry of San Francisco, who described the horrors of three hangings he had witnessed at San Quentin, and Miss Eulice McMullen of Los Angeles, who described the bad effect on other inmates of executions.

Darrow claimed that jealousy was the prime cause of murder, and declared that the only force in the world to prevent crime was the force of love.

CREW SAVED, BUT VESSEL WRECKED

French Bark Marie From San Francisco Goes to Pieces in North Sea.

GRIMSBY, England, March 22.—The French bark Marie, from San Francisco to Hull, at the end of her long voyage today met with disaster and destruction here. Her captain and crew of 24 men were saved by the trawler Amer.

The Marie went ashore before daybreak at Haisborough, in the North sea, during a blizzard and was quickly pounded to pieces by terrific seas. The crew was in a desperate plight and had lost hope when the Amer came up, launched a lifeboat and took off the crew, making several perilous trips.

The captain and mate of the Marie refused to leave the ship until every man had been saved. The Amer's lifeboat was too much battered by the waves to return for them and the steward of the French bark dived from the Amer with a lifeline and swam to the wreck. He and the captain and mate were ultimately dragged through the sea to the rescuing vessel.

NORTH YAKIMA, Wash., March 22.—Representatives of all leading fruit producing sections of Oregon, Idaho, Montana and Washington, from Medford to Hamilton and from Wenatchee to Payette, and Hood River are assembled here to form a distributing organization for the apple industry.

The avowed object of the apple men is to take some action which will prevent a recurrence of this season's failure to find a profitable market. Hundreds of growers declared they have lost money this year.

Representatives of different sections seem anxious to organize for assembling of national and international data regarding crop and markets, and for standardizing of stock and grading, but not all seem prepared to unite on a central selling agency, which is the main object of the gathering. The conference will last until Saturday night.
